RUSSIAN HOCKEY ACES PLAN CANADIAN TOUR

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — The Kitchener-Waterloo Record says the Russian national hockey team which defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to win the world and Olympic hockey title in Cortina, Italy, in 1956, may tour Canada next winter.

Secretary-manager George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said today the Russians are interested in making the tour. He was unable to give details.

Big 3 Ministers Wrestle With Deal on Arms Curbs

Canadian Envoy Joins Pineau, Dulles, Lloyd

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

CHRISTIAN PINEAU

SELWYN LLOYD

LONDON (UP)—The Big Three foreign ministers met today for the first time since the Suez war to try to break down remaining western differences on how to win a first-step disarmament agreement from Russia.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew here from Paris and joined Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in talks at the Foreign Office. Later they were joined by Canadian disarmament delegate David Johnson.

They had two big problems: (1) Details on a map showing "open skies" and ground inspection areas of Europe on both sides of the Iron Curtain, and (2) a joint paper recording all the Western proposals for a first-step disarmament agreement.

Pineau announced after the meeting that he will fly to Washington Sept. 7 for further talks with Dulles. The purpose was not explained immediately.

The French foreign minister said today's Western talks ranged over problems of nuclear test suspension and the zones of aerial and ground inspection—the latter "a matter of particular interest to the European nations."

On nuclear tests he said it still is the Western view that suspension should be linked to cessation of production of fissionable material for military use.

A two-hour man-to-man session between Pineau and Dulles was held at lunch. Official sources indicated Algeria and the Middle East came up, as well as disarmament.

Russ to Hear 'Open Skies' Plan

Informed sources said the four Western powers agreed to have U.S. disarmament delegate Harold E. Stassen begin presenting the joint "open skies" plan to the Soviets in the five-power UN disarmament subcommittee Friday or next week.

U.S. delegation sources said Stassen's presentation of the new Western plan and his step-by-step explanation of it to Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin would require two weeks more of meetings here.

Informed sources said this morning's meeting was concerned with smoothing out various differences among the Western powers on the presentation of the plan.

Friday's meeting, already twice postponed, is expected to approve a report to the parent disarmament committee and request permission for continued meetings of the subcommittee. It was believed Zorin had agreed to this Wednesday at lunch with Dulles and other Western delegation chiefs.

BENNETT CHARGES:

'High-Priced Dollar' Hurts

The most serious problem facing B.C. lumber operators in marketing their product is the high value of the Canadian dollar, Premier Bennett said today.

"I would suggest they should take the matter up with the federal government forthwith," the premier said.

A drop in the value of our dollar would be the "best help" to the lumber industry, he said.

The premier denied that excessive provincial taxation was responsible for some of the troubles now besetting lumbermen.

The 5½ per cent premium on the dollar which exporters face is more than all the provincial taxes put together, Mr. Bennett said.

Pressed as to what he would do to remedy the situation, the premier said:

"Another government has that responsibility."

"The high-priced dollar is Canada's number one problem today," the premier said.

At the same time, Mr. Bennett said he promised no concessions to lumber operators during negotiations last month which averted a strike of 32,000 coast woodworkers.

"The premier can make no commitments like that," he said.

It has been rumored that the premier, in getting the operators to agree to pay a 7½ per cent wage increase, had held out the possibility of future tax cuts.

Mr. Bennett was personally responsible for bringing about the settlement at last-minute, all-night talks.

Teamsters, Dockers Linked In Reported U.S. Combine

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wall Street Journal says in a copyrighted story that Harry Bridges is seeking to ally his west coast waterfront union with the teamsters union and east coast longshoremen in a huge transport combine.

The story, written under a San Francisco dateline, says he "is very much inclined to join hands with a couple of other fellows who are equally powerful, equally unruly."

"If his ideas are realized, he says very candidly, it would be sensational news not only for the other unions but for America's businessmen and the U.S. government.

"For his friends are Jimmy Hoffa, who seems likely to grab control of the teamsters and get it booted out of the AFL-CIO, and Capt. Bill Bradley, whose east coast longshoremen's union suffered a similar fate four years ago."

In New York, Bradley is quoted as saying his union would negotiate with the teamsters to form an amalgamated transport union but that he would oppose including the west coast dock union as long as the leftwing Bridges heads it.

"There's one thing I know," the Journal quotes Bridges as saying. "If the teamsters and the two dock unions got together they'd represent more economic power than the combined AFL-CIO.

"If the AFL-CIO meets us head-on, we'd knock the stuffings out of them. We'd fight on their own ground and win."

The journal says "this is a prospect that AFL-CIO leaders have been worrying about plenty, in private."

Pearkes Explains Plan For 4 New Sub Killers

OTTAWA (CP)—Preliminary planning for four new destroyer escorts has been launched by the defence production department, but Defence Minister Pearkes said today the government is not committed to building any number.

★ ★ ★

Early work on these additions to the current 14-ship program was initiated before the Progressive Conservative government took office in June, it was learned today. Four vessels of the destroyer escort type would cost around $80,000,000.

The minister said in an interview he has not stopped the preliminary planning for the submarine killers but added that "we are not committed to the building of any number.

"I would like to see plans for the replacement of naval vessels over a period of years," he added, "but plans have not been finalized."

The plans have not reached the stage where any vessels have been allocated to specific shipyards.

Of the 14 destroyer escorts in the original program, six have been commissioned. Construction of the other eight is expected to be completed next year or in early 1959.

Naval Ship Plan Urgent, Says Husband

A decision on the number of new ships to be built under Canada's naval program should be made "now," Harold Husband, president of the Canadian Ship Building and Ship Repairing Association, said today.

Mr. Husband, who is also president of Victoria Machinery Depot, was commenting on reports from Ottawa that four additional destroyer escorts might be ordered by the defence department.

"If a nucleus of trained staff is to be maintained in the shipbuilding industry," Mr. Husband said, "there must be a continuing naval building program; and it is essential that the decision on the number of new ships proposed be made now.

"This is because of the 'lead time' needed to procure component parts, such as turbines and gears.

"The original 14 destroyer escorts are scheduled to be commissioned by the end of next year."

Mr. Husband pointed out that shipbuilding is a "tremendous factor" in the economy of Victoria, and hoped that half of the new defence contracts would come to the west coast.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, we thank Thee for our friends and fellow workers. We rejoice in the love of our families. Forgive us for thoughtlessness or selfishness which has marred our relationships or hurt those who love us, or misinterpreted the Christian life. Today we would "look unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith," and follow Him in word and deed; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Lumbering Layoffs Now Number 1,500

VANCOUVER (CP) — With an industry-wide strike threat averted only a month ago, the British Columbia logging industry now is besieged by trouble of a different kind.

Three major logging companies announced Wednesday shutdowns and retrenchments which will mean layoffs for more than 1,500 loggers. One official said the situation is the worst it has been since the 1930's.

Company officials blame surplus of logs and poor markets for the shutdowns.

But a union spokesman accused companies of "a pressure move" to gain tax concessions from the B.C. government.

MacMillan & Bloedel announced it will lay off 500 men in temporary shutdowns during August. Alaska Pine has closed camps that normally employ 300 men.

Powell River Company has not reopened some of its operations since the strike threat in June. It plans to reopen in about a week but will be hiring only 350 men where 700 worked before.

MARKETS MUST IMPROVE

Harry McQuillan, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, describes the situation as "the worst since the 1930's." He said an improvement in world markets is needed, particularly in home building in Canada and the U.S.

A MacMillan & Bloedel official was less inclined to blame markets than a surplus of logs. He said this surplus was caused by a variety of factors, none of which was salient.

Both union and company officials agreed that work this summer has been steadier than usual partly because there have been fewer fire hazards.

Dio, Hoffa Under Fire At U.S. Probe

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today union leaders interested in the welfare of workers have "no excuse" for associating with Johnny Dio, the racketeering friend of vice-president James R. Hoffa of the teamsters union.

Kennedy said Dio's record is well known and he only entered the labor movement "to exploit it to his own use."

It was "most unfortunate," he added, that Dio "was permitted to play such a prominent part" in New York city labor affairs.

On Wednesday, Kennedy accused teamster union boss James R. Hoffa of an alliance with racketeers in a scheme to take over the U.S. eastern seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

CF-100 Jet Feared Lost Over Quebec

MONTREAL (CP)—A CF-100 jet fighter was believed to have crashed in the Sept-Iles, Que., area early today while flying from Montreal to Europe, RCAF Air Defence Command headquarters reported.

Missing are Flt. Lt. Kevin P. McNulty, 32, of Thorold, Ont., and FO G. W. Wilding, 20, of Kingston, Ont.

Crews of other planes saw the canopy of the fighter being released. Then the aircraft went into cloud and was not seen again. The RCAF said the release of the canopy indicated the possibility that the plane's two-man crew baled out.

73 Escape Injury

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—A Swiss airliner with 73 persons aboard ground its nose into the runway today on landing at Portela airport en route from New York to Zurich. No one was hurt.

Blind Pensioner Dies, Three Burned in Fire

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 60-year-old blind pensioner was killed and three other persons critically burned in a fire that raced through a downtown frame rooming house today.

Nine others, including six small children, fled the three-story home as flames swept out of control, leaped across a narrow sidewalk and took hold of a house next door.

Families on both sides of the burning building were evacuated and stood with hundreds of other residents who jammed the street as fire equipment from five city stations fought the blaze for more than two hours.

Dead is Reginald Williams.

In hospital and suffering third degree burns were:

Mrs. Christine Warden, 55, in serious condition; Evelyn Cook, 32, in critical condition, and Roderick Cook, 57, Miss Cook's father, in poor condition.

Also in hospital and suffering shock was Marr Sutton, 62, owner of the 40-year-old home.

100,000 See Duke Open Jamboree

SUTTON PARK, England (Reuters) — An estimated 100,000 visitors flocked here today to witness the opening of the 12-day Boy Scout world jubilee jamboree.

More than 25,000 Scouts from 85 nations have pitched thousands of tents in this 750-acre wooded park (which was once a royal hunting area owned by King Henry VIII.

The Duke of Gloucester, president of the Boy Scouts' Association in Britain, was chosen to open the jamboree.

Six radio transmitters were set up to flash the message "jubilee jamboree has started" to all corners of the world.

Auto Chase Fatality Charges To Be Laid

(See Page 17)

A charge or charges will be laid in connection with the fatal plunge of a stolen car off Dallas Road on to Stony Beach last Friday, Chief John Blackstock said today.

He added any decision on who would be charged, what the charge or charges may be and whether the court would be juvenile or open police court depends upon advice of the city prosecutor.

Part of the decision rests on a transcript of evidence of Tuesday's inquest into the death of Gunnar Stebeck, 13, for which police are waiting.

Second CN Train Derailed; 2 Injured

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian National Railways officials said here the Toronto section of the west-bound Super Continental passenger train was derailed early today at Burwash, 20 miles south of Sudbury, injuring two passengers.

This was the second derailment for the CNR in five days. The eastbound Continental streamliner was derailed Sunday at Nourse, 36 miles east of Winnipeg, injuring 86.

Today six cars were derailed at Burwash. In Sudbury hospital with possible concussion is Holly Ristau, four months old, of Winnipeg. Also injured was Miss D. Nault of Fort Garry. She suffered bruises to the left shoulder.

Officials said they did not know the cause of the accident.

A CNR official at North Bay said the nine-car train was travelling at about 50 miles an hour when the last six cars left the track. None of the cars tipped over but the last car ended at a 45-degree angle.

The derailment ripped up the station platform at Burwash and about 900 feet of track.

The train was carrying about 120 passengers.

Dior New Look Will Get Lots of Looks

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Wolf-whistle bosoms and slack-waisted, hip-hugging sheaths set the pace in fashion czar Christian Dior's new "spindle-line" collection showed today.

Hemlines were almost forgotten as necklines fell. Actually the hemlines are a modest mid-calf, or perhaps 15 inches from the floor.

That's shorter for Dior, who liked them long last season. It ranges him with the conservatives this time, for half the houses have shown them just covering the knee.

A new half-shell bra, strapless, backless and without fastenings, permits the most eye-popping decolletage to be seen outside the Folies Bergere.

It appears only for cocktail and evening. Most daytime bosoms are far too flat to deserve the name. The great mystery is how Dior can create opposite effects with the same girls in the same show.

Suits and dresses look tacked to the tummy and loose in the back. But both short and long formal sheaths are innocent of any wastline at all—while they grip the hips and hug the legs.

Strong dresses for cocktail time and evening wrap the figure and tie with a bow under one breast.

Straight out of the 1920s are beaded sheaths and even one bead-fringed sheath. One model twice had to get help to disentangle her heels from the hem fringe of a hobble-tight floor-length sheath of black velvet.

Only a little "V" slit, discreetly filled in, at the back of the knees keeps Dior's slim skirts from being real hobblers, while his big ones stand out like balloons, stiffened with crinoline petticoats.

That lowest-ever neckline is sometimes saved in the nick of time by a rose tucked in the middle, and sometimes bordered with an undulating fringe of feathers. One was mink topped.

JEALOUS OF NOVA SCOTIA

Bluenosers Have Red-Coated Mountie; Warren Red-Faced

Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren is jealous of Nova Scotia.

He is jealous because Nova Scotia has scarlet-uniformed Mounties on duty at leading tourist points while British Columbia has none.

He has therefore written to the Nova Scotia Industrial and Tourist Promotion division at Halifax asking them where they get the pull.

Mr. Warren has been battling for months for a scarlet-coated Mountie (or Mounties) to be stationed outside the Legislative Buildings during the tourist season.

He has been continually rebuffed, although U.S. tourists repeatedly write in asking: "Where can we see a Mountie on Vancouver Island?"

GEORGE I. WARREN
. . . efforts thwarted

Now the Bellingham Herald of Washington has taken up this cry with a leading editorial entitled: "Where Are the Mounties?"

"I understand Nova Scotia does not suffer from this problem," Mr. Warren said. "They tell me Mounties are on duty for tourists at the Wedgeport Tuna Derby and are stationed on the dockside at Yarmouth when U.S. boats arrive.

"I have written to Nova Scotia's tourist division to try and find out how they get this co-operation from the RCMP when we are unable to get any."

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island has written to the Canadian government in Ottawa asking why this attraction is denied to B.C. visitors.

RAF Jets Renew Attack on Rebels

SHARJAH, Arabian Trucial Oman (Reuters) — RAF jet fighter planes took off again today in their continuing battle to blast targets held by forces rebelling against the British-backed sultan of Muscat and Oman.

The targets were military ones, held by the Iman of Oman, the rebel leader, and 48 hours warning was given so that civilian inhabitants in the attacked areas could take cover.

At the same time, there was increased speculation here that the sultan's ground forces, possibly supported by Trucial Oman scouts—local levies led by British soldiers—would begin to close in on rebel strongholds within the next few days.

INSPECTS AREA

The speculation sprang up despite a news blackout imposed on correspondents here. But it coincided with the arrival from Cyprus of Lt.-Gen. Sir Geoffrey Bourne, commander-in-chief of Britain's Middle East land forces, in Bahrein on his way to Muscat.

A spokesman in Bahrein said Bourne had come "to have a look at the area of operations in Oman."

Meanwhile, there was no official reply to Cairo reports that the sultan's brother, Said Tarik bin Taimur, had been captured in a battle with the Iman's troops near the rebel stronghold of Ebri in central Oman.

U.S. MILITARY WILL DECIDE FOREIGN TRIALS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives armed services committee today voted 31 to 4 to give the United States military the power to decide for the United States whether a serviceman should be turned over for foreign trial for an on-duty offence.

Approval of the bill came in the face of strong administration protest that any law concerning the status-of-forces treaties would harm foreign relations and could lead to foreign insistence on many more trials of United States servicemen.

MUM'S THE WORD

No Comment By Hoxsey Investigator

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. James Mather, chairman of the University of British Columbia's cancer research team, had "absolutely no comment" when he returned Wednesday night from a two-week investigation of the Hoxsey clinic in Dallas, Tex.

He said the team's findings on Hoxsey's claim he is curing cancer will not be completed for at least a month, and he is "not going to release a thing" till then.

The report will be handed to John Ward Patterson, dean of medicine at UBC, who will forward it to provincial Health Minister Eric Martin. Mr. Martin ordered the investigation.

Narcotic King Disappears After Raid

MILAN, Italy (UP)—Police feared today that alleged international narcotics king Constantino Gamba whose operations extended into Canada may have flown the coop following a sudden raid Wednesday night on his drug laboratory here.

The raid was staged as a climax to a painstaking three-nation narcotics investigation by agencies of the United States, Italy and Switzerland.

It was understood that the Gamba laboratory in Milan shipped 154 pounds of heroin to the United States alone, some of it through Canada, last year. This quantity was described by Italian drug experts today as "incredible" and "a veritable artificial dream treasury."

Value was estimated as up to $50,000,000.

Police refused to comment officially today on the raid.

ENGLISH WOMEN MEASURE SAME AS 'VENUS'

LONDON (AP) — The vital statistics of the average British woman are almost the same as those of the Venus de Milo. After a six-year study the board of trade reported today the average British woman measures 37-28-39. The Venus de Milo statue in the Paris Louvre Museum: 37-26-39.

Britain's average woman is just under 5-3 tall. Venus de Milo is 5-4.

Britain's living Venus weighs 136. The armless Venus de Milo's poundage is not calculated.

Board of trade representatives measured more than 5,000 women to help manufacturers and retailers of women's clothes as well as the lady customers.

Auto Workers Face Trial Before Union

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—The United Auto Workers Union will hold a trial of members charged with fomenting a recent shutdown at the Chrysler of Canada plant here, it has been announced.

Thirty-one members of Local 444 are involved in what is believed to be the first trial of its kind conducted by a union in Canada.

The walkout occurred July 12 in alleged violation of the union-company collective agreement which provides machinery for settling disputes.

Union officers said they had no alternative but to take the case before the membership "if the policies of the international and local union mean anything."

The trial will be held at an undetermined date before the union membership with the trial committee drawn by lot. Those found guilty may be fined, suspended or even expelled from the union.

Decision on Milk Strike To Be Made With in a Week

Decision of Victoria milkmen as to whether or not they will strike should be made within a week, a union spokesman said today.

Driver-salesmen of Victoria's four main dairies voted Tuesday and Wednesday 124 to 40 in favor of a walkout.

This could reduce milk deliveries here to a trickle, as the dairies affected handle 90 per cent of the area milk business.

The quarrel is over rejection by the companies of a unanimous conciliation board recommendation of continuation of the present six days a week delivery. The union wants the six-day set-up.

Recommended also was a $30 monthly raise for milkmen, and a $32 boost for inside workers in plants.

About 165 milkmen of four companies are involved. Companies are Palm Dairies Ltd., Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association and Northwestern Creamery Ltd.

Emergency deliveries, such as to hospitals, would be worked out in the event of a strike, union business agent Ben McCrone said today.

He said it was hard for the union to understand why employers had rejected the conciliation board stand when the employer representative, Philip Fleming, had himself endorsed the six-day continuation.

Dairies say they can't afford this they claim.

If a strike comes off, farmers of the area would have to sell their milk elsewhere or make arrangements for distributing it themselves.

There are about 110 producers in the area and production value at the farmer's level is $135,000 a month.

Hungarian Reds Arrest Priests

Group Accused of Supporting Armed Revolt Against Regime

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

VIENNA—The former secretary of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and several other Roman Catholic priests will stand trial shortly for taking part in "counter-revolutionary actions," the Communist Hungarian government announced today.

Budapest radio said the ministry of the interior announced the Rev. Egon Turcsanyi, former secretary of the Hungarian primate, will be among a group of priests brought to trial before a "peoples court."

It charged that he took part in an armed attack on the Hungarian state office for church affairs during the revlution last October that eventually was crushed by Soviet troops.

It did not say how many other priests were involved nor just when the trial would begin.

Mindszenty himself is in the U.S. embassy in Budapest where he sought refuge when the tide of the revolution turned against the freedom fighters.

Among the charges:

"Large quantities of leaflets and other propaganda material were made and duplicated, and distributed mainly in the armed centres of the counter-revolution.

"They (the priests) were in close contact with armed groups, conducted personal agitation amongst them, supplied food to fighting counter-revolutionaries and after the fighting was over, concealed several counter-revolutionary terrorists from the authorities."

The priests and the students were accused of putting out a pamphlet in December and January which "hailed the counter-revolution and the beastly activities of terrorists, abused the workers' power and the socialist system."

"Some church leaders were aware of the large-scale organization and counter-revolutionary activities," the ministry added.

It did not specify which church leaders it meant.

CONCILIATORY

The Hungarian Catholic hierarchy, under the leadership of Archbishop Joseph Groesz, has been following a more conciliatory policy than Cardinal Mindszenty toward the Communist regime. It has formed an organization called "Opus Pacis" the work of peace to co-operate with the Communist-organized "peace movement."

HELICOPTER RESCUES WOMAN

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) —The wife of a Columbia university chemistry professor was plucked by a helicopter from the 5,800-foot level of a remote mountain pass after she collapsed Wednesday in what was believed to be a diabetic coma.

The woman, Mrs. Richard Noyes of New York City, was one of 33 mountaineers climbing in the Cascade mountains 23 miles northeast of the head of Lake Chelan in north central Washington.

Her condition was reported as "good."

Congressman Labels Ike 'Lousy Liar'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (Dem.—W.Va.) called President Eisenhower "a lousy liar" today.

He hurled the name at the president for denying responsibility for killing the $1,500,000,000 school construction bill.

Bailey, a chief Democratic sponsor of the measure, also said Eisenhower would be "playing politics in an election year" if he asks Congress next year to approve a school construction bill.

Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday that despite House defeat of the school bill last week he will offer another school bill next year. Eisenhower also rejected charges by House Democrats that he did not work for the bill this year.

"When he says that the bill's defeat was not his fault," Bailey said, "he's just a lousy liar."

Bailey specifically authorized quotation of his statement.

Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (Dem.—Pa.) said the president "threw in the sponge" before the House showdown fight began.

Malaya Sovereignty Approved By Queen

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen gave royal assent Wednesday to a bill to establish the Federation of Malaya as an independent, sovereign country within the Commonwealth.

The federation, with a population of 5,000,000 malays, Chinese and Indians, becomes independent Aug. 31.

Fire Hazard at Airport Serious Expert Tells Vancouver Council

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council was warned Wednesday a serious fire hazard exists at Vancouver International Airport because of an inadequate water supply.

Charles Brakenridge, a member of the airport board, said council should bring this strongly to the attention of the federal department of transport when the two bodies meet this fall to negotiate a new airport operating agreement.

Under the existing agreement, the federal government is responsible for bringing an adequate water supply to the airport.

The present supply comes through pipes which are too small and leak badly, said Mr. Brakenridge, a former Vancouver city engineer.

As a result, many large buildings of chiefly wooden construction, including the $650,000 new passenger terminal, wouldn't stand a chance if a fire started.

Kinver Beach Swimmable In 2 Weeks

Kinver Beach should be safe for swimming by mid-August, Victoria-Esquimalt chief sanitary inspector Elwood Gropp said Wednesday.

Bacteria counts in pollution tests Monday and last week were too high for safety, he said. Tests are continuing this week.

An automatic switch for a pump lifting sewage from Kinver septic tank into a sewer emptying off Macaulay Point is being installed by electricians, municipal engineer John Graeme said.

The pump was previously operated by a manual switch.

Midget Atomic Batteries to Power Missiles, Space Craft Predicted

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government today forecast tiny atomic batteries powerful enough to run "equipment in guided missiles and space craft."

Missiles and "space craft" themselves may some day be driven by nuclear engines if research now going on bears fruit.

The prediction of space craft batteries was made in the Atomic Energy Commission's 22nd semi-annual report.

The report said "advances were made in all major programs"—weapons, power, ship propulsion, atoms-for-peace, research, and production of nuclear fuels and explosives. It also:

—Confirmed that the current Nevada tests are aimed at perfecting atomic weapons "with minimum fallout"—presumably smaller and thus radioactively "cleaner" atomic triggers for the big H-bombs tested in the Pacific.

—Reported that "a 10-year uranium supply is in sight." That means enough raw material for the weapons, power, and international atoms for peace program "as projected for the next 10 years." The U.S. still is the free world's biggest uranium producer and will be "for sime time to come."

—Said new experiments indicate that certain treatments can reduce radiation damage to germ cells and thus diminish the threat posed by radioactivity to future generations.

The report said that five different kinds of atomic batteries have been developed. They convert rays from radioactive materials directly into electricity. The most recent, smaller in diameter than a dime, will run a wrist watch more than five years.

RECITE UN REPORT

Youths Tell Reds Of Hungary Shame

MOSCOW (UP)—Fifteen American youths memorized major parts of the United Nations report on Hungary and took to street soap-boxes today to inform the Russian people.

They drew big crowds in Red Square and along Gorki Street receiting the report and discussing it with the Russians.

The movement was started by George Abrams, a Harvard Law School graduate from Newton, Mass., who said he brought the Hungary situation up when asked why so few Americans were here for the international youth festival.

He said that at least two or three English-speaking Russians were present to translate for him.

"Every now and then while I was reading excerpts some listeners would interrupt to declare 'No . . no . . . that's not right,' and we'd have a discussion.

"Other times," he said, "they'd just listen quietly and you could feel they were interested."

Some 50 Americans and 60 Chinese youths exchanged gifts while the Americans exhibited rock 'n roll dancing and the Chinese performed some of their folk dances.

Freight Crew Probed In CNR Train Wreck

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Railway officials, having dismissed two small boys, are trying to establish whether the crew of a freight train left unlocked the switch which caused the derailment of the Canadian National Railway's "Continental" last Sunday.

The officials said the freight was the last train to pass over the switch at Nourse, Man., 36 miles east of here, before 16 cars of the Continental jumped the tracks, injuring 86 persons.

No charges have been laid against the two boys, Bobby Rifer, 6, and his brother, Ralph, 7, who admitted they tampered with the switch just before the westbound Montreal-Vancouver express crashed.

The switches are supposed to be locked at all times, and only opened by the member of each train crew who possesses the key.

Back to the Grass Roots

THE LIBERAL PARTY OF British Columbia is fortunate in finding an organizer of Mr. Alistair Fraser's qualities. Under him, no doubt, organization will proceed apace in anticipation of a national election less than a year hence.

But the Liberal Party, here and throughout the country, faces much more than a problem of organizing the Liberal vote. Its real problem is to reorganize its own approach to politics.

For many years an able group of men conducted both the government and the affairs of the Liberal Party. It was so successful that, assuming perpetual success, the St. Laurent ministry lost touch with the public and seldom consulted the Party. It is a long time since the Liberals of Canada met in convention to consider the direction of their policy, what Liberalism stands for today or what it offers for tomorrow.

After the defeat of June it was to be assumed that the Liberal Party would meet in convention without delay.

Under normal conditions there would be no need of haste but present conditions in national politics are not normal. The Diefenbaker Government is quite entitled to call an election whenever it pleases, even if the Liberal Party supports it loyally in Parliament (at the expense of voting for policies that it has long condemned). The Liberal timetable is exceedingly tight.

Before Parliament opens in October the Liberal leaders, rejected by the electors, should have consulted the Party before committing it, in a critical session, to policies and tactics certain to affect it deeply, for better or worse, at next year's election.

Apparently there is to be no such consultation in advance of the session. This, we think, is a serious mistake, the latest of many. But if there is to be no convention and no consideration of future leadership or policy before the year's end, it will surely be a still greater mistake, possibly a disastrous mistake, if the Party does not meet early in 1958, well ahead of the expected election next spring or early summer.

It is unthinkable, indeed, that the Party should enter the election campaign in its present state of disrepair. To do so will be to court not merely another defeat but the final danger of hiving Liberalism almost entirely in Quebec and ruining it elsewhere.

The earliest possible consideration of both leadership and policy is therefore imperative if these perils are to be avoided and if the two-party system, greatly invigorated by the recent election, is not to fall again into disrepair.

Though defeated by a very narrow margin, the Liberal Party still retains great assets.

It has a gobd record in office which will be better appreciated after the Diefenbaker Government has grappled for a few months with the nation's problems.

It has unequalled experience in public affairs and leaders of outstanding ability, though some of them are not now in Parliament. And it has Mr. Lester Pearson, who no doubt is more popular with the Canadian people than any Liberal since Laurier.

The immediate problem is to concert these assets and to present at the next election not merely a studied criticism of the Diefenbaker Government but a positive alternative to it.

If the Party managers at Ottawa counsel delay, mere parliamentary manoeuvre and a series of debating points between now and election time, the ordinary grass-roots Liberals of the nation — the Liberals so often ignored by the higher strategists with familiar results — should remember that these strategists were totally wrong in June and could be totally wrong now.

In any case, it is not strategy but ideas, not manoeuvres but basic policies, that alone will revive the Liberal Party and the time to be considering them is now. That time will soon run out.

Brickbats and Setbacks

WITH COMMENDABLE GENEROSITY, Mr. Diefenbaker has warmly praised Mr. Pearson's recent speech to the American people at San Francisco.

Presumably the prime minister had in mind his political opponent's warning against unwise tariff and other economic policies in Washington.

This warning was so blunt and candid that it was widely reported throughout Canada and the United States but unfortunately Mr. Pearson's other remarks were generally overlooked.

In one of his greatest speeches Mr. Pearson not only urged a greater understanding between the United States and the Commonwealth but also offered a vigorous defence of the United Nations as the best instrument of world peace. After its recent troubles the United Nations needs defenders like Mr. Pearson, who speaks with unequalled experience.

As he says, the United Nations "is merely what its sovereign members make of it" and it has had "more than its share of brickbats and setbacks." There are even those, he adds, who would abandon the world organization altogether as useless in a world of predators.

Mr. Pearson rejects this defeatism because "the United Nations remains of essential value, not in spite of, but because of the divisions and difficulties and dangers in our world. It didn't create those divisions and difficulties, but it reflects them. And it is well that this should be done, so that they can be exposed, discussed and solutions sought for them on a multilateral, agreed and acceptable basis."

The United Nations, he says, "is the place where world public opinion now expresses itself. If the expression often depresses and even angers us, that is because the United Nations represents all the forces in the world today, not only those we approve. Many of these forces are new and they can be disturbing and arbitrary and negative. But they exist and we ignore them at our peril."

It is in the United Nations, Mr. Pearson believes, that the Atlantic and Western world can best come to terms with these new forces, such as Asian and African nationalism, and there we also have a chance, however slim it may be, to work out agreements with the communist world.

Mr. Pearson admits that he is "no airy idealist" in these matters. "But I am convinced," he says, "that the effort, the search for solutions . . . must be everlastingly pursued and endured. . . The voice of the West must be heard in New York less in terms of discord and more in terms of harmony and unity of purpose and policy. That voice will then be able to compete more successfully with those of other voices.

"If the United Nations, in its present form, were to disappear," he warns, "we would be left without any world organization at a time when one is more necessary than ever . . . or we would be left with one which, by driving out the members whom we feared or didn't like, had become merely the agency of the West in the prosecution of the cold war. Either result would be deplorable and if either occurs I hope that the nations of this hemisphere and Western Europe will not have to bear any responsibility for it."

These words, like Mr. Pearson's references to economic policy, should be pondered not only in the United States but in Canada as well.

Zweites Fruehstueck

THE WORLD'S ECONOMISTS, puzzled by West Germany's astounding post-war recovery, perhaps have missed the real secret of this success. It may not be an economic process after all but, instead, the mystery known as Zweites Fruehstueck.

According to The London Times' correspondent in Bonn, Zweites Fruehstueck is a formidable and, to anyone but the Germans, a shaking thing. For at exactly half past ten every morning all the factories, shops and offices of the German Republic suddenly fall silent and the whole population repairs its energies with "a second breakfast consisting of two ample sandwiches filled with sausage." (Lunch follows, a good, heavy German lunch, about an hour and a half later.)

German recovery seems to be, indeed, a triumphant march of calories and it is difficult to understand how the economy of North America remains efficient and competitive on only a cup of coffee in mid-morning.

But "elevenses," as the English call them, differ in Germany and elsewhere not only in volume but kind. We must conclude that the Germans are stoking the fires of the body while we stimulate the mind.

Anyway, the powerful economic systems of America and Germany would surely fall to pieces if they were robbed of morning coffee and those two "ample sandwiches filled with sausage," the secret weapons that Mr. Khrushchev had better watch carefully.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Funeral Pyre

ONE more defeat for the better life must now be recorded. Another relic of the great, lost days has left these shores.

As Mr. Horace Snifkin recounted this story to me, over a rather melancholy glass of beer, he finally got around to launching his sail boat the other day and when this ancient craft approached the lake the stern fell out, just crumbled into dust.

Hutchison

For years, the owner realized, that gallant craft had been a mere shell of crimson paint around a mass of decay. And like the vicar's one-horse shay, it collapsed all at once.

The financial loss, as Mr. Snifkin admitted, was not serious. He had bought the sailboat sixteen years ago for $50, secondhand, and it owed him nothing. But there is much more to a sailboat besides money, wood, paint and canvas. There are also memories.

A RETICENT, tongue-tied man, as the public well knows, Mr. Snifkin did not wish to speak of these things, but I remembered that a certain boy had once sailed that craft, accompanied by a brown spaniel, who bore the name of Skipper.

The boy has long since grown to manhood and fatherhood and sails no more. He has taken, in the fashion of these degenerate times, to a speedboat and water skis. The spaniel sleeps for at least twenty-three hours a day and will not approach the lake, even for a drink of water.

So passed the great age. But the sailboat remained. To be sure, it was seldom sailed, except by the occasional rich guest from Vancouver who came here on a slumming expedition to investigate the primitive ways of the natives.

NEVERTHELESS, Mr. Snifkin repainted it every year, launched it, watched it afloat in the bay on moonlight nights and preserved it as a relic. To him it was as precious as the "Victory" must have been to Nelson and as it still is to Nelson's race.

Thus in yesterday's accident (somewhat less spectacular than the Battle of Trafalgar but of the same sort) much more than a sailboat collapsed.

When the broken hull sank to the bottom, Mr. Snifkin's heart, his memories and all the brave hopes of his younger days sank with it. This was not the end of a boat; it was the end of an era. That crimson object, though it had no voice, proclaimed, says Mr. Snifkin, the mortality of man, the swift passage of time and the end of all things.

MR. SNIFKIN'S first thought was to hire an expert and have the crumbling hull repaired, regardless of cost. The expert called in consultation announced that if he rebuilt this hopeless wreck not one board or nail of the original would be left.

This project, Mr. Snifkin saw at once, would not preserve but would only dishonor the noble relic. Then he thought of installing it on a concrete foundation, like the "Victory," and perhaps charging a small admission fee to visitors, but that plan, too, was quickly abandoned; for it would expose both the relic and his memories to the public gaze and, besides, no visitor to a summer camp ever pays anything.

Finally, Mr. Snifkin remembered the famous story of the late Christopher Morley who rescued the wheel of Joseph Conrad's last ship from the shores of Tasmania and brought it to New York.

THERE the American author pulled the wheel by hand all the way up the island of Manhattan, from the Battery to Times Square, pausing at divers waterfront saloons to show his prize to the admiring sailormen and to toast it in foaming schooners of beer until, at the end, the march became somewhat difficult.

But the wheel was shipped without damage to London, where it reposes in a museum to celebrate the greatest writer of sea stories.

While there was no wheel on Mr. Snifkin's sail boat, there was a rudder and tiller, fashioned by his hands long ago, after the original, second-hand contrivances broke.

It would be possible, he suggested, to install the rudder and tiller, like Conrad's wheel, in a place of honor over the mantel shelf of the cabin.

ALAS, women have no feelings in these matters. Mrs. Snifkin said she did not propose to clutter up her living room with a hunk of wood, painted crimson and ill-shaped, for ornament. So that hopeful idea was also abandoned.

Mr. Snifkin therefore came over here this evening and, after some lubrication, announced his ultimate decision. He could not give the sailboat honorable burial, he could not dig a grave big enough, but he could send his friend, with proper ceremony, on her last voyage to the place where all good ships go.

IN the fall, he said, when the woods were wet and safe from sparks, he would drag the hull up on the beach; a great funeral pyre would be lighted, the flames would leap into the night sky, the neighborhood would hastily assemble (in speed boats, of course), Ray Dougan's volunteer fire department would come clanging down the road and all the world would know that the sailboat had joined the fleets of history.

The memories, however, would remain, as long as Mr. Snifkin. That, he said, would not be very long, the way he felt.

VICTIMS OF THE SABRE

A nearby farmer called us just shortly after the first aeroplane had taken off and he was really upset! The way he put it was this: his sow had a bunch of young piglets; she was used to us flying on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and Saturday — but not on Sunday; and so, when the first aeroplane flew off on Sunday, she rolled over and killed all her young piglets. So he put in a claim to ask for the value of the pigs.

Unions and Gangsters

After the recent disclosures of the Teamsters' Union and various other gangster-operated labor affiliations, I wonder that Canada or rather Canadian labor unions continue to take orders from, and subscribe to, this American Federation of Labor, and those striking members with children certainly are not showing much regard or interest in their future welfare.

I am writing to you because I hope that somehow you will be able to find me a pen-pal, preferably, older than myself.

I am 15 years old, I will be 16 on October 16. I attend Keighley Girls' Grammar School, where I am in the fifth form and hope to go up into the sixth form next September. My interests are reading, walking and the cinema, which may sound a little bit mixed up but it works out alright.

Victoria Came Through

The citizens of Victoria usually respond to a cause whenever the need is apparent and support is justified.

Another demonstration of their loyalty was given on Saturday when the Women's Committee of the Victoria Symphony Society held its seventh annual garden party. We are sure that many people attended to prove their appreciation of the work done by the committee members and the kindness of Capt. and Mrs. Massy Goolden of Arlow Farm in making their home and garden available for this event.

Pouring rain seemed to increase the determination of our friends to make this affair a financial success and it is a pleasure to offer sincere thanks to them on behalf of the convenors, Mrs. D. R. Roxburgh and Mrs. A. Laundy, members of the committee and the board of directors. We would also like to publicly thank the press, radio ans television stations, for their unselfish support.

Plan for Saanich

The logical and workable suggestion by Mr. Joe Barber-Starkey has offered a solution to the vexed question of amalgamation.

As he says, there is a natural division of urban and rural land at Royal Oak, and those living north of that point should be allowed to join Central Saanich. In fact, they voted to secede some years ago when the vote was taken, but were outvoted by the heavily populated sections of urban Saanich.

Let's have another vote on this matter incorporating his plan. This is one instance where the ward system would have worked to advantage.

Different 'Debtfinitions'

From The Vancouver Sun

OUR editorial writers can be jealous enough of each other over small matters without choosing one to debate debt reduction with Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

It was most generous of the premier to challenge one of them to "hire a hall" with him. There isn't one of them who wouldn't leap at the chance. The prospect of such an amusing evening doesn't come their way every day.

But how to pick one without playing favorites? There was some discussion in these offices yesterday afternoon of settling the selection by lot. One writer proposed that all Mr. Bennett's annual budgets be stacked on a table in a darkened room, with each man taking one, in order of seniority. The man who picked the one showing the largest over-expenditure of taxpayers' money in the preceding year would be adjudged the winner.

The scheme was abandoned, however, in view of Social Credit's well-known aversion to gambling in any form except toll bridges, bond markets and railways.

All hands agreed that it was a great pity to deprive the by-election voters of Delta of Mr. Bennett's smiling eloquence. If there's one thing the premier enjoys talking about more than anything else it must be debt statistics. Carpers have been heard to complain that the forensics suffer on the score of unintelligibility but that is usually blamed on a difference of opinion about the meaning of words. For example, Mr. Bennett will not concede that the word "debt" means what the dictionary says.

His critics incline to accept the definition of "debt" as "that which one person is bound to pay to another."

So they suggest that one of the debts of the provincial government is the half portion of municipal borrowings for school construction because the province guarantees the bonds and is obligated to pay half the interest and sinking fund charges.

They say the toll bridge authority's borrowings are also a provincial debt because the province guarantees them and pays them off at the rate of 2½ per cent annually. And the debt of the PGE Railway is a provincial debt because the province guarantees it and is liable for all of it if the railway doesn't make enough money to cover the charges.

Disagreement between debaters on such basic points tends to make a mockery of somebody's arithmetic. And perhaps to empty a hall in short order. The exchange of opinion might be more lucid if one debater spoke in Swahili and the other in Urdu.

So the great Delta Debate is off. Anyway, the usual practice when a reader wishes to dispute the validity of an editorial is to write a letter to the editor. Most of them are published.

FROM PARIS — By JOSEPH ALSOP

Hope on Algeria?

THE FRENCH government is now rather unhappily re-examing its own policy in Algeria. The final result will only be known in September, but the two possible outcomes are already quite easily foreseeable.

Alsop

Either the present re-examination will be transformed into the beginning of a serious attempt to find an agreed solution of the agonizing Algerian problem, or the meeting of the United Nations Assembly in September will produce a blow-up inside the Western Alliance almost on the scale of the Suez crisis. The reasons for these alternatives are simple indeed.

In brief, in anticipation of the U.N. Assembly session, where Algeria will be the major item on the agenda, the French have been sounding out the American and British governments on the possibilities of securing their support. The chief sounding-out expedition was the trip to Washington of the able permanent under-Secretary of the French Foreign Office, Louis Joxe.

In a series of long, frank and friendly conversation, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in effect told Joxe that the United States very much wanted to support France once again in the U.N. but Dulles added firmly that France would have to propose some kind of Algerian solution that the United States could in all honesty endorse.

Dulles Plan

The best solution, Dulles insisted, would be one that Tunis and Morocco would also agree to endorse. This would mean recognizing the aspirations of the native Algerians, tying an at least semi-independent reorganized Algeria to Tunis and Morocco, and finally tying all three countries to France.

Secretary Dulles did not insist, however, that the new French proposals for Algeria should have Tunisian and Moroccan backing. He only insisted that the proposals must be serious, in the sense of offering some hope of producing eventual peace.

Last year, he pointed out, the United States had backed the plan of former Prime Minister Guy Mollet, for a cease-fire followed by free elections; but this had proved delusive. Now another plan must be put forward, with better chances of success than the Mollet plan. And this was all the more urgent, he added, because the Algerian fighting was one of the major obstacles to the rather desperate, post Suez American effort to bring reasonable stability to the troubled Middle East.

Thus far the British government has taken a line parallel to the Dulles line. On this matter, London and Washington seem to be acting in concert, for once in a way. Thus it seems likely that if France does not put forward new Algerian proposals of a sufficiently hopeful and constructive character, France will not have the support of either of the other major Western allies at the U.N. meeting.

If France goes into the U.N. Assembly with the whole Afro-Asian and Communist blocs against her, and with no support from the other great Western allies, the result must be a trully appalling defeat.

Incalculable

The consequences are really incalculable. For how will France, for instance, respond to a ringing U.N. condemnation? Only one consequence, indeed, can be calculated with real assurance. The ensuing recriminations inside the Western alliance will be heard around the world.

Such being the future prospect if France does not put forward constructive Algerian proposals, the re-examination of the Algerian problem that is being conducted here assumes the widest possible significance. But as yet, it must be said, the re-examination has not produced the kind of new proposals Washington and London are devoutly praying for.

Prime Minister Bourges Maunoury is seeking to draft a law giving the broad framework of a new organization of Algeria. Thus far, however, the framework law does not comprise the minimum recognition of Algeria as a national entity that could conceivably satisfy the Tunisians, the Moroccans or the Algerian dissidents. Instead, the most favored proposal at present is to divide Algeria into three provinces; to give each province a measure of autonomy and an elected provincial assembly; but to keep in French hands effective control of Algeria as a whole.

Want Bolder Proposal

The American and British governments have already let it be known that this plan will not command their active support. Strong forces are certainly at work within the French government to secure much bolder proposals. The Foreign Minister Christian Pineau has even sponsored discreet negotiations with the Algerian rebel leaders.

If former Prime Minister Guy Mollet (the real maker of the Bourges Maunoury government) swings over to the side of bold action, this really may prove the beginning of a serious search for an agreed solution. But at present the betting is still against.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK — By RUTH ENKE

Alfie

THE psychiatrist was very, very relaxed in a nervous kind of way. He didn't come out, flat-footed, and ask Alfie what was on his mind. He just talked casually and quietly in the certain knowledge that Alfie's troubles would come trickling out.

Ruth

"The world's crazy," Alfie said suddenly.

"Sure," said the psychiatrist. "Crazy as can be. I often think that myself."

"Take this business of going to psychiatrist," said Alfie. "Psychiatrist's couch is replacing the family pew. And it's a whole lot more expensive, let me tell you."

"We've all got to live," said the psychiatrist, and thought about his income tax!

"If you call it living," said Alfie savagely. "Take me for instance. Worked hard all my life. Wanted to get ahead of the guy ahead of me. I'm an expert now. A specialist. Each year I know more and more about less and less."

"Sure," said the psychiatrist, who was an expert at dealing with experts who showed signs of cracking up.

★ ★ ★

"Take my grandfather," said Alfie, going off on a tangent. "When he was worried, he used to fall on his knees and listen for the voice of God. Me, I flop on a couch and talk about myself. Which method is healthier, I'd like to know."

"Science has made great strides since those days of unenlightened superstition," said the psychiatrist.

Alfie made a rude noise.

"Well," he said. "I'd just like to know that science is making strides in the right direction."

"Take these darned insects and bugs," he continued, really warming up. "They learn to kill 'em off with poison sprays and antibiotics. The week ones go under but the strong ones come back stronger than ever. And where does that leave me, doc? Where does that leave me?"

The psychiatrist clucked reassuringly and made a squiggle in his notebook.

"Take the H-bomb," continued Alfie. "Its fallout is so terrible we think maybe we can put a stop to war. Then the experts say they can make a "clean" bomb, and we're all meant to stand up and cheer.

"What's a clean bomb, doctor? How can any bomb be clean?"

The psychiatrist made no answer.

"Take this business of cars," said Alfie. "They keep churning out cars like mad. More and more powerful every year. Parking problems. Traffic problems. Even traffic congesion in the air round airports.

"What's the end going to be?" asked Alfie, looking very wild.

"What you need is a tranquilliser," said the psychiatrist.

"Tranquilliser, hell," said Alfie. "What I need is a good stiff drink."

"Tranquilliser, drink, dope, speed — all methods of escape," said the psychiatrist.

"Escape from what?" asked Alfie.

But the psychiatrist had no answer.

A lot of this is nonsense, of course. I'm just trying to catch an atmosphere that does exist in North America in the middle of the twentieth century.

POPULATION UP BY 508,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population was swelled by 508,000 persons in a year—largest annual gain in history—to reach an estimated 16,589,000 at June 1, the bureau of statistics said today.

With a sharp rise in immigration the major factor, the population grew at the rate of 3.2 per cent in the 12 months following the 1956 census.

HOME GARDEN — By JACK BEASTALL

Spade, Water Big Garden Musts

The shovel or spade is possibly the most useful tool in the home gardener's collection.

It is the tool most frequently taken from the rack, and it is so readily adaptable that we use it for jobs far beyond the intent of the designer.

As a substitute for a scythe it will chop down long grass and weeds, and it makes a fine lever for prying out boulders and moving obstinate objects.

Jack

The latter use has often resulted in a broken handle or blade, but it is easier to use the tool already in the hand than walk a few yards for a crowbar.

There are other uses to which a spade can be adapted, some so simple that we overlook them entirely.

It is, for instance, the cheapest instrument for determining the moisture content of the soil at the root level of our plants.

In spite of recent overcast skies and frequent showers, the spade thrust full depth into the ground shows that the soil is dry and causing the browning leaves and small blossom heads.

Several gardeners have tried this lately, including myself, and have been quite surprised at the lack of moisture a few inches below the surface.

It takes from four to six hours' sprinkling, according to type of soil, before the spade indicates moisture to a depth of six inches, and what a difference that moisture makes in the plants!

YOUR HEALTH — By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Acne or Facial Pimples

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Few persons realize the great mental suffering of hundreds of thousands of youngsters whose face, and perhaps back, is covered with pimples, many of them containing pus. Later, when about the age of 22 the infection dies out, the young man or woman may still suffer embarrassment because the skin has been left pitted and rough. What can be done for this disease? In the March number of "Today's Health," published by the American Medical Association, I find a good article on the subject by my old friend, Dr. Paul de Kruif. As he says, since acne is a disease which appears with puberty, it is probably associated with an excess in the blood of some glandular secretion—most like male hormone or androgen.

Dr. Alvarez

But there are several causes for acne. One can be a very greasy skin with excessively active oil glands. Another can be an allergic sensitiveness to chocolate or some other food. If I were a teen-ager suffering from acne I would live for 10 days on nothing but oatmeal with only butter and sugar on it, plus lamb, beef (cooked plainly without any gravy or sauce) and canned pears or apple sauce for desserts. Only water would be taken for thirst. No candy, candy bars, nuts, chewing gum or anything should be eaten. Only butter should be used in the cooking. If, on this diet, the acne became much better I would eat a lot of chocolate and keep a record of what happened to the pimples. Later I would eat a lot of ice cream, or peanuts or other food, always keeping a record of what happened. Then, if I found that chocolate or milk or other certain foods always made my skin much worse, I would avoid them.

GERMS CAN MOVE IN

In cases of severe acne the fat-forming glands become infected with germs, but, curiously, large doses of antibiotics do not instantly clear this infection away. So far, it has been impossible to kill all of the bad germs and to keep them from coming back. But today some skin specialists report good results from giving each day a small dose of one of the more powerful antibiotics. According to Dr. de Kruif, in the Vanderbilt Clinic at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University, they have had excellent results with this treatment. They have also given small doses of stilbestrol, a synthetic female hormone, with the idea of counterbalancing the assumed excess of male hormone in the blood.

The skin specialists at Vanderbilt Clinic report that in some cases an acne can be helped by removing badly infected tonsils or abscessed teeth or by treating infected sinuses in the nose. The doctors found it helpful to have the youngsters live on a low diet in fats and starches and sugar, and high in protein. It is important to wash the face well, night and morning, so as to remove grease and to open up the mouths of the oil glands.

Many skin specialists forbid the youngsters to squeeze the pustules or their blackheads, but my impression has always been strong that it can help greatly if the youngster will get from a drug store a comedone extractor, which is a little spoon with a hole in it. The person puts the hole over the blackhead, presses down, and out comes what looks like a little white worm with a black head.

When one gets this material out early there is less likelihood of getting an infected pustule. I have seen cases in which, when the youngster removed his blackheads every night for six weeks, his pustules disappeared. Most writers on acne say that this squeezing must be done by a physician, but, as dozens of young people have said to me, this is not possible for two reasons: one is that the school boy (or girl) cannot go every day and wait an hour or two for the doctor to get to him, and the other is that most boys and girls haven't the money to pay for such treatment.

I am sure that anyone with a comedone extractor can easily remove blackheads without doing any harm. When a pustule breaks and discharges it may help to wash the pus off with a little pledget of cotton dipped in alcohol. Care should be taken not to smear the pus over a wide area of skin.

A TENDENCY TO ILLNESS

Every old physician of experience knows that some persons are rarely ill, while other persons are frequently ill. A while ago I read a study by Drs. Lawrence E. Hinkle, Jr., and Norman Plummer who reported their study of the number of days off per illness in two groups of usually well and usually sick employees of a big telephone company. The women in the healthier group had lost on an average only 30 days out of 29 years; while the women in the chronically ill group had lost more than 1,095 days in a similar period. The healthier men had lost an average of 19 days during some 27 years, while the sicklier men had lost around 281 days.

As one would expect, most of the sicklier women had many troubles. One of them said she had had many attacks of influenza, plus trouble with nervousness, with her gallbladder, a breast tumor, an ovarian tumor, a high blood pressure, spells of arthritis, sprains, much indigestion, trouble with decayed teeth, and accidents and injuries.

$8,000 Thefts From Vancouver Registry Probed

Thefts totalling more than $8,000 have occurred in the Vancouver court registry office in the past six months, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Extent of the thefts came to light when the cabinet passed an order-in-council restoring the money from general provincial revenue.

Attorney-General Bonner described the thefts as "disturbing and baffling."

He said, however, that investigations are continuing "with the expectation of good results."

EXHIBIT PARCELS

The cash — totalling $8,312.68 — comprised four separate trial exhibit parcels taken at different times.

Last May it was disclosed that $2,243 was missing during the trial of two accused bank robbers — David Auld and Harvey J. Lyons. Auld was subsequently acquitted, Lyons sentenced to 19 years.

The order-in-council Wednesday showed that three other thefts occurred:

$2,288 in another bank robbery trial involving Joe Gordon, who was later hanged for the murder of a Vancouver police constable.

$3,275 in U.S. currency in the case of a man convicted of counterfeiting travellers' cheques.

20-Minute 'Mystery' Shopping Chase Gets Woman $100 Award

A two-story escalator chase with a $100 reward for Mrs. Roberta Karagianis, 467 Lampson Street.

She nabbed her woman—Victoria's third and last mystery shopper, Mrs. E. A. Walls, 1235 Transit—on Eaton's main floor.

"I followed her down the escalator for two floors," Mrs. Karagianis said, "so I had lots of time to study her."

The case of the mystery shopper was closed at 1.40 p.m.—a scant 20 minutes after Mrs. Walls arrived downtown.

She had visited Ballantyne's Florists and was proceeding slowly through Eaton's when Mrs. Karagianis stopped her with the question "Are you the six-day shopping week mystery woman?"

"I've been downtown every Wednesday afternoon trying to find the mystery woman," Mrs. Karagianis said.

"When she answered 'Yes,' I couldn't believe it!"

Altogether $500 was given away to mystery shopper scouts during the campaign, sponsored by downtown merchants whose stores are open Wednesday afternoons.

The campaign is over — but Wednesday afternoon shopping has been so successful that it will continue, merchants say.

Fine Playing In Playground Tennis Finals

"One of the most successful children's tennis tournaments yet" was completed at Central Park courts Thursday.

"The tournament was outstanding not only from the number of entries but in the calibre of play," city playgrounds supervisor Gordon L. Hartley said. "For children aged seven to 12 they showed surprising ability."

Tournament winners from a field of 65 were Linda Moretti, girls' novice; Bob Moffatt, boys' novice; Gillian Thomas, girls' open, and Rodney Arundell, boys' open.

Better Quarters For Leave Centre Of Armed Forces

The Armed Services Leave Centre Wednesday moved to new and improved quarters.

Formal opening date will be in October.

Courtney Haddock, president of the civilian organization which sponsors the centre, said the move gives four times as much space as the old establishment at 1314-A Government. New premises are above Robinson's Sporting Goods in the 1300 block, Broad Street.

It is intended to step up recreational facilities and to offer a 24-hour service to men of the forces which includes changing rooms and locker service. A coffee bar is also planned.

R. H. B. Ker is heading a drive to raise $10,000 to aid in the expanded project.

CAPTURED PAPERS AIRED

Lindbergh, Ford Link of Nazis?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Captured second world war documents made public Wednesday report an American oilman made a $250,000 payment to the Democrats in 1940 in a vain attempt to block President Franklin D. Roosevelt's re-nomination.

The documents, dealing with Hitler's efforts to keep the United States out of the war, name such Americans as Charles A. Lindbergh, Henry Ford, Wendell Willkie, and radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr.

Hans Thomsen, then in charge of Nazi Germany's embassy in Washington, cabled Berlin regularly on the progress of his propaganda campaign to encourage American isolationist sentiment for neutrality.

The German documents were taken from the German foreign ministry and Reich chancellory archives by the Allies when Berlin fell.

They report, among other things:

1. That the late W. R. Davis, who at the time was dealing in various oil matters for the Mexican government, "paid $250,000 to the national and Pennsylvania state Democratic organizations."

2. That "Lindbergh's attitude is to wait and see whether Willkie will be able to avoid the bondage to Jewry." Further that "the circle about Lindberg . . . now tries at least to impede the fatal control of American policy by the Jews."

3. That a group of "prominent business men and politicians" headed by "James Mooney of General Motors" favored urging Roosevelt to send an ambassador to Berlin.

4. That the late Henry Ford "personally proposed to Thomsen that before Hitler attacked England he should publicly define his viewpoint and aims so as "to have a widespread effect on American public opinion."

57 Persons Die In Boat Mishap

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — Fifty-seven persons were drowned July 21 in the River Hooghly after a boat with 97 passengers on board capsized during a storm, it was reported today. Bipin Bera, a socialist party official who survived the disaster, said 40 persons swam to safety.

NEW BOAT RAMP FOR OAK BAY?

Oak Bay council is considering construction of another boat-launching ramp in the municipality because of the increasing number of boat owners.

If approved, the ramp would be built this year, probably at Cattle Point near the war memorial, Reeve Fred Norris said.

The only other ramp, at Oak Bay boathouse is so popular little parking space is available. Parking facilities at Cattle Point would be ample, he said.

Cost of the job was estimated at about $1,500.

REBELLIOUS CONVICTS PROMISED PLAYGROUND

DEER LODGE, Mont. (UP) — The Montana state board of prison commissioners promised restless state prison convicts today to convert an onion garden in the yard into a playground.

This was the one definite concession the 600 prisoners won after a riot they staged Tuesday.

Airliner Cleared For Bomb Search

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Fifty-six Seattle-bound passengers were evacuated from a United Airlines' DC-6 at Vancouver's international airport Wednesday night after the airline was told by an anonymous phone caller that a bomb had been placed aboard the plane.

All baggage was unloaded on the Tarmac, but an hour-long search of the four-engined aircraft revealed no bomb. It was the second time United Airlines have received "bomb" warnings here in the last three weeks.

KOREAN VETS RETURN

VANCOUVER — An officer and four men of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, the last members of Canada's 22,000-man Korean war army contingent to return, arrived here late Wednesday by air from Tokyo.

Capt. S. H. Frackson of Vancouver, Sgt. R. L. Sanberg of St. Catharines, Ont., and Privates Yvon de la Durantaye of Chicoutimi, Que., J. A. Ethier of Montreal and Karl Levik of Parksville, B.C., had been manning a Commonwealth Brigade medical centre at Inchon, Korea.

FIRE RAZES BUILDING

VANCOUVER—Occupants of an adjacent rooming house were evacuated today at the height of a fire in the east end of the downtown area. Equipment from three halls fought the blaze in a building housing the Ace Container Company and the Vancouver Plumbing Company.

The building was destroyed. About 20 persons will be out of work because of the fire.

FRUIT CASE REMANDED

CRANBROOK—Peter Shetabtoff of Creston, a member of the Creston Fruit Co-Operative charged with violating B.C. fruit board regulations, was remanded without plea to an unspecified date when he appeared in Cranbrook district court Wednesday.

Shetabtoff is accused of contravening the fruit board regulations by trucking apples and cherries east for direct sale. His counsel will be Cecil Merritt, VC.

MERCY FLIGHTS

VANCOUVER—A logger injured when logs rolled on him at Clowhom Lakes, near Sechelt, Wednesday was reported in satisfactory condition at General Hospital after being flown here by air ambulance.

The injured man was identified as Lloyd Haase.

E. Parr-Pearson, 46, an accountant for Osborne Logging Co., at Sechelt was flown here in another plane after he suffered a heart attack.

His condition was reported "fair."

STRIKE VOTE ASKED

VANCOUVER — Application has been made for a government-supervised, strike vote among non-medical staff at Vernon Hospital, business manager Bill Black of the Hospital Employees Union Local 180, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Black said the 80 workers concerned would "strike if necessary" to get what was recommended by a conciliation board. The board's recommendation called for a 10-cent hourly general increase for men, retroactive to Jan. 1, and $7.50 a month on the basic rates. For women, five cents an hour was recommended.

CRASH INJURES TWO

NELSON — A man and his wife were taken to Kootenay Lake General Hospital here Wednesday night after a collision involving their half-ton truck and a larger unit carrying natural gas pipes.

RCMP escorted an ambulance bringing Mrs. Billy Bondaroff, of Slocan Park, to hospital, and her husband was carried in a doctor's car. Neither were believed in serious conditon.

Present Setup Spells UN Doom; Churchill

LONDON (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill warned the American Bar Association Wednesday night the operation of the United Nations must be improved or "the whole structure may be brought to nothing."

Proposing a toast to the legal profession at a dinner ending the American lawyers' stay here, Churchill said the UN General Assembly had been "vastly swollen" in size beyond the "intention of its architects."

"I do not throw in my lot with those who say Britain should leave the UN," the aging statesman said, "but it is certain that if the assembly continues to take its decisions on grounds of enmity, opportunism or merely jealousy and petulance, the whole system may be brought to nothing."

Churchill said the U.N. had failed in many cases — "Hungary does creep across my mind," — and warned that justice couldn't be a hit or miss system.

Nazi Plot to Put Duke Back on Throne Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grandiose Nazi plot in 1940 to put the Duke of Windsor back on the British throne — at a price—has been revealed in top secret documents captured by the Allies and just made public.

The papers are among 415 German messages and reports unveiled Wednesday night simultaneously by the U.S. state department and the British foreign office.

The British government labelled the documents as "necessarily a much tainted source." It said the Duke of Windsor "never wavered in his loyalty to the British cause." The duke called the part about him "complete fabrication and . . . gross distortions of truth."

The German documents cover the period June 23-Aug. 31, 1940. France had fallen in a six-week blitzkreig. Britain braced for invasion. The United States was divided—intervene or stay out? And a prime aim of Hitler's policy was to keep the United States neutral.

In the papers, published as part of an historical project to illumine Hitler's years, 1933-45, foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop emerges as the mastermind of the Duke of Windsor plot. Ribbentrop later was hanged as a war criminal.

The plot, as recited by Ribbentrop, went this way:

The duke and the duchess were to be made a proposition. It was this: Denounce the duke's brother, King George VI, and then Prime Minister Churchill. Appeal to the British people to surrender. In exchange, the duke and the duchess for whom he gave up throne in 1936 could become king and queen of a Britain defeated by Hitler. Or he could go anywhere and live "a life suitable for a king," with Hitler paying the bills.

The duke and duchess were en route to the Bahamas, where he was to be a British governor. They stopped off in Lisbon.

A go-between made the first major contact. He was Spain's interior minister, Ramon Serrano Suner, a close friend of the duke and brother-in-law of the Spanish dictator, Francisco Franco. The documents indicate Franco approved the whole idea.

The chief problem, as the Nazis saw it, was "the pronouncedly English mentality of the duke." So they set out to scare him with phony bombs and other "threats" to his and his wife's lives.

Eighteen Nazi spies were detailed to watch their movement. These agents saw to it that Portuguese police unmasked Scotland Yard and British intelligence operatives. "Traces of an infernal machine bomb" were discovered. The duchess got whispered warnings, an anonymous letter and flowers with a card pointing to peril.

In the midst of it all, Sir Walter Monckton arrived in Lisbon. He was the duke's legal adviser and then deputy foreign minister.

In the end, the duke and duchess caught their ship, the American line Excalibur. It sailed with them from Lisbon the evening of Aug. 1, 1940—exactly 17 years ago today.

Disgustedly, the Nazis reported: "The Spanish plan collapsed completely."

The duke, in a statement from London Wednesday said persons he found to be pro-Nazi sympathizers" tried to persuade him to go to Spain instead of the Bahamas. He added:

"At no time did I ever entertain any thought of complying with such suggestions, which I treated with the contempt they deserved . . ."

Bob Braves' Best; Onrushing Cards Win Fifth Straight

By The United Press

Bob Buhl, who might be pitching the Chicago White Sox toward a pennant except for a little mistake the Sox made, kept the Milwaukee Braves atop the wild National League flag scramble today and is now their big money pitcher.

Beetle-browed Buhl posted victory No. 13 for the Braves Wednesday, 4-2, on an eight-hitter over the Pittsburgh Pirates to maintain their half-game lead over St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the fourth straight win for the hard-throwing right-hander and left him second only to the Phillies' Jack Sanford for most victories in the National League.

All this is so much applesauce for the White Sox, who first signed him to a minor league contract in 1947. It developed the signing took place before his class graduated from high school, so the baseball commissioner made him a free agent and this time he signed with the Braves.

HOMERS HELP

The Braves gave Buhl a 4-0 lead on homers by Red Schoendienst in the third and Johnny Logan in the fifth, plus two unearned runs in the sixth. He missed his fourth shutout of the year when the Pirates rallied for two runs in the ninth.

Cardinals kept pace with a 5-1 victory over the Giants behind Herm Wehmeier and third-place Brooklyn moved within two games of the top by beating Chicago twice, 3-2 and 2-1. Fifth-place Cincinnati beat fourth-place Philadelphia, 6-5, in an 11-inning nighter.

In the A.L. pennant chase, New York Yankees increased their league lead to 3½ games by beating their Kansas City "cousins" twice 2-0 and 5-4. Chicago won a single from Washington, 6-5, while Detroit downed Boston, 5-3, and Cleveland blanked Baltimore, 4-0.

Wehmeier scattered seven hits, including Hank Sauer's 14th homer, to beat the Giants as Al Dark led his support with four hits. It was the Cards' fifth straight win.

Dodgers won both their games in the ninth inning. Duke Snider's 25th and 26th homers gave them a 2-2 tie after eight frames of the opener and they won in the ninth with a run on three singles off Bob Rush. Trailing 1-0, they got two runs in the ninth of the nightcap with the help of Don Elston's wild pickoff attempt. Reliever Ed Roebuck was credited with both wins.

TED DELIVERS

Redlegs, trailing 5-2, scored three in the last of the ninth to tie, two on Ted Kluszewski's pinch homer, and beat The Phils with an 11th inning run on Gus Bell's double and Joe Nuxhall's pinch single. The win snapped a three-game Redleg losing streak.

The Yankees made it 16 out of 17 against the A's as Bob Turley hurled a five-hitter in the opener and Don Larsen, with ninth-inning help, pitched a two-hitter in the nightcap. Mickey Mantle's 28th homer featured the first win and Bill Skowron singled home the run that broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning of the second.

Larry Doby had four hits for the White Sox and drove in what proved to be the winning run in the ninth inning. Roy Sievers hit his 27th homer in vain for the Senators, who suffered their fourth straight loss.

Jim Bunning of Detroit picked up his fifth straight win and 13th of the year with help from reliever Harry Byrd. Ted Lepcio of Boston and Dave Philley of Detroit homered.

GOGIE KEPT HIS HEAD UP

Unscheduled, but highly appreciated by 4,375 fans attending Inter-City Lacrosse League game at Memorial Arena Tuesday night was this lively scuffle between Nanaimo's Gogie Stewart, who has his balding head showing, and Lew Landess of Victoria Shamrocks. Referees Eric Dickinson (left), Doug Bambrough and Earl MacDonald move in quickly to separate combatants, while Victoria's Bob Dobbie and Derry Davies of T-Men watch. Shamrocks won, 9-8. Floyd Won't Hold Back Against Olympic Champ

From AP Reports

Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson says the condition of Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson won't deter him from going all out against Olympic champion Pete Rademacher in their Aug. 22 title bout at Seattle.

Jackson, floored three times and dealt a fearful beating by Patterson at New York's Polo Grounds Monday, left a hospital at East Meadow, N.J., Wednesday although physicians had recommended he remain for several days for observation.

The eccentric contender entered the hospital five hours after he was stopped in the 10th round of the title fight. Physicians said he had suffered a bruised kidney.

Patterson said that Jackson wished him luck when he visited the beaten contender at the hospital.

JUST LIKE OTHERS

Asked if he feared he might injure the professionally unproven Olympic heavyweight champion of 1956, Patterson replied:

"No. I would have to regard him like I did Jackson and other strong opponents. He's a big, strong fellow, I hear. He's been boxing 10 years and anyone who wins an Olympic title has to be good to beat the world's best amateurs."

Rademacher, a 212-pound former football lineman with Washington State, captured the Olympic title at Melbourne with three straight knockouts. He is slow moving but can toss punches fast. Amateur fights usually are for three rounds only, however. He has never had a pro fight.

WAIVES GUARANTEE

The champion, who started training for the Rademacher bout today, has waived part of his $175,000 guarantee for Monday's fight, taking 40 per cent of the total receipts instead—a move that cost him $51,140.

Patterson's action slashed his total to $123,859.62 but permitted Emil Lence, Brooklyn dressmaker who promoted the bout, to make a profit of about $20,000.

The decision was made by D'Amator, with the champion's approval.

Asked how he felt about it, Patterson said "I have faith in my manager. It must be for a good reason."

Jackson's share of the receipts came to $61,929.81. Lence said his share was the same as that of Patterson and that his expenses of promoting came to about $100,000.

LONG HAUL SEEMS OVER; QUICK TUG WILL DO IT

Only a slight tug on the rope is required to bind Victoria to the Western Hockey League for another season.

Latest figure quoted by drive manager Colin Kilburn leaves less than $4,000 needed to be subscribed before the initial objective of $30,000 is reached to assure Victoria a team in the professional Western Hockey League.

Kilburn broke it down into shares with the statement, "that if 160 people will walk through the office door today and buy one $25 share, we are over the $30,000 mark."

Drive headquarters are located at 817 Fort Street. Shares can be pledged by phoning 2-2322.

MOUNTIES DON'T!

Manager? Heck, Who Needs One?

By The Associated Press

If Vancouver manager Charlie Metro loses many more arguments with Pacific Coast League umpires, his second-place Mounties might well knock San Francisco's high-flying Seals off their league-leading perch.

In Wednesday's 3-1 win over the Seals, the winning runs were scored after Metro had been thumbed from the game for protesting a foul call on a bunt by pitcher Morrie Martin in the seventh inning. After Metro was banished, Martin singled through the box and Buddy Peterson followed with the game-deciding hit.

Martin allowed six hits in gaining his eleventh win of the year against three losses.

RIGHT IN STEP

San Diego kept up with Vancouver, beating Seattle 4-3 behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Brodowski, who set down the Rainiers in every inning but the fourth. Hollywood dropped from second to fourth place in losing 6-5 to Portland, now deep in the cellar, 27 games off the pace.

Sacramento took a 9-8 win over sixth-place Los Angeles.

Vancouver's win was their third in the five-game series with the Seals. Martin gave up the only Seal run in the second inning as Jack Phillips singled and Eddie Sadowski doubled. Harry Dorish absorbed his eighth loss against nine wins.

San Diego backed up Brodowski's two-hit performance with nine hits, including a home run by Al Jones. Seattle knotted up the game 3-3 in the fourth inning and it stayed at a standstill until back-to-back singles by Ed Kazak and Bob Dipietro and a Rainier error combined for the winning run.

Four home runs highlighted Portland's win. Solly Drake and Frank Carswell hit one each for the Beavers and Paul Pettit smashed two for Hollywood. Bob Alexander was the winning pitcher, Hugh Pepper the loser in a loosely played game that saw Hollywood make four errors.

Steve Bilko hit his 33rd homer for the Angels but Sacramento came from behind twice to win.

It Wasn't Dave's Fault Harry's System Failed

Patterson Stops Bionda But Rocks Take Thriller

Shamrocks 9, Timbermen 8

By DOUG PEDEN

Harry Wipper is busy thinking up a new system and lowering his sights to a new Inter-City Lacrosse League target today.

Still shooting for a first-place finish when he sent his Timbermen out on the Memorial Arena floor Tuesday night, the Nanaimo coach attempted to chill Victoria Shamrocks by stopping Jack Bionda.

Timbermen succeeded in the latter task as slender Dave Patterson, merging with Bionda's shadow from start to finish, held the league scoring leader to a single assist. But Wipper lost sight of his first-place target when the Rocks punched a hole in his system by carving out a heart-hammering, 9-8 decision.

Now the Mann Cup champions have their work cut out to finish in the runner-up berth. With all clubs having three games to play in the regular schedule, the T-Men trail New Westminster by one point and may be three behind when the Salmonbellies finish with the Pilseners at New Westminster tonight.

Tuesday's victory all but clinched the top spot for the Irish, boosting them five points in front of the Bellies. All the Rocks need to nail down the league crown and a bye into the final playoff round is one more victory or one New Westminster defeat.

Timbermen start firing at the No. 2 berth when they host the Rocks at Nanaimo Civic Arena Saturday night and, after the hard-hitting battle the clubs waged Tuesday, it will be surprising if they don't perform before a packed house.

Played before the season's largest crowd — 4,375 paid — Tuesday's tussle had all the tense excitement and ferocity of a playoff argument. And it wasn't until Shamrock goalie Geordie Johnston clutched Skip McKay's blazing long shot to his chest in the dying seconds that the Irish were assured of their sixth win in nine meetings with the T-Men.

Rocks Needed Great Checking Effort

Bolstered as Gogie Stewart and Bud Dumont made their first appearance of the season, and with Alf Shuker back in the nets for the first time since being injured in a car crash, Timbermen turned in possibly their best performance of the season and it took a tremendous checking effort by the Rocks to keep them from moving back into second place.

Nanaimo went in front as McKay scored the only goal of the first quarter, but the Rocks came back to take a 5-3 lead in the second session and were ahead, 7-6, starting the final quarter.

Lisle Scott evened the count before Peewee Bradshaw and Bob Dobbie smashed through for goals 11 seconds apart to send the Irish ahead, 8-7. Scott fired his third tally of the night to make it 9-8 with just over five minutes remaining and the T-Men pulled out all stops in an attempt to collect the tying tally.

They held the ball for most of the final minute, apparently trying to set up McKay, owner of one of the best long shots in the loop, for a payoff shot. Unable to break loose from the Rock defence, McKay finally drilled a 35-footer as the clock ticked off the final seconds, and when Johnston grabbed the ball, that was it for the Timbermen.

Shuker came up with a sensational display, especially on low shots, as he blocked 27 drives. Johnston, who gave up a surprise goal in the third quarter, when Scott's long shot carried through the webbing of his stick, turned aside 24 shots.

Peewee Boosts Total to 86 Points

Shamrocks had Archie Browning out for the first time this year and Bobby Bremner playing his first Victoria game. Both collected a goal as they worked with either coach Whitey Severson or Bert Bertoia to give the Irish their most potent third line of the campaign.

Bradshaw fired three goals and picked up an assist to boost his point total to 86 and slice Bionda's scoring lead to eight points. Dobbie collected two goals and an assist while Tommy Druce and Don Sherry each notched single Shamrock tallies.

Despite the rugged action, only 20 minutes in penalties were handed out. Bremner and Dumont each received two-minute sentences for a fourth-quarter rassle hassle, while Stewart and Lew Landess each took five-minute fighting penalties for a lively mix-up with 82 seconds left.

At least Wipper won't have to worry about Bionda Saturday. The big forward, who suffered a broken nose last week, was having trouble with his breathing and will have the nose rebroken Friday morning.

Severson will also sit out Saturday's action and call on Art Green and Al Davies to fill out the Rock roster.

Yankees' Home Won't Be Shared

NEW YORK (UP) — Another hope, perhaps the last, of keeping the New York Giants here disappeared today with the announcement they definitely will not move into the Yankee Stadium.

Giants owner, Horace Stoneham, and Yankees' Dan Topping revealed that they met Tuesday and Wednesday to discuss "the possibility of the Giants moving into Yankee Stadium," which had been suggested as an alternative to the Giants leaving town.

But the owners agreed that they couldn't live together in "the house that Babe Ruth built."

In a joint statement, Stoneham and Topping said they agreed "there were so many obstacles in the way of operating two clubs successfully in one park that neither club could consider such a move."

They said that attempts to run both the Phillies and the A's in one park in Philadelphia and the Cardinals and the Browns in one park in St. Louis "had been unsuccessful," and concluded, "there have been no changes in present day baseball operation to alter the situation."

The United Press reported previously that obstacles in the way of the Giants moving into Yankee Stadium included the Yankees' insistence on a high rental, plus agreement with Yankee policy on such matters as operation of the swanky Stadium Club, scheduling of night games, and television.

The Giants declined to comment on a prediction made Wednesday by Mayor George Christopher, of San Francisco, that they probably will annouce a decision to move to San Francisco in about two weeks.

HASTINGS, FINDLAY IN FINAL

All-Victoria Battle For Bowling Crown

It's Charles Hastings of Canadian Pacific versus Archie Findlay of Victoria West in the finals of the men's singles competition of the 30th annual Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association tournament, ensuring that the W. H. Cullin trophy will stay in Victoria for another year.

Findlay, who eliminated defending champion Art Ashford of Burnside in the second round Monday, moved into the final as he ousted another former winner in the semi-finals Wednesday, downing Jim Hazlett of White Rock, 15-10.

Hazlett had reached the round of four earlier with a 15-3 win over R. Bindly of West Vancouver.

Hastings entered the final, to be played Saturday morning, with a 15-11 victory over W. Harlock of Beacon Hill.

In the consolation round, T. Owens of Beacon Hill edged G. Morrison, 15-14. Owens will now meet J. Stokes of Victoria West in the title match.

Vancouver and Victoria are both represented in the finals of the James McMartin Cup, women's singles event, won last year by Mrs. Nellie Wallace of Victoria West.

Mrs. K. C. McConnell of Lake Hill stopped Mrs. J. Turner of Canadian Pacific, 15-10, while Mrs. C. Donevan of Vancouver Terminal defeated Mrs. A. Donald of Burnside, 15-9, in semi-final matches.

RADEMACHER POTENTIAL CORPSE — HURRICANE COULD TELL HIM

Pete May Feel More Than He Expects

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW York (UP) — Congress, the governor of the State of Washington and the National Boxing Association are on trial today in the case of amateur boxer Pete Rademacher.

Rademacher is the Olympic heavyweight champion. But Rademacher, who is scheduled to fight heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson at Seattle on Aug. 22, is a comparative novice who never has gone more than three rounds and never had a professional bout.

He is a potential corpse.

Just as the police stop people from destroying themselves, so with the evidence at hand should those with the power — Congress, Washington's governor or the NBA — step in and prevent this dangerous farce. And Rademacher, an innocent in the blood and money boxing marts, is in dire danger.

"I want to get the feel of one good pro fight," the innocent said recently.

He could get it first hand today from a man named Tommy Jackson, who left a Long Island hospital in a wheelchair Wednesday. Jackson had 35 pro fights before he faced Patterson's sledging fists Monday night. He was known as the "animal" because of his remarkable endurance and stamina. He had fought some good men.

Against Patterson, a punishing puncher, he was a human shock absorber whose kidneys collapsed in painful protest.

"They tell me I can make $10,000 out of this fight," said Rademacher several weeks ago.

He might ask young Bobby Courchesne, a veteran of 50 professional bouts. How much that money is worth when you lie in a hospital bed fighting for your life after a delicate brain operation. Courchesne's experience didn't save him in a fight against Bobby Bell last week.

Rademacher is 29, a part-time amateur who didn't even make the 1952 Olympic team and whose victory in 1956 was a distinct upset. He can punch but he is an unprotected target for a man of Patterson's punishing skills.

They talk of the possibility that he could win with one "lucky" punch. They forget that Patterson, for six years, daily has been studying the grim art of destroying the man who stands in front of him.

Eleven men were killed in the ring last year.

Ten died of beatings the year before.

In 1953 there were 22 men slain just as surely as if they had been battered with an iron pipe.

The NBA, which could ban every fighter on the card in every other state in the union for supporting such an atrocity, must remember the tragedies, of such as Ernie Schaaf, Jimmy Doyle, Luther McCarthy, a man named Bull Young who died of one uppercut, and Frankie Campbell, who was dead when they took him out of the ring.

Hundreds of fighters have gone to their graves because of terrible beatings since the "sport" was generally legalized in 1920 as a result of New York's passage of the Walker law. Thousands of others have been hauled to hospitals.

Some recovered completely. But wherever fighters gather you can see the ones who weren't lucky enough to die. They are mumbling gargoyles with grotesque features and gutteral voices who live in a shadowy half-world where ancient cheers mock their memories.

Putting Rademacher in against Patterson is a disgrace even to a bestial industry which long has masqueraded as a sport. If it goes through, it may be time to outlaw this bloody business once again.

Roughies Best In Rough Clash

TORONTO (BUP) — Saskatchewan Rough Riders, determined to prove coach Frank Filchock's recent statement that "the east plays dumb football," smothered the Toronto Argonauts, 30-9, in an exhibition game here Wednesday night.

Riders, led by halfback Sam Wesley with a pair, exploded for three touchdowns in less than five minutes in the second quarter to wipe out a nine-point Argo lead and completely rout last year's Big Four cellar-dwellers before 16,013 hometown fans at Varsity Stadium.

The game nearly erupted into a brawl in the fourth quarter as both teams mixed it up after Argo tackle Dick Fouts had been laid out trying to take on the whole Saskatchewan bench. Pete O'Garra, of the Argos, and Riders' Ron Atcheson, were tossed out of the game by referee Seymour Wilson after exchanging blows.

Two Argo fumbles and a Tripucka pass in the second quarter produced the three quick Rider touchdowns. Guard Galen Laack started the rout, recovering the first bobble on the Argo 23 early in the quarter. Kenny Carpenter crashed over from the two for the major after Bobby Marlow's runs of 12 and 6 outside the ends helped move the Western Conference team into position.

Guard Reg Whitehouse converted. Carpenter added a single less than a minute later when C. R. Roberts was rouged in the end zone after the kickoff bounced over his head.

The Argos promptly fumbled again and Wesley, from Oregon State, scored the first of his two touchdowns with a one-yard plunge over centre at the 7.50 mark. Two minutes later he slipped behind Barton Moll to take a 35-yard pass from Tripucka. The Argos never recovered.

Saskatchewan halfback Sully Glasser increased Riders' lead in the final session slipping over from four yards out after Saskatchewan had intercepted a Dublinski pass on their own 51.

The Big Four club was strongest in the early stages of the game.

FIRST QUARTER

1. Toronto: Single (Lunn rouged on Meserve's 55-yard kick) 8.00.
2. Toronto: Single (Meserve 60-yard kick to deadline) 10.38.

6. Saskatchewan: Convert (Whitehouse).
7. Saskatchewan: Single (Roberts roughed on Carpenter's kickoff) 6.26.
8. Saskatchewan: Touchdown (Wesley, one-yard plunge) 7.50.
9. Saskatchewan: Touchdown (Wesley, 35-yard pass from Tripucka) 10.47.

Ball Playoff Dates Set

CALGARY (CP) — Ed Corbett, president of the Western Canada Softball Association, announced playoff dates for senior men's and women's interprovincial play.

In senior men's, the Manitoba and Saskatchewan champions will meet in a best-of-three series Aug. 26, 27 and 28. Winner of that series will meet the Alberta champions in a best-of-three playoff Aug. 29, 30 and 31.

The western Canada titlist will be decided in a best-of-seven tilt between the British Columbia champions and the winner of the second series.

In senior women's playoffs, B.C. will meet Alberta in the first series. That winner will meet the Saskatchewan champions and the victor of the second series will take on the Manitoba champions.

Dates for women's play are identical to the men's. They also will include two best-of-three series and a final best-of-seven.

Cuban Kid Looks Like Champ Again

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Former welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, with his old cocksureness, demanded a title fight with Carmen Basilio today while even his victim in Wednesday night's 10-rounder, Gaspar Ortega, admitted he was soundly trounced.

"That Gavilan looked like he did when he was champion. He fought a really great fight," said Api Rodriguez, trainer of Mexican Ortega, who claims to speak no English. "Sure, he won and we were beaten good."

From Gavilan, who said he "felt just fine—I could go another 10 rounds right now," came a chorus of challenges to Basilio to fight The Keed or "hang up the gloves."

Basilio is scheduled to fight middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson Sept. 23. As champion, Gavilan decisioned Basilio in 1953 and claimed Wednesday he could do it again any time."

Wednesday night's unanimous decision over Ortega, before a capacity crowd at the Miami Beach auditorium and a national television audience, was a triumphant end to a losing "jinx" which began after Gavilan lost his title in a much-disputed fight with Johnny Saxton in 1954. Since then the bolo-punching Cuban has won only six of 20 bouts.

"In a lot of these last fights we feel the Kid won hands down, but the officials were against him," said manager Yamil Chade. "But last night they couldn't turn him down."

Tugs Whip Jokers

Island Tug handed Jokers yet another loss Wednesday, 15-4, in a Senior B Lacrosse League game at Stevenson Park.

Gary Taylor topped the short-handed Tugmen with five goals while Reg Foster and Jack Milburn each netted three.

Island Tug — Garry Taylor 5; Reg Foster 3, Jack Milburn 3, Jack Reid 2, Bob Harris, Art Pyke. Total—15.
Jokers — B. McCoy 2, Red Larsen, Donelly. Total—4.

B.C. NET TOURNEY

Men's Singles Event Draws Large Entry

Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club will stage its 60th annual British Columbia Open Lawn Tennis Tournament on the club's Fort Street courts, starting Monday.

Tourney runs until Saturday, Aug. 10.

While a starry entry is expected from points as far away as Philadelphia and New Mexico, the big news of the tourney will be made by players unable to attend.

Both Paul Willey and Susie Butt, two of the bright stars in B.C. tennis, will be playing in eastern Canada while the local tourney is being held.

Willey, the Vancouver member of Canada's Davis Cup team, is defending champion in the men's singles competition. Miss Butt, two years out of high school and Victoria's brightest net prospect for many years, will be competing in the Canadian tourney in Montreal.

LARGE ENTRY

But, with the entry list expanding rapidly, strong competition is assured for all major events.

Best-attended event is expected to be the men's singles, for which nearly 50 entries have already been received, but there are women's singles, both men's and women's doubles, mixed doubles, junior veterans, and senior veterans events.

Local threats in the tourney include Ron Mitchell and Warren Cameron, while Bill Rose of Portland, seeded number two in the northwest, will also play.

SKELTON PREDICTS

Bright Future For Susie Butt

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jim Skelton, Canada's Davis Cup team captain on two occasions, thinks Victoria's Sue Butt is the province's best tennis player of recent years.

"I think she is already the best player we've had since the war," Skelton said. "She could be the best B.C. has ever had."

Skelton made his comments while Miss Butt was lacing Miss A. J. Crane 6-0, 6-0 in the Western Canada Tennis Championships at Stanley Park here.

"She has the soundest game of any B.C. woman player I can remember," Skelton continued. "She hits all her shots well and she moves well.

"Eleanor Young Connolly was a good player (she won the Canadian championships in 1940, the last B.C. woman to do so) but I think Susan is better. I feel she could become the best in the country."

Sue Butt was born in Vancouver where her father, Jack, and uncle were good tennis players. The family moved to Victoria 10 years ago.

PRACTICE PAYS OFF

"My father is my coach," Sue says. "He first taught me the game about six years ago and he still helps me."

Five years ago Sue entered her first tournament at a private school and won. Then she moved up to open junior events and was trounced. At 16 she started to play seriously.

"Two winters ago I played on hard courts at the Victoria club every weekend I could—every weekend that it didn't snow or rain."

The results started to pay off in 1956. She won tournaments at Yakima and Spokane in Washington and was ranked 10th in Canada.

In 1956 she beat Vancouver's Ann Barclay only twice in six meetings; this year, Sue hasn't lost a set to her.

This year Sue swept the singles, doubles and mixed titles at the Vancouver public courts and city championships; reached the singles finals of the Oregon and Washington State championships; and won the Pacific Northwest senior sectionals at Tacoma.

For the Western Canada tourney, she is top-seeded. Next week Sue leaves for the Canadian championships in Montreal and tournaments at Quebec City and possibly, Forest Hills, N.Y.

Big Golf Circus Opens Up Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The first section of golf's greatest money-pressure tourney starts today at Tam o' Shanter and there is no definite pre-meet favorite.

The first step in the treasure hunt is the all-American, with a purse distribution of $25,000 for men pros, $7,500 for women pros, and trophies and merchandise for men amateurs and women amateurs.

In all, 235 players tee off in the dawn-to-dusk first round, including 162 men pros shooting for a $3,500 top prize to be awarded at Sunday's finish of the 72 holes.

Next week, however, comes the big one—the "world championships".

The winner of the men's pro division collects $50,000 and a $50,000 exhibition contract. The total purse is $102,200. Champion of the women's pros will receive $6,000 out of a $15,000 purse.

There is a general feeling that the group of younger pros may teach the old-timers a lesson this time. They seldom have before. Bob Toski was the youngest ever to win the "world" when he hit the jackpot in 1954 at the age of 27.

But never before has there been such a fine crop of younger players. They include Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper, Dow Finsterwald, Peter Thomson, of Australia; Ken Venturi, Don Whitt and Paul Harney.

Harney, 28, Worcester, Mass., won medalist honors among men pro qualifiers with a 6-under-par 66.

Portland Gets Look At Canadian Version

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Canadians "sold" United States on game of hockey—and now some ambitious young men from Canada are setting out to sell the Canadian game of 12-man football to Americans.

The Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos and the Vancouver Lions of the Western Conference will play Canadian football in Portland, Ore., Friday; and in San Francisco Aug. 11.

This will be the first time the Canadian brand of the game ever has been put on display in Western United States—although a couple of years ago the eastern Canadian games were telecast on a U.S. network.

IT'S FASTER

The Canadians firmly believe that their brand of the game is far superior to that, of the 11-man American style. It is faster, more wide-open, and there's room to maneuver on the big field, they claim.

Dick Diespecker of the Lions advances the opinion that Americans will like the game more than their own once they get the hang of it.

"For instance, there are five men in the backfield, and all five can be in motion at once without penalty," he says. "And most of the time all are in motion before the ball is snapped.

"Then, there is no such thing as a 'fair catch' on a punt or kick-off in the Canadian game. The would-be tacklers have to stay five yards away from the receiver until he catches the ball — then the receiver must try to run with it."

The field for the Canadian game is 15 yards wider, 10 yards longer and has 25-yard end zones, compared with the 10-yard end zone for the American game.

ROUGE, THRILLING

"The rouge is the most thrilling part of the game," says Diespecker. "When the ball is kicked into our 25-yard end zone, it must be run out. If the ball carrier is tackled before he gets to the goal line, it is a rouge."

The Canadians don't hope to set any attendance records. But they hope to attract 30,000 in Portland and just about as many in San Francisco.

"We have the 'Mr. Football' of Canada playing for the Eskimos," says Diespecker. "That's Jackie Parker, the former Mississippi State quarterback. He draws around $20,000 per season from the Edmonton club and is worth every bit of it."

Among the other American names on the Edmonton roster are Frank Anderson and Curt Burris of Oklahoma; and Johnny Bright of Drake. Americans on the British Columbia team include backs Paul Cameron and Primo Villaneuva of UCLA; and Emory Barnes, the University of Oregon high jumper.

Fred Wright Notches Boxla Winner

Fred Wright found the range twice Wednesday night at Memorial Arena to salvage a narrow 7-6 win for Juvenile "B" Butler Brothers over Big Horns of the Juvenile "A" Lacrosse League.

It is the third time in a row the "B's" have scored a win over the senior team.

After having a 5-1 lead at the halfway mark in the second quarter, Butlers slipped and the score moved to 5-3 at the breather.

Big Horns rallied in the third frame to knot the count at 6-all before Wright scored his winning goal in the final period.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Halecos' Normie MacLeod broke a 1-1 deadlock with a 20-yards-out goal two minutes before the final whistle Wednesday night to pilot his team to a 2-1 Pacific Coast League soccer victory over lagging St. Andrews.

MacLeod's goal came on a wild shot during a throw-out from the St. Andrews' goal.

LADIES' GOLF

Alberta Threats Marlene's Worry

MONTREAL (CP) — Champion Marlene Stewart Streit today ruled favorite to win her seventh consecutive Canadian ladies' closed golf championship as the first round got under way in the 54-hole medal-play tournament.

There wasn't much argument about the little Fonthill, Ont., star, married since her 1956 triumph, being the one to beat. Around the Royal Montreal course there was little variation in opinion, either, as to those most likely to dethrone the doughty champion.

Home support seemed to centre on blonde, 19-year-old Judy Darling. In the last few weeks the Montreal girl has walked off with both the junior and senior ladies' Quebec championship.

Pat Fletcher, Royal Montreal pro who won the Canadian Open three years ago, calls Judy a real contender who "plays all her clubs well," but was inclined to think that Alberta girls will pose the most serious threat to Marlene.

Among the three Pat was inclined to rate Rae Milligan of Calgary first because of her greater experience. Rae has been runner-up to Marlene the last two years. In practice rounds Wednesday she was outdriving Marlene by about 25 yards, but the little champ's short game left nothing to be desired and her putting was deadly. Betty Stanhope of Edmonton, now 19, is one of the new golf stars in the West. She won the Canadian junior title last year and has been playing golf seven years.

The third Alberta threat is Mary Gay of Calgary, formerly of Kitchnerer, Ont., who has had plenty of experience. She won the Calgary City Open this year and was low medallist in the Alberta Amateur, losing to Miss Stanhope in the semi-final.

The team championships are causing plenty of pre-tournament interest. Eight provinces, with four members to a team, are competing.

Team play appears to be a scramble for the title among Ontario, Quebec and Alberta — they finished in that order last year.

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Lions Wednesday cut fullback Bill Carrington, who came here from the University of Kansas with a reputation for defensive ability. He was eliminated because Lions now have several fullbacks.

Playoff Activity Means End Near

About all that's left of minor league baseball in Victoria is playoffs, but the games are providing exciting action for the spectators on hand.

Jaycees came out from behind their first-game loss to edge Mawson-Gage 2-1 Wednesday and even their best-of-three Carnarvon Pony League final. The third and deciding game will be played tonight.

The only two errors of the game gave Jaycees their two runs in the top of the sixth and the Carnarvon Park win.

It was a heart-breaker for Mawson pitcher Gordon Archer, who allowed only five hits, striking out 11 and walking but five. Dave Murdoch of Jaycees also gave up only five safeties while striking out 13 and issuing six walks.

A second series was also deadlocked Wednesday when Menzies Fuel walloped Optimists 13-6 in the second game of the Victoria Babe Ruth best-of-three finals.

A pair of home runs stole the show with one falling to each team on hits by Menzies' Jim Cunningham and Optimists' John Youson.

Beacon Hill Park will be the site of the deciding game Friday night at 6.30.

Optimist catcher Ron Frumerie received a cup and badge as most sportsmanlike player in the Victoria Babe Ruth League.

Others receiving pins as most sportsmanlike player on his team were Bob Eddy (Menzies), Barry Cosier (Melrose), Dennis Yardley (Centennials), Bob Fisher (Tillicums) and Bruce Morrison (UCT).

...but we want you to see the many things we know you'll enjoy

America's fourth highest mountain projecting its perpetually-ice-capped head 14,410 feet into the sky, the world's largest concrete structure pushing the mighty Columbia backward 151 miles, an amazing archipelago of 177 islands spread like stepping stones in an area of but 30 square miles, a bridge that floats for over a mile on concrete pontoons while four lanes of traffic scurry over it, a petrified forest where ten million years ago giant trees were buried beneath molten rivers of lava! These are but a few, a mere handful, of the things we think you will enjoy seeing in our corner of the country.

There are actually dozens and dozens of them. Places and things of tremendous scenic or historic interest; things that will delight the eye and stimulate the mind. And best of all, they are easy to see and enjoy.

To prove this ease to you we have "gridded-up" our beautiful state. "Gridded" it up to visualize how easily you can roam about and visit our many places and things of interest. Glance at the miniature map above. Those "grid-lines" the boys are putting in are just 50 miles apart, both vertically and horizontally. Just about an average hours drive! This gives you a rough idea of what we mean. Actually, we've taken a large (12 x 18 in.) map in full color, which shows all the points of interest in their actual geographic location, then we've "gridded" the map in 50-mile intervals so that you can see how easily they may be reached and enjoyed.

The map forms the centerpiece of a folder, and is surrounded by a dozen or more illustrations in full color. We call the folder "Only Hours Apart" (because it shows that so many of these interesting things actually are only hours apart), and we'd like to send you a copy. We believe it will convince you that a wonderful vacation awaits you in Washington State.

A vacation on which you may roam, relax or rest as the mood dictates. You can roam about the state enjoying wonder after wonder, or you can relax alongside a lovely lake or rushing stream and simply rest. A vacation in which you can fight a King salmon or loaf in the shadow of a mighty mountain. A vacation which can be just about anything you want to make it, and most certainly one of the best you have ever enjoyed.

So fill out that coupon below right now and let us send you our interesting folder by return mail. You'll be glad you did.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Larry Fiedler, 11, Cleveland, Ohio, for his question:

What Were the Passenger Pigeons Like?

The last of the passenger pigeons said his farewells in the year 1914. He lived out his life in the Zoological Gardens of Cincinati, Ohio. A prize of $1,000 was offered to anyone who could find a pair of live passenger pigeons. But no one has ever collected. For the passenger pigeons have all gone and will never return. There are a few stuffed specimens in museums for us to admire, but no live ones.

There is a stuffed passenger pigeon in the Chicago Museum of Natural History. He is an elegant looking, slender bird about 17 inches from his perky beak to his pointed tail. His beak and pointed wings are a slate grey pigeon color. But his breast is a remarkable color of rusty brown and the feathers glow with iridescence. You can see at once why he was also known as the red breasted pigeon.

Sad as we are to see the end of a race of creatures, the farmers are much better off without the passenger pigeon. The Indians, who lived here before us would have rejoiced to see the end of him. For the passenger pigeon was one of the greatest pests ever to attack the fruit, the grain and seed crops of America.

WORSE THAN LOCUSTS

In times past, the Indian farmers feared a visit from the passenger pigeons more than they feared a plague of locusts. The pigeons were far more destructive than locusts.

A few hungry pigeons would bother no one. But the passenger pigeon never arrived in small numbers. A hundred years ago, a flock of two billion of them would raid the countryside. Imagine what happened when such a horde of hungry birds descended on an Indian village of farms. Not an ear of corn, not a grain of cereal, not a leaf or blade of grass was left. The weight of their roosting in the trees even broke off the branches. Many an Indian village faced famine from mobs of passenger pigeons.

Our pioneer farmers also feared them. They could spot trouble coming in a dark cloud of whirring wings. The noise could be heard for a distance of three miles. It was a time for firearm weapons. One blast from a shotgun could bring down two dozen of the bandits, or even more. And passenger pigeons were good to eat.

In fact, squab, which is young pigeon, became a very fashionable dish of the day. Fowlers went out to catch the delicate morsels in their nesting grounds. Here, as everywhere else they went, the passenger pigeons loved a crowd. A nesting ground would cover 15,000 acres with 50 to 100 nests in every tree. Thousands, maybe millions, were caught in the fowlers' nets and sent to market. The last great hunt was in Michigan in 1878. Fifteen tons of ice were needed to pack the squabs alone.

From that time, the vast numbers of passenger pigeons decreased. Those left in the wild could only survive in countless hordes and soon perished. Now we have only a few stuffed specimens to remind us that passenger pigeons ever existed.

* * *

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Elizabeth Ann Harris, age 8, of Wichita, Kansas, for her question:

Why won't plain corn pop?

Pop corn is specially prepared from kernels of plain, ordinary corn. The trick is to get a little pocket of moisture right in the centre of each of the kernels. When heated, this drop of dew boils and turns to steam. Steam, of course, needs far, far more room than liquid. So it explodes inside the kernels, turning them inside out.

The moisture inside does more than pop open the kernels. It steams the corn making it swell up into those delicious morsels.

Pop corn is not a new invention — far from it. The Indians were enoying it hundreds of years before the people of the old world even knew that corn existed. The early Spanish visitors were offered pop corn delicacies in Central America.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

What to Look for In Buying a Boat

By DON INGHAM

A Canadian is never so vulnerable to folly as when he has a little bit of ready cash and a yen to have a boat.

The boat bug bites viciously. It leaves no room for reason, only the compelling urge to be afloat and going places. As a result, victims of the bug often are badly stung while buying second-hand boats and engines.

Victoria dealers are a reputable lot, and interested in pleasing a buyer so that he will be a permanent customer.

The danger arises when making a private buy from a perfect stranger, or even from one's best friend. It seems that under those circumstances anything goes and "let the buyer beware."

THINGS TO CHECK

Here are a few things to check in buying a used boat.

1. Run the boat to see if it handles to your satisfaction.

2. Have the boat taken out of water and check the bottom. See that the hull abutts the transom and stem squarely and solidly. Sight along the keel for "hooks" (large concave indentations in the bottom caused by improper weight distribution during storage). "Hooks" cause bad performance. Be suspicious of cracks which could develop into troublesome leaks. Look for good workmanship.

3. Look for nail sickness. The symptoms are spots of rust on the paint over the nail or streaks of rust below the nail. If the condition looks bad, chances are you will have to refasten the whole boat.

4. Dry rot is rare in well ventilated outboards. But look for it anyway, especially if the boat has been covered in storage. Look in enclosed spaces such as cabins and lockers. Examine under floor boards, decks and the like. If the wood is soft and crumbly and will tear loose at the touch, dry rot is prevalent.

PITFALLS APLENTY

A bad paint job isn't dangerous in itself. It will indicate the owner's attitude toward maintenance, and might be a sign of dry rot, although not the cause.

Aluminum and glass boats are by nature durable. Be sure seams are properly joined and will not leak. Glass boats should be free of bad cracks or warps.

There are pitfalls aplenty in buying used outboard motors. Observing the following tips should avoid most of them.

1. Check compression. Grasp the starter and pull the motor over several times. Check the "pull" and "bounce" as the motor turns.

2. Check the crankcase bearings. Examine for excessive dirty oil accumulation on the armature plate, which indicates a faulty upper bearing assembly.

3. Check condition of cylinders. Remove the spark plugs, and by using a pencil flashlight, peer into the cylinder head. Look for excessive carbon accumulation which will ultimately affect the performance of the motor. However, don't reject a used outboard for this reason. Carbon can be cleaned out.

4. Check propeller bearings. Exert up and down pressure on the propeller shaft. Look for seepage around the propeller shaft bearing. Excessive up-and-down play or seepage indicates a worn bearing.

5. Check needle valve response. Insist that the motor be run in a test tank. While it's running see if the needle valves respond to adjustment.

While the engine is running, check the wiring, fuel connections, gasoline line and smooth operation, particularly when idling. If these few points are checked and the motor passes, it's probably safe to buy.

Radio-Active Trees New Gag in Forestry

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHIPPANY, N.J. (CP) — A company near this community has started raising a crop of radioactive trees.

Just a few mind you, and they are carefully nursed by scientists.

Rayonier Incorporated, chemical cellulose manufacturer with extensive holdings in British Columbia, hopes the experiment will mean a new era in forest chemistry and conservation.

The company held a demonstration for the press to show how the technique works.

TREE GETS SHOT

Bug-eyed New York reporters watched as a scientist injected a tiny pine with radioactive carbon 14, using an ordinary hypodermic syringe. It was a low-strength dose.

Dr. R. L. Mitchell, head of Rayonier's new research laboratories here, supervised the operation and said that other trees being used in the experiments receive stronger — but not dangerous — shots.

Mitchell said this is believed to be the first time trees have been exposed to controlled studies based on radioactivity. He termed it "an investment in the future of chemical cellulose as well as a new direction for modern, dynamic conservation."

The carbon 14 will tag this year's growth ring of the tree for use in later research. Eventually the tree will be felled and ground into cellulose, with radioactive tracers still present despite the necessary mechanical and chemical production steps.

TRACE MATERIAL

Researchers thus will be able to follow cellulose characteristics through to any end that can be reproduced in the laboratory.

Dr. Mitchell also said the work promises better ways of studying wood growth factors, nutrient uptake and soil conditions—all important to conservation.

This phase could have particular application to the operations in British Columbia, where Alaska Pine and Cellulose Limited, a Rayonier subsidiary, holds nearly 1,000,000 acres of timberland, much of it on Vancouver Island.

Work at the Whippany laboratory would be complemented by parallel research at Alaska Pine's research centre in Vancouver, Mitchell said. Alaska Pine also has mills or plants at Port Alice, Woodfibre and New Westminster in British Columbia.

Mitchell said Rayonier believes the current experiment can lead to many improvements in the some 500 products made from its chemical cellulose, which includes rayon, cellophane, tire cord, sausage casings, acetate and many plastics.

Scientists also demonstrated a new experimental rayon spinning machine, designed for the production of either high-strength tire yarn or staple fibre for subsequent testing.

BIG INDUSTRY

Australian oil refineries produced 86 per cent of all gasoline used in Australia in the first quarter of 1957.

Ike Fears Disarmament Not Practical

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has conceded that total disarmament is not practical.

But he said a way must be found to rid the world of fear of nuclear war.

Eisenhower said complete disarmament is more of a hope than a real possibility.

This is so, the president suggested, because there is no sure way to expose atomic bombs in national arsenals. He said there is no known way to detect such stockpiles.

Eisenhower was asked by reporters to comment on an apparent discrepancy between some of his recent statements on disarmament and those of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The president said he had merely expressed an aspiration. Dulles, he said, expressed the reality of today's world.

Eisenhower repeated that he could not say it would be practical now to think in terms of total disarmament.

Gay Farewells Only If Ship Gives Notice

VANCOUVER (CP) — From now on, ships leaving Vancouver will have to give notice to harbor officials if they intend to make any colorful farewell gestures.

The Orient liner Oronsay fired two red parachute flares as a parting signal as it steamed from Burrard Inlet.

Within minutes, RCAF search and rescue co-ordination centre was beseiged with telephone calls reporting an aircraft crashing, people parachuting to earth, and debris falling on the north shore of the Inlet.

Four aircraft — two Expediters, a Canso, and a Dakota — took off from Sea Island and searched for more than two hours over Mount Seymour and other North Shore mountains.

Capt. R. W. Roberts of the Oronsay radioed later that the flares were set off as "a message of farewell to Vancouver."

BUBBLY CORK, BLACK EYE THAT'S THE MAN'S STORY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—This is Gordon Elliot's story and he is sticking to it.

Elliot, a 45-year-old editor and advertising man, showed up at hospital Wednesday for treatment of a black eye. Seems he's moving to Park Ridge, Ill., to take a new job with a Chicago advertising agency. Wednesday night, he invited some friends to his home for a farewell champagne party.

Elliot was hit in the eye by the cork from a bottle of the bubbly. Result—the shiner.

71-Year-Old Man Gets Life Term

ZEBULON, Ga. (AP)—An elderly retired white farmer has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the shotgun slaying of a young Negro mother he claimed "sassed" him. B. T. Dukes, 71, was convicted Wednesday of the Dec. 5, 1956, slaying of Mrs. Maybelle Mahone, 30. A jury recommended mercy and Judge John H. McGee sentenced Dukes to life in prison.

Mum Not Word For Pop Reared On Loaded Bottle

PARIS (UP) — A mother's heavy hand with a baby bottle can cause a man a "complex" later in life, psychoanalysts were told here.

Merely clumsy handling of the bottle, or joking it into the baby's mouth at the wrong time, may mark the start of a life-long hate, anguish or frustration, according to opinions expressed by several of the 700 specialists from more than 40 countries attending a week-long convention.

Miss Anna Freud, whose father, Sigmund Freud, founded psychoanalysis, was one of the featured speakers at the session devoted to children's problems.

The psychoanalysts blamed parents 100 per cent for their offspring's psychological quirks, because they agreed that every emotional problem developed in later life could be traced to the cradle.

THANKSGIVING SUNDAY FOR CENTENARY NAMED

The provincial cabinet today set aside Sunday, April 27, next year, as a special day of Thanksgiving for British Columbians to count their blessings.

It will be marked in connection with the province's centennial celebrations.

All religious denominations will be urged to recognize the Thanksgiving.

Special proclamations will be read in churches that day.

MONTE ROBERTS

A cryptic note has just arrived via the Canadian Press teletype.

And this cryptic note has plunged me into darkest gloom.

For the note says, in CP fashion:

"EDITORS ANY MEMBER UNPUBLISHING MONDAY AUG. 5 PLEASE ADVISE CP VCR 1-8-57 MB929A"

The reason this cryptic note plunged me into darkest gloom is, the Daily Times in NOT unpublishing on Monday, Aug. 5.

In this unenlightened part of the world, Monday, Aug. 5, is just another Monday, filled with cold tomato juice, remorse, aching backs, and snarling faces headed officewards.

In some parts of the world, Monday, Aug. 5, is a real dandy day.

It is a day on which to put up one's feet and to sit on the small of one's back, and to do nothing.

It is a day on which unpublishing, as the CP puts it, is the thing to do.

It is a day on which the general public is not afflicted by columnists writing things in newspapers, and a day on which columnists are not afflicted by writing the things which get into newspapers.

In brief, in some parts of the world Monday, Aug. 5, is a holiday.

As in so many instances, credit for Monday, Aug. 5, being a holiday goes to Over 'Ome.

Over 'Ome, the sensible folk decided they needed a holiday in August, so the sensible folk simply said the first Monday in August would be Bank Holiday.

The banks expressed no objection, and for the past seven or eight hundred years, the first Monday in August has been a holiday.

But what happens in Victoria, this alleged little bit of of Olde England?

Does Victoria follow the stellar example of Over 'Ome?

Victoria does not.

In Victoria, business is as usual, and the Victoria Daily Times will fail to unpublish.

I calls it a ruddy shime, that's what I calls it.

$24,456 Allocated In Grants by City

Mayor's Delay on Circle Rankles Two Aldermen

Two aldermen today strongly objected to Mayor Percy Scurrah's action in further delaying revamping of the Fountain Circle and establishment of the Faustman one-way traffic plan on a trial basis.

The mayor Wednesday held up ordering the materials for the work because, he said, council had not considered it would mean lights and other equipment would have to be installed on a permanent basis.

He wants the whole question reviewed because the cost would be much higher than council expected.

Alderman M. H. Mooney and Hugh Ramsay said the mayor's action will only lead to further delays.

"The mayor acted wrongly," said Ald. Mooney. "The lights must be installed and the circle torn up if the plan is to be given a fair trial."

Ald. Mooney said he was not altogether surprised at the mayor's action.

"I felt business pressure group would try to delay the plan," he said. "I don't see why the mayor took such action as the majority of businesses in the Hillside and Douglas area are in favor of the scheme."

Ald. Hugh Ramsay said the mayor's action will only lead to a further hassle.

"I have never been in favor of the traffic plan," he said, "but as we hired and paid an expert to solve the problem we should give it a trial."

He said the only way the plan can be given a fair trial is to install the lights and tear up the circle. If not satisfactory, he said, the city could use the lights elsewhere.

"I feel that the public is getting tired of this roundabout problem," he said. "We should have the courage to try out the plan as elected representatives of the people."

NOT SO BAD

For July, Weather Half Decent

July wasn't such a bad month after all, according to statistics prepared today by Bob Verge, substitute weatherman at Gonzales Observatory.

Ther ewere 287.6 hours of bright sunshine, or 47.6 less than normal, and eight days with rain instead of the usual four.

And what was the total rainfall for a month that seemed to be a succession of storms and rainshowers?

"One miserable inch," said the weatherman. Normal for the month is 0.48 inch.

Other weather facts were: mean temperature 58.4 degrees, or 1.7 degrees below normal; maximum temperature, 71.6 degrees July 18; minimum, 47.4 degrees July 7; total precipitation since Jan. 1, 13.30 inches, normal; total sunshine since Jan. 1, 1,376.5 hours, or 28.5 hours below normal.

Little change is predicted in the forecast for tonight and Friday, which calls for sunny skies with a few cloudy periods, and temperatures ranging between 52 and 70 degrees.

Policemen After 'The Wild Ones'

PREMIER LOOKS BACK

SC Anniversary Parties Friday Mark 5th Year

Five years of Social Credit government in British Columbia will be celebrated by Socreds throughout the province Friday.

Premier Bennett will attend a special party at the Georgia Hotel Friday night.

The premier pointed out to reporters today that 9 tonight is actually the official anniversary.

It was at that time on Aug. 1, 1952, that the first Social Credit cabinet was sworn into office.

BIRTHDAY PICNIC

Greater Victoria Social Crediters will celebrate the birthday at a picnic at Beaver Lake Aug. 10 and the premier said he hopes to be able to attend.

At his press conference today, the premier took the occasion to reminisce on his term of office.

"We've done our very best," the premier said, "and as we start the next five years I pledge that our sole concern will be the betterment of the people of B.C.

The province will see even greater developments in the next five years than those of the last five, he said.

What would they be?

'IN DUE COURSE'

"Announcements will be made in due course," said Mr. Bennett.

In the past five years the government has endeavored "as no other government in Canada has endeavored" to keep out patronage.

The direct debt of the province has been steadily reduced, the premier said, until today it stands at only $62,598,103.

Within two years it will be totally wiped out and "greater benefits" will accrue to the people of the province.

Whether these take the form of increased services or tax cuts will be decided by the legislature, said the premier.

PROUD OF 'LIABILITIES'

As for the province's "contingent liabilities," which now total more than $250,000,000, the premier said:

"We're not ashamed of them. We're very proud of them."

These contingent liabilities constitute the borrowings of government agencies such as the PGE and Power Commission which are guaranteed by the government.

Defending his program of reducing the direct debt, the premier said:

"If I didn't use the money for debt reduction, I could really have made a showing. If I had been out to spend, spend, spend."

But now the government has a "much more solid financial base" than in 1952.

Young Drivers Get 'Book', Says Chief on Crackdown

Police Chief Blackstock said today his department wants to net a big catch of "the wild ones"—the irresponsible young drivers who are piling up a bad driving record in the Victoria.

"Then they'll be given the book," he added. "We intend to put the fear of God into them."

The chief was endorsing Victoria Police Commission's stand that young lawbreaking drivers must be eliminated.

He said the crackdown will be extended to all drivers with special attention to drivers in their early twenties, "another group which constitutes a traffic hazard."

Chief Blackstock would not reveal his detailed plans to combat the lawlessness, but said the pattern will be evident when the campaign starts.

The commission stand has focused attention on the need for driver training of teenagers.

George I. Warren, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Automobile Club advocated a safe driving program instituted in the schools.

"Young people should be taught not only how to handle a car, but as much as possible about its potential dangers."

JAIL REPEATERS

A Victoria insurance man said repeaters in traffic violations when their licences were under suspension should be sentenced to jail "where they can't get their hands on a car."

The police commission is giving consideration to a plan used widely in the United States. There, points where crashes have occurred and persons have died are marked for other drivers.

There is the thought that marking of such points here might upset relatives and sensitive persons, but the value in life-saving of the deterrent markings is believed to outweigh this consideration.

Gulf Islands Ferry Given More Subsidy

Special subsidy given to Coast-Ferries Ltd. for operation of the Lady Rose between Ganges and Vancouver was increased today.

Last Feb. 6 the government agreed to a $500 monthly subsidy to the company for the next six months.

Since that time ferry crew members were granted wage increases and the company said it could not continue operations without more government aid.

Today the government scrapped the first agreement as of June 20 and agreed to pay a total of $7,000 between that date and Oct. 31 of this year. This amounts to approximately $1,600 a month.

The wage increases were granted after the crewmen struck to back up their demands.

The ferry makes stops at Galiano, Mayne, North Pender and Saturna Islands as well as Steveston on the Lower Mainland.

WRECKED CARS AS EXHIBITS AT SCHOOLS?

Cars wrecked in serious accidents should be exhibited in Victoria high schools as an object lesson to students who are either driving or expecting to become drivers.

The suggestion comes from Arnold Webb, secretary of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who says this method of combatting dangerous driving has been used in some cities of the United States.

"It might be tried here in view of the crackdown on traffic violations," he said.

Bottle Threat Charge Up To Police—Golby

Chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board said today the board will take "no action" on a letter from Esquimalt police commission asking whether teacher Pat Thomas intends to lay charges against a youth who allegedly threatened his life at Esquimalt High School May 31.

"The charge should be laid by the police, not by Mr. Thomas," chairman W. H. Golby said.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, chairman of the police commission, said earlier the commission "will take no further action at the moment."

"We're awaiting an answer from the school board," he said.

Through his lawyer, J. Alan Baker, Mr. Thomas has written the police commission asking for a definite stand from the police.

"Unless they indicate whether or not they intend to press charges, Mr. Thomas cannot decide to lay a personal charge," Mr. Baker said.

SWIMMERS GET BRIEFING TONIGHT

Eighteen entrants in the Juan de Fuca mass swim attempt will meet in the Junior Chamber of Commerce board room at 8 tonight for a final briefing.

They'll hear the rules and regulations, ranging from restrictions against touching the guide boat to the fact they must return immediately from Port Angeles—if they reach Port Angeles.

Start is scheduled from Horseshoe Bay, Beacon Hill Park, at noon Sunday, with Mayor Percy Scurrah firing the take-off gun.

If the swim from Victoria to Port Angeles is completed, the first person to touch the U.S. shore will win $5,000; second, $2,500; third, $1,500; fourth, $1,000.

If no contestant makes the crossing, smaller awards will be made on the basis of direct mileage (based on air-line calculations) from Horseshoe Bay to Ediz Hook.

To win, a contestant must have been in the water six hours. If after that period the swim is called off by Jaycee officials, the swimmer who is closest to Ediz Hook will win $2,500. Second prize will be $1,250; third $750; fourth $500.

DAYTON-WEST WEDDING

Island Girl Becomes Bride in Seattle

Baskets of coral and white gladioli were placed at the altar of Northminster Presbyterian Church, Seattle, for the wedding last Saturday evening of Delores Diane West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard West, of Milnes Landing, V.I., and Ronald Dale Dayton, son of Wayne Smith, Seattle, and Mrs. James Dayton, Olympia, Wash. Rev. Richard Cole officiated and music was provided by the church trio and organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her ballerina-length gown of delicate white nylon and lace, inset at the waist with aquamarine blue nylon. The strapless bodice was covered with a nylon bolero jacket.

Her chapel veil misted from a ruffled nylon headdress, and her jewelry was white sapphire earrings. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and white pinks.

Miss Phyllis Hurl, Vancouver, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a crinolined gown of coral pink nylon net with matching feather hat and bouquet of pink carnations. The groom had his father as best man and his brother, Grant Dayton, ushered.

The bride's mother wore a printed frock of purple and white silk, while the groom's mother chose a pink lame dress.

A reception followed at the Rainier Club, where John Paterson, Victoria, proposed the toast to the bride. The two-tier wedding cake was decorated with pink and white asters.

For a honeymoon travelling in Canada and the United States, the bride donned a black worsted suit with sky blue accessories and yellow rosebud corsage. The newlyweds will live in San Diego, Calif.

'Cat-Like Slink' Enters Paris Fashion Scene

PARIS (AP)—Fashions with a cat-like slink were offered by Jacques Heim on Wednesday. They are high waisted, with short skirts to just below the knee.

Suit jackets either end abruptly at the waist or are very long, almost like morning coats. Most are decollete, with standoffish necklines, often filled in with a fur scarf.

Heim calls his new fashions "shallow waisted and leggy." 'Winged victory" evening dresses are made of floating chiffon with bare backs and drapery mounted above the waist.

Jacques Griffe has brought to the Paris fashion scene such notes as brocade lounging pajamas, toga coats, Russian blouses, sari dresses and tweed fabrics made of reindeer hair.

His silhouette—called the "warp-over" line, is based on bias cuts and controlled fullness. Skirts have an easy swing with hem lengths at mid-calf.

Muffler coats for travel are barrel-shaped, first full and then drawn in at the hem. Collars are oversize with deep lapels, giving a cape effect.

Toga cuts endorse fluid wrap-over fullness with the skirt folded like an envelope. Russian blouses are draped over one shoulder, reach to mid-thigh length, and are totally innocent of any waistline.

Popular Track Star Sue Burnett Plans To Teach in Fall; Work Well Organized

By ANNE MAYHEW

Nineteen-year-old Sue Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burnett, Musgrave Street, is one of those lucky girls who has managed to combine three interests into one career.

Sue excels in all sports, especially track; she loves working with children, and has spent three summers organizing playground activities and she is keenly interested in teaching.

September will find her on staff of Lansdowne Junior High, teaching physical education, social studies and English, thus bringing into play all her talents.

Last summer, tryouts for the Olympic Games were held in Hamilton, Ont. Canada's top four sprinters were chosen to attend the games, and, as Sue said ruefully, "I was the fifth!"

MANY INTERESTS

At Victoria College, she was a busy girl in both her first year, when she was women's representative, and in her second year, as social head and women's athletic rep.

A new group was formed during the year, a sports council, which was "definitely successful . . . good for next year." Sue was chairman.

In spite of all her work in extracurricular activities, this dark-haired girl attains high second class honors, and she does it by organization.

"I formed a routine at the begining of the year and tried to stick to it," she told me.

"I'd make my lunch and get everything ready for the next day before 6.30 in the evening and then study until 10. Friday nights and Saturdays I'd usually take a rest from studying."

HIGH AWARD

A great honor was paid to Sue this year when she received the president's award, given to a student of academic standing who has made an outstanding contribution to college life.

After an Arts course in first year, Sue branched into education, and she and a partner taught half a day each week at Victoria schools.

When teaching junior high classes, Sue revealed that she "felt quite inadequate. The students were rather doubtful whether we knew what we were talking about!"

Sue Burnett, working at Stadacona Park for the summer, is pictured showing seven-year-old Peter Olsen how to manipulate his giant stilts.

The brighter classes presented a real challenge. "They'd just eat everything up," she explained. "And it was up to us to keep them working, and not to let them start working us!" she ended with a laugh.

"One thing about teaching, there's nothing dull about it!" she exclaimed. "Every day's a new experience for me, and I never know what to expect when I walk into the classroom.

"One day after I had just begun my lesson," Sue said, "I noticed that a young boy in the front row had apparently grown sideburns down to his chin. At first I was a little startled," she admitted, "but then I simply marched him down to the washroom and scrubbed his face. The sideburns came off. They were 'grown' with mascara . . ."

Next summer, after one year of teaching, Sue is hoping to see the British Empire Games in Cardiff, Wales. "If not with the Canadian team, with a friend." After this, she is planning to return to college, UBC this time, and get her degree.

And then? Well, it's back to teaching for Sue, the girl who always keeps an eye just a bit ahead of the present.

Couple Wed on Mainland Will Make Home In Victoria

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Clark, married recently in New Westminster, will make their home here in Victoria after a honeymoon in the south.

For her wedding, the bride, the former Miss Mary Ellen Nevard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kenningale Nevard, New Westminster, chose a gown of white and cream nylon chiffon over taffeta and net, styled with a shirred bodice, short shirred sleeves, and cut-out flower petals around the neckline. Three panels of shirred pouffs at the back formed a slight train. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white gladioli.

Baskets of pink gladioli decorated the Sixth Avenue United Church in New Westminster where Rev. Thomas Furlough performed the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Nevard and Gary Thomas Clark, son of Mr. E. C. Clark of Creston, and Mrs. F. Furlough of Victoria.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and Terry Fullerton played organ music.

Mrs. H. K. Sturrock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Helen Clark, Victoria, sister of the groom and Miss Joy W. Irvine, New Westminster, were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of pink embossed nylon organdy over taffeta, with floral headdresses.

Mrs. Nevard, mother of the bride, chose a gown of rose lace over taffeta with a black velvet hat while Mrs. Furlough, mother of the groom, wore a dress of aqua embroidered nylon with bolero jacket and pink accessories.

Douglas McAlpine, Victoria, was best man, and Keith L. Littler, Victoria, and H. K. Sturrock, New Westminster, were ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Ian F. Douglas proposed a toast to the bride's happiness.

In Honor of The Bride

The office staff of Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros. held a shower recently to honor Miss Helen Shewchuk, August bride-elect. The shower was held at the home of Mrs. R. Lawrence, Logan Avenue, and gifts were arranged in a peach and royal blue decorated box. A corsage of mauve gladioli was presented to Miss Shewchuk, while her mother, Mrs. A. Shewchuk, received white carnations, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. W. Green, pink carnations. A shower cake centred the refreshment table. Guests included Mrs. C. Prior, Mrs. R. Dadds, Mrs. M. Parsons, Mrs. R. Orr, Mrs. S. Stout, Mrs. R. Herbertson, Mrs. R. Shandley, Mrs. B. Polson, and Misses Carolyn Dawe, Veronica Chapman, Beth McGillivray, Bernice Burley, Linda Barker, Mureen McIvor, Judy Rogers and Margaret Bell.

'Shattered Shakespeare' Quoted on Serviettes

By PENNY SAVER

Maybe my sense of humor is a bit off-beat, but I found myself giggling happily as I thumbed through a packet of paper cocktail serviettes printed with "shattered Shakespeare." The quotes from Shakespeare's plays are straightforward—it was the cartoons illustrating them that amused me.

One shows a young couple on a sofa, the boy dropping a quarter into the girl's little brother's hand. The quote is "Never make known what you have seen tonight" from Hamlet. "If you have tears, prepare to shed them now" from Julius Caesar is illustrated by a cartoon of a wife confronting her husband while a car with a badly crumpled fender is visible through the window.

A packet of 24 serviettes, each different, will cost you $1.

Milk-white Swedish glass is used to fashion gracefully shaped table accessories. My favorite piece was a low bowl on a tall pedestal, which could be filled with colorful fruit for a buffet or mantle. It's $3.50.

A pedestal cake plate, which also could be used for an arrangement of fruit, is $6, and a cream and sugar set is $4.25. Heavy ashtrays are $2.75.

Also from Sweden are tiny coffee spoons, suitable for demi-tasse service, of shiny electro-plated nickel service. They come in an assortment of designs, both traditionally ornate and modernly simple. They're $1 each.

Amusing little fruit knives have ceramic handles representing gaily-colored vegetables. I picked out peas, corn, carrots, radishes and eggplant, but the rest weren't recognizable, by me anyway. These are also $1.

I found two very attractive sets of china today—one splashed with colorful flowers, the other austerely plain.

The flowered one is English semi-porcelain, and would be lovely for breakfast or lunch. It's called "Belle Fiore" and looks very much Italian inspired. A 66-piece set is $37.50, and it is also available in open stock.

The other is pure white bone china with narrow gold edging and a tiny cluster of green and gold flowers in the centre of each piece. Dinner plates are $5.50, cups and saucers $2.75.

I'll be pleased to tell you where I shopped today if you give me a call at 2-3131.

"This couldn't possibly have any connection with the August fur sales, could it?"

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Should Fifth Wheel Beg Off?

My husband travels a great deal on business, leaving me in a peculiar position when friends invite us to a dinner party. If I say that my husband will be out of town that evening, the hostess feels obligated to tell me to come anyway, which means that she will have to scurry around and find an extra man to balance her table plan. Would it be better to tell a little white lie and say that we are other wise engaged that night? I do hate being a fifth wheel.

Louise Davis

Louise Davis Answers: I hesitate to recommend the little white lie, for it might catch up with you. I wouldn't worry about being a fifth wheel. But if you really would prefer not going, and if you feel that your hostess must hunt up an extra man, you can always beg out by asking for a rain-check before your hostess gets the chance to say "We'd love to have you come anyway." If you are faced with such dinner invitations in the future under the same circumstances, you can plan some special projects for the times that your husband is away, and, in that case, you will have a definite commitment which would prevent you from fibbing. But if your hostess convinces you that she wants you to come to her party anyway, and if you wish to go (providing your husband wouldn't mind), why worry about being a fifth wheel? Go ahead and have fun. There are lots of fifth wheels around who are charming and interesting and who add zest to any social group. An extra woman isn't going to spoil a party and hostesses don't always have to go on a search for a male partner for the evening.

ST. LUKE'S PARISH GARDEN FETE

The garden fete of St. Luke's Church, under the rectorship of Canon F. Pike, who is retiring at the end of August, will be held in the rectory grounds and parish hall on Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. The new incumbent, Rev. T. D. B. Ragg, will fly from Vancouver to open the fete. There will be stalls of home cooking, superfluities, aprons, men's wear, fancy work, baby wear, books, antiques, flowers, vegetables and games and ice cream. Among those assisting are, from the left, Mrs. O. B. Blandy, Mrs. F. Jefford, Mrs. B. Minty, Canon Pike, Mrs. A. R. McCoubrey, Mrs. C. F. Gibson and Mrs. Pike.

Bride Wears Lace Sheath

An heirloom wedding gown of floor-length white French lace was chosen by Miss Helen Betty-Ann Pickering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berne Pickering of Oliver, B.C., for her recent marriage to Sub-Lt. James Fraser Cowie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cowie of Regina. The bride's sheath gown featured tapering sleeves and a scooped neckline. Her veil of fingertip illusion net was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses.

The Chapel of St. Andrew in HMCS Naden, arranged with white gladioli, formed the setting for the wedding, at which officiated Chaplain T. L. Jackson. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor, Miss Betty Fowler, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Donald Mooney, wore identical gold sheath dresses with small matching headpieces, and carried bouquets of golden gladioli.

Miss Joanne Williamson, flower girl, wore a dress of turquoise taffeta with flare skirt, and held a basket of white mums. McRae Pickering, brother of the bride, was ring bearer, while Sub-Lt. Brian Berryman acted as best man. Dudley Coltart and John C. Edwards, fraternity brothers of the groom, ushered.

Mrs. Pickering, mother of the bride, wore a pink lace sheath with flared back, pink accessories and a pastel rose corsage, and Mrs. Cowie, groom's mother, had on a beige lace sheath with pink rose corsage.

A reception after the ceremony was held in HMCS Naden wardroom, where white gladioli decorated the bride's table. The couple cut a three-tiered wedding cake with a sword, and Cmdr. K. C. Cooper proposed a toast to the bride's happiness.

For her honeymoon at Christina Lake, B.C., the new Mrs. Cowie selected a tailored navy worsted suit with pink accessories. She wore a mauve and white orchid corsage. Upon their return, the couple will live on 527 Trutch Street, Victoria.

Too Soon

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau recently had a call at City Hall from six-year-old Jacques Pageau, who came to present the city with a turtle for a proposed children's zoo. The mayor joined the boy in watching the turtle crawl about the office for a while, then asked him to "board" it until the zoo is opened.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Follow the Rules And Enjoy Health

I do not mean to take the joy out of life for you but rather to add to it and therefore I wonder if you have any idea how many serious physical troubles can be traced to poor health habits over the years?

Also many of the dragging, irritating, small but unpleasant disabilities can be placed at the door of unhygienic living, indulged in over a long period of time.

There is almost as great a difference between truly good health and fair health as there is between fair health and illness. The rules and habits which might lift you from the fatigue of fair health to the heady pep of good health seem so simple that they are usually disregarded.

Here are a few of them:

1. Worry less.
2. Laugh more.
3. Keep your interest in outdoor sports but scale them to your age and capability.
4. Take short rest periods daily whenever possible.
5. Eat in a relaxed mood without hurry.
6. Eat a well-balanced diet.
7. Get enough sleep.
8. Improve your posture.
9. Increase your interests.
10. Exercise daily.
11. Have yearly or semi-yearly physical checkups, depending on your age and condition.
12. Forget destructive age consciousness and live vibrantly in the present.

Even the addition of a few of these suggestions applied to your daily lives will make a great difference. If you stick to a routine of this sort for a few weeks I think you will be happily rewarded.

They are within the reach of everyone. Stunning results in figure and complexion and energy and happiness will result.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Some women rub and scrub at their dishes. Cooking utensils are easy to wash if rinsed and put to soak immediately after use. Cold-water soaking is recommended for those that held milk, egg, cheese mixtures or dough. For greasy or sticky ones that had sweet mixtures, use hot water.

For smart gracious entertaining serve Sherry or champagne with appetizers. Sherry may be served at room temperature or chilled; champagne is always well chilled, as are all sparkling wines.

A CAC Fact

Did you know that there are probably over 3,000 different types of toys on the Canadian market at any one time? Can you tell which ones children really like, which kinds are really worthwhile buying? The Canadian Association of Consumers has a great interest in toys and its very active Toy-Testing Committee is the only one of its kind in Canada. The manufacturers of Canadian toys welcome the help of this committee which is helping them to improve their product. Reports on the toys tested are available to members of the Canadian Association of Consumers. When you join the CAC, you forward the best interests of your children's development.

Youth Checkup Will Be Asked

DUNCAN—Better law enforcement to raise the standard of local youth will be demanded here by Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

NEW INSPECTOR for School District 67, including Ladysmith and Chemainus, will be H. S. Hurn. Mr. Hurn left the principalship of South Park School in Victoria to become director of community drama in the department of education, and in 1954 became inspector for School District 72 with headquarters at Campbell River. He replaces J. J. McKenzie, who has been transferred to New Westminster.

A return to policing on foot will be suggested to city council as a means of combating what chamber members called "offensive language and sloppy deportment of teenagers on the streets and in cars."

It is the responsibility of the city to correct a bad social condition, members said. General lack of law enforcement was charged.

Poor weather in July was blamed for a drop in the number of callers at the chamber's office on the Trans-Canada Highway. Tourists in 549 cars called at the office during the month, while in July a year ago 598 parties called at the office.

Heber River Diversion Contract Let

Contract for diversion of the Heber River has been let to the A & B Construction Co. Ltd., Nanaimo, the B.C. Power Commission said here today.

Contract price for the building of a timber crib diversion dam, pipeline grade, diversion dyke, canal, and other works is $380,832.

The project will divert the flood water potential from the Heber River, to the Elk River and thence to the Campbell River system where the commission is developing 350,000 horsepower of hydro-electric power.

Girl Locates Robbery Loot

NANAIMO — A 10-year-old girl, playing in bushland at the rear of Skinner Street, uncovered most of a $1,000 haul made last Saturday morning by thieves who broke into Dakin's store.

The loot consisted mainly of photographic and optical equipment. A $300 camera and other objects were recovered, but a pair of binoculars is still missing.

The little girl reported to RCMP immediately on finding the hidden goods.

Empire Day Grant Set For Nanaimo

NANAIMO — City council cut through red tape Wednesday in regard to staging of the Empire Day parade in 1958 by allocating $2,000 for the purpose to the centennial committee.

The centennial group will have charge of the Empire Day celebrations in that they will incorporate the centennial theme, but the junior chamber of commerce likely will stage the parade.

Making the grant now gives the parade committee a budget with which to work, and removes the doubt that a future council might not grant the money. Council explained at a joint meeting with the centennial committee and junior chamber parade committee that it could not commit future councils to any expenses.

Water Service To Be Expanded

NANAIMO (CP) — Jim Kerr, trustee of the Departure Bay water service, said today the service would expand rapidly during the next few months.

"We are now awaiting word from Ottawa on the proposal to supply water to the Pacific Biological Station," he said. "If the station is taken into the system this will mean laying 4,000 feet of eight-inch line to the station at a cost of about $20,000."

The system now has 160 customers.

Suggest Tzinquaw As 1958 Feature

DUNCAN—Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce will try to interest the B.C. centennial committee in making performances of the Indian folk opera Tzinquaw a summer feature in Victoria during centennial year celebrations.

Age-Old Indian Canoe-Building Craft Kept Up at Port Renfrew

BY HUMPHREY DAVY

PORT RENFREW — Indians of the Pachina band here on the Bay of San Juan, famous as of old for their seaworthy dug-out canoes, are still actively engaged in the ancient boat-building craft of their forefathers.

Two Indians are presently making one of the largest canoes to be built in years on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

It's a 22-foot craft, designed on the lines of the old Indian seal hunting canoe which formerly plied one of the stormiest and most dangerous sections of the Pacific coast. It was also used on seal hunting expeditions in the Bering Sea about 40 years ago.

The builder is 28-year-old Stanley Jones, son of Chief Charles Jones, a veteran seal hunter and fisherman. The chief is helping him with the work.

The sleek 22-footer is being built on the historic San Juan beach, scene of many shipwrecks and spot where the Spanish landed in the 18th century to claim the land in the name of the King of Spain.

A giant cedar log was split in two before work began on the canoe. The two craftsmen are using an adze and some old Indian tools to shape the boat. It will be painted in Indian colors and ready for use in about six weeks.

Chief Jones said a ceremony may be held to mark the launching of the canoe.

"I am proud of this type of boat," the chief said. "It is seaworthy and will take a man anywhere providing he understands the sea."

In olden days the Pachinas, who depended on the open Pacific for their livelihood, made canoes which were much in demand by other tribes. They were constructed to ride out heavy seas. Their war canoes were among the best built on the coast.

The sealing canoe came into being in the 19th century when sealing skippers engaged the Pachinas to hunt for them in the Bering Sea. The Indians launched their boats from the "mother ship," sometimes spending days at sea in search of their prey.

The ancient craft has never been permitted to die out among the band. The Pachinas have yet many skilled boat builders. One of these is Chuck Jones, who is building a smaller canoe for his own use.

Indian canoes are still put to practical use at Port Renfrew. Every time the San Juan river floods in winter, the whites depend on the paddle-propelled craft to ferry them back and forth across the river.

Wreck of Astor's Tonquin Believed Found at Tofino

TOFINO (CP) — An American medical man who turned explorer for a vacation believes he may have found the 146-year-old wreck of John Jacob Astor's earliest fur-trading ship, the Tonquin.

Dr. George W. Cottrell of Portland, Ore., says his group of amateur explorers think a wreck they discovered last week in more than 50 feet of water at Sydney Inlet, in Clayoquot Sound, about 120 miles northwest of Victoria, might be the Northwest Fur Company vessel.

More investigation is needed, Dr. Cottrell said in an interview, for positive identification.

NO RECORD KEPT

What happened to the Tonquin in 1811 has never been accurately recorded. Indian tribes along the coast have passed down legends about the ship.

The most likely of the stories has it that the Tonquin sailed into a Vancouver Island bay near Tofino to barter for furs.

Within a few days, Captain Jonathan Thorne, described by historians as "harsh and arbitrary" in his treatment of the natives, had infuriated the tribes.

Finally the Indians attacked the ship, killing Thorne and many of the crew. Five survivors were left but four slipped away, leaving behind the badly-wounded mate. It is understood the four were killed ashore.

The Indians returned the following morning and as they swarmed on board the injured sailor touched a match to the powder magazine. He perished with a large number of the Indians.

"We hope we can interest some people with enough money to send in a well-equipped boat with a big boom on it and some sort of suction-dredge device to remove the mud from it," Dr. Cottrell said.

Dr. Cottrell is taking one of several pieces of wood recovered from the hulk to Astoria, Ore., to see if it resembles another piece brought there in 1876 by a surveyor who claimed he had chopped it from the mast of the Tonquin. The surveyor said he had found the wreck but there is no record of where he said it was.

Dr. Cottrell declined to give the exact location of the hulk he discovered. He plans to make a report to the federal department of transport and the provincial archives in Victoria.

"Some people have wondered about my motives in this search. It's just a combination of a vacation and a chance to study old wrecks. I'll continue my research during the winter and return here next summer to continue the under-water work."

Donald H. Clark, a member of the Cannon Hunters' Association of Seattle and of Dr. Cottrell's expedition, said in Seattle that two seven-foot cannons were detached from the Sydney Inlet wreck and dragged to shallow water.

Because the expedition was not equipped to bring the armament to the surface, they are still there, he said. Clark indicated that another party from Seattle, headed by Dave McCollum, plans to leave for Vancouver Island shortly to hunt for the Tonquin in the vicinity of Tofino. The Seattle group considers the Sydney Inlet wreck is unidentified.

Ladysmith Hospital Accepts Wage Award

LADYSMITH (CP) — Directors of Ladysmith General Hospital have accepted, with one amendment, the six recommendations of a conciliation board on nurses' salaries.

The recommendations were accepted earlier by the regional board at Duncan for hospitals at Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Duncan.

The contract, effective to December 31, 1958, sets the basic monthly salary at $252.50, with increments over a five-year period to a maximum of $306.50. The basic rate for other than B.C.-registered nurses is set at $237.50.

The amendment covers supervisory rates, providing for a basic pay of $277.50, increasing to $335 over five years.

Addition to School At Saltair Lagging

LADYSMITH—Trustees of School District 67 learned this week that it is unlikely the addition to Mount Brenton School in Saltair will be completed in time for school opening in September, but every effort will be made to have the classroom wing ready for use.

Trustee Ray Chamberlin reported the roofing contractors were 10 days late in arriving at the job and that delays had been caused by weather conditions.

He said he doubted that the activity room would be completed when the schools re-opened, but hoped that the classrooms would be ready.

If sufficient classroom space is not available, it will mean resumption of a swing shift for at least one class.

Trustee Alex Smith said he believed the board had been too lenient with contractors in the past and expressed the opinion that they should be held to the completion dates they promised.

CNIB Inherits $20,000 From Duncan Estate

DUNCAN—Canadian National Institute for the Blind has been bequeathed $20,000 by the late W. M. MacLachlan, it was learned this week by Duncan Rotary Club, sponsors of the annual CNIB fund drive here.

Mr. MacLachlan, a retired chartered accountant who died here July 9, had always been a generous but anonymous donor to the CNIB campaigns.

Urgent Operation Delays Shutoff Of Water Supply

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — At the request of Lourdes Hospital, where a caesarean operation is scheduled for today, the water shutoff at this village has been delayed until midnight tonight.

All consumers will be without water until 7 a.m. Friday. The shutoff has been ordered to permit work on the main reducing valve at Ironwood and the Island Highway, which will assure a better supply in the future.

The mother-to-be responsible for the delay is a Campbell River woman.

Auto Court 'Farmers' Hurting—Westwood

NANAIMO (CP) — Recreation Minister Earle Westwood has criticized retired prairie farmers who, he said, operate auto courts in B.C. without knowing anything about the business.

Mr. Westwood, speaking at a Kiwanis Club meeting at Nanaimo Tuesday said, "It has been the practice for retired farmers from the prairies to come out here and buy auto courts, living without much trouble and effort. They know nothing about the business in many instances and this is bad for the tourist industry."

Mr. Westwood said this is one reason his department of conservation and recreation has started a new system of star rating of auto courts and motels.

MONTREAL'S MAYOR GETS B.C. SALMON

NANAIMO (CP) — Three salmon were sent Wednesday to Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal by Nanaimo's Mayor Pete Maffeo.

Mayor Maffeo decided on the gift after the Canadian Legion fishing derby July 1. The mayor also sent a letter, which said in part: "We, the city council and citizens of Nanaimo want you to enjoy with us our fabulous, fascinating, year-round fishing pastime. Therefore we have taken the liberty of forwarding to you a fish catch that was effected today. We hope you will enjoy the fish."

Magazine Granted Right to Call Stars for Libel Case Testimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Confidential magazine won court permission to call on Hollywood movie stars for testimony in its criminal libel trial, which opens Friday.

Judge Herbert V. Walker denied a motion to quash a subpoena served on actor Rory Calhoun. Calhoun's lawyers contended his testimony could serve no purpose and that the subpoena was issued primarily to harass their client.

Clarence Linn, assistant attorney-general, has submitted eight stories in Confidential which the prosecution claims are libelous and obscene. The stories involve Maureen O'Hara, Dick Powell, Robert Mitchum, Dorothy Dandridge, Corinne Calvet, Mae West, John Carroll and Mark Stevens.

Linn said he does not plan to call them but they can be summoned for rebuttal if the defence tries to prove the stories about them are true.

Arthur J. Crowley, defence lawyer, said he intends to ask some of the stars under oath if the stories about them in the magazine are true.

Topping the list of prosecution witnesses are Howard Rushmore, former editor of Confidential, and Mrs. Ronnie Quillan-O'Reilly, who admittedly supplied the magazine with source material.

Among the latest to be tapped by Confidential's process servers are Tab Hunter and Tita Purdom, divorced wife of actor Edward Purdom. Crowley said others served include Gary Cooper, Walter Pidgeon, Scott Brady, Sonny Tufts, Lana Turner, Paul Gregory, Tom Neal, Buddy Baer and Allan Nixon.

Reeve Norris Second In Gyro Hole-in-One

Victoria Gyro's annual hole-in-One Carnival got off to a lively start at Central Junior High School Wednesday night.

Nobody sank a hole-in-one from the 200-ft. tee but one-armed golfer Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay, one of the official party, came close. He won second prize of $10 for driving the ball within 7½ inches of the hole.

First prize of $15 and a case of pop went to Bruce Hopkins, 1143 Pandora, whose ball wound up three inches from the cup.

Roy Leachman, 2749 Asquith, 14½ inches from the cup, won $5 third prize.

Winner of the $12 grocery hamper was Monty James, 2262 Lansdowne.

The carnival was opened by Mayor Percy Scurrah, who made the first try for a hole-in-one.

Opening ceremonies saw Gyro president Bart Carson present a $300 cheque to J. S. Holdstock, administrator of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, as "a token of the Gyros' continued interest in the solarium."

The four-day carnival ends Saturday with "children's day" in the afternoon and a second show at night.

C (To Put in Time)

(A) "ISLAND IN THE SUN" (Odeon): Under the Caribbean sun the mythical island of Santa Marta slopes gently golden and pink and green down to the murmuring Technicolor blueness of the warm sea.

But it's soon seen that there is unrest in this tropical Eden. In the genteel surroundings of the British governor's garden party there are mutterings to be heard among the gay chatter. The blacks are rebelling. The snooty English are uneasy. And when the talk turns to fidelity you can bet your last rum swizzle that they're only talking about a gramophone.

It might be as Kipling wrote that east is east and west is west but never did the twain try to meet more anxiously than in 20th Century-Fox's "Island in the Sun." It preoccupies most of the film's 119 minutes running time.

★ ★ ★

THERE is handsome Harry Belafonte, swaggering leader of the blacks, who is being chased by a charming hunk of white and pink driftwood, Joan Fontaine. There is dusky Dorothy Dandridge who captures the governor's book-writing aide-de-camp without a struggle. There is black-hating James Mason who is so jealous of the man he thinks is his wife's lover, Michael Rennie, that he strangles him. And there is Joan Collins who wants to marry the governor's son except she believes she has negro blood in her. But dear mama (Diana Wynyard) sets her mind at ease.

Nicest piece of acting, however, must be credited to John Williams, as the island's British chief of police.

But in the end the magic of "Island in the Sun" is not the people or the plot but the truly magnificent photography of nature by F. A. Young. It is breath-taking.

Summer School Exams Written By 141 Friday

Some 141 Grade 9 students will write summer school examinations at Victoria High School Friday morning.

If they pass, students who had failed one or two subjects in regular June examinations may graduate into Grade 10.

The Greater Victoria School Board started the summer school last year as an experiment. It proved so successful that the course was enlarged this year to include review in English, social studies, mathematics and science.

Classes have been held weekday mornings for the past month. The summer school is headed by Donald A. Smith, vice-principal of Oak Bay Junior High School.

Last year 70 per cent of the students who took review courses passed into high school.

CLIMAX'S 'THE GIANT KILLER' DRAMA ON 11 AND 12 AT 8.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

COMING EVENTS—Although details relative to time, program contents and so on haven't been released yet, it is reassuring to note that the CBC intends to cover the Pacific National Exhibition again this year, "live." . . .

Ethel Merman has been signed to join Rex Harrison in the cast of "Crescendo," the 90-minute premiere of the Du Pont Show of the Month which will be presented in color on CBS TV Sunday, Sept. 29.

Miss Merman, currently starring in Broadway's "Happy Hunting," will head the musical comedy segment of "Crescendo." In the lavish program a visiting Englishman, played by Mr. Harrison, will be introduced to the outstanding styles of American music, including musical comedy, blues, religious marches, folk and western songs, Latin-American rhythms and jazz—all as performed by top artists in each field.

★ ★ ★

WHO'S DOING WHAT—George Gobel is planning his full hour shows with Eddie Fisher for next season. He's toying with the idea of using his real wife, Alice, in some of them. Bob Shad, president of Mercury Records, says summer TV is a boon to the recording industry. That's easily understood. With the programs the way they are it's better to do almost anything than watch TV. . . .

Joan Harrison, associate producer with Alfred Hitchcock, says that the public is very fussy about its murders. For instance, they don't like children doing in adults nor do they want to watch bodies being laid out for burial. What the public likes most, Miss Harrison confides, is the sure-fire format about a charming criminal who outwits the police!

GRAY MATTER
It makes good sense that a firm which has its own light pick-up service can offer just a little more for those small items of furniture and household furnishings that are surplus to your needs. It's also reasonable to assume that with 20 years experience in valuing in Victoria we can give a fair estimate. Please phone Wally Gray's used furniture. 2-1631.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Take care not to be careless in any way that might jeopardize the respect your influential and intellectual friends have for you. Also, be certain to give proof of your devotion to love interest.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Your associates may easily take your naturally authoritative manner wrongly—demonstrate by your work and loyalty that you are a valuable friend and adjunct in a position where you will one day be the ruling force.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—This is a day when you must take extreme precautions you do not make errors, cause little accidents, etc., or that others do not become so inclined also, for it may mar the equilibrium of an otherwise fine day.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Your desire for adulation, real appreciation today is an aching need that you are almost willing to buy it in some subtle way. Stick to your work diligently and within a given time the real thing will come along.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—There is a stubborn situation at abode that requires tact and work. The royal road to achieve your ends is through kindness and gentility, and the rewards will be plentiful, the atmosphere more lovely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Very plausibly you are so disturbed with anxieties of a personal nature you cannot work efficiently or be as lovely with close attachment as you should be. Relax, the objective attitude is best—all will be OK.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Your failing of going to extremes, either spending much unwisely or being penurious with those persons with whom you should be generous, is apparent again today. Reach happy medium.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Today you are impatient to the point of throwing caution to the winds and upsetting the proverbial applecart. The slightest deviation from established law will get you in Dutch. Be thoughtful of others instead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Refrain from worrying about a situation for which there is no apparent answer now, and get busy working on some important matters. Worry is futile, but working on the positive will bring fine results, always.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Although a great pleasure is paramount in your thoughts today, this is not the right time to enjoy it, for it would cost too much in all ways. Get rid of chores, important situations that have to be dealt with now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A dangerous day for taking the slightest liberty with anyone who is vital to your well-being, financially particularly. Be very regular and wise, and do not deviate one whit from established pattern in your work.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You are desirous of dashing off to new horizons, new faces, activities—but the time is not ripe for this yet. Spend the day and evening making real plans, studying best methods of improving your life magnificently.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

The little fighting spirit born Friday will feel from the earliest age that the only way to get his or her desires is to put up the little dukes at the slightest provocation. Teach instead that mental gymnastics are far more fun and certainly more remunerative in the long run. Sports, definitely, for this chart, any profession requiring dynamism, but keep hands and mind busy from very early days.

Planned Army Attack Manoeuvre of Past

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) — The meticulously planned, set-piece attack may be a thing of the past on atomic battlefields, staff officers say.

This, they add, is probably one of the major lessons to come out of the 10th Canadian Infantry Division's Exercise Eastern Star, scheduled to end today.

In drizzle and total blackout, the division, supported by nine simulated nuclear strikes, put in a cross-river assault Wednesday night and early today.

But it soon got bogged down in the hit-and-run defensive tactics of the enemy force and the situation quickly became confused.

Officers said hard lessons learned in the latter stages of the Second World War about how to conduct a night attack have been largely forgotten by the peace-time Canadian army. That was the main reason for the final night exercises.

Staff officers said it would be almost impossible to conduct a set-piece attack across a river, by day or by night. All the enemy would have to do would be to station a few men along the bank with wireless sets and they could call nuclear strikes on the bridgeheads.

A simulated strike Wednesday on the divisional headquarters atom area—the storage place for nuclear weapons—caused more than 900 theoretical casualties, most of them through heat, blast and radioactivity.

Officers also said the set-piece attack appears doomed because roads choked with convoys would only "suck an atomic blow." This is why the army is anxious to obtain as soon as possible a new armored carrier which doesn't have to stick to roads at all, and a troop cargo plane.

Army Studies Lessons Learned

CAMP WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—The army today began to evaluate the results of a three-day atomic warfare exercise which ended its summer training of nearly 5,000 regular troops at this camp 120 miles southeast of Edmonton.

One of the chief aims of the operation which ended Wednesday was to exercise the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in the movement and development for attack and defence under nuclear warfare conditions. Under such conditions the army must be capable of dispersing swiftly.

ADVANTAGE PROVED

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding Western Army Command, described the operation — Exercise Hot Foot — as "very successful" and said the exercise has proved the advantage of mobile infantry and new army tactics of dispersion.

Gen. Vokes, who directed the exercise, added however that complete evaluation cannot be made until the results are studied thoroughly by army headquarters.

Simulated atomic artillery blasts were set off and three-quarter-ton army trucks were used to represent armored personnel carriers which Gen. Vokes said he hopes will be supplied to the army one day. Canada has no such carriers.

The vehicles, which can seat 10 soldiers and are equipped with mounted guns, now are part of the British and United States armies.

Both sides were equipped with theoretical nuclear weapons and both sides achieved their objectives before the battle was called off during stiff fighting.

MUST MOVE QUICKLY

Under nuclear warfare conditions, Gen. Vokes said, the army must be prepared to strike quickly and move before the enemy can direct atomic weapons on the concentrated attacking force. Armored personnel carriers enable the movement of infantry at a quick pace.

Chemical To Cut Road Damages

QUEBEC (CP)—A Canadian firm has developed a chemical treatment of the soil which it believes will save taxpayers millions of dollars by eliminating or reducing springtime damage to highways, and city streets from frost heaving.

The chemical used is Lignosol, a by-product of sulphite pulp manufacture.

F. T. Atkinson, president of Lignosol Chemicals Ltd., said his company, working on an experimental basis with the CNR for five years, "proved conclusively" that railway road beds treated with the chemical are much less susceptible to frost heaving. "We expect that the same treatment can be adapted to eliminate or reduce heaving on highways and city streets."

An experimental program at the University of Alberta indicated that Lignosol would eliminate or reduce frost heaving by decreasing the permeability of the soil. He said his company and the CNR started their project in Quebec and moved into southern Ontario. The railway, he said, has decided to expand the program further.

Montreal Firm Shows Disabled Folk Useful

By PAUL COLVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal company, believed to be the only one of its kind in Canada, is proving that a disabled person can be a productive worker.

The company—Unlimited Skills Incorporated — is unique in the fact that it hires only disabled workers.

It was founded in 1956 when a group of business executives met with Harry Ward, co-organizer and secretary of the Canadian Paraplegic Association, to discuss the problem of helping disabled people.

SPECIAL ADVISERS

Mr. Ward, himself a paraplegic, was named full-time manager of the firm. A number of business executives were appointed to help the new company in an advisory capacity. Heading the group is Harold W. Royl, sales manager of Curtiss-Wright of Canada.

Describing the company as a "product of the times," Mr. Ward said in an interview:

"Medical science has done its part to keep paraplegics and other disabled persons alive. Now it is up to society to make them self-supporting citizens."

Mr. Ward, paralyzed since he was wounded in France in the Second World War, says the main purpose of Unlimited Skills is "to supply wages to disabled persons."

However, he stressed that the firm is a private competitive company and not a charitable organization. "We are not a 'sheltered workshop,' and those working here must produce."

After 15 months of operation Unlimited Skills has paid $52,000 in salaries and has recently increased wage rates to 80 from 75 cents an hour. "Admittedly the pay is low, but is more than unemployed disabled persons receive from charity or get working in 'sheltered workshops,'" said Mr. Ward.

"The ideal situation is to train people here and then place them in industry," he says, "but the problem is to convince industry that disabled workers are productive employees, and to get trained workers to leave the more 'sheltered' conditions at Unlimited Skills."

"At the present time we have 30 people working here and have managed to place 16 in industry. However, there are 300 other 'employables' among disabled persons in Montreal."

Operating in a reconverted factory, the company takes on such jobs as collating, packaging, sorting and mechanical and electrical assembly to keep going.

Mr. Ward rates Harold Goodridge, a mechanical engineer partially crippled with arthritis, one of his most valuable employees.

"We would be lost without him in the machine shop," he said.

Mr. Ward cites only two requirements for employment at Unlimited Skills—physical disability and a sincere desire to do a job.

Mr. Ward's hope is that Unlimited Skills or similar companies will be put on a national basis, even in small towns.

He also hopes to see a separate community set up for disabled persons. He has asked the city of Montreal to set aside 500,000 square feet of land in Montreal north for that purpose. The disabled persons themselves would build their homes and factories and support themselves.

Assize Trial For 3rd Man In Robbery

Donald Quaite, 130 Linden, was committed for Assize Court trial on a charge of robbery with violence today in city police court.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said he had considered evidence of a preliminary hearing July 24 and found it warrants the committal and possibly the laying of another charge by the city prosecutor.

Quaite was charged following the complaint of Donald William Carson, 618 Grenville, who said he was beaten and robbed of $110 the night of July 8.

Trial by judge and jury was elected by Quaite.

A naval seaman, Paul G. Cook, has been sentenced to a year definite and a year less one day indefinite at Oakalla prison young offender's unit on pleading guilty to the same charge.

Douglas Cameron, 805 Intervale, third man involved in the incident, was sentenced to six months definite and six months indefinite at the young offenders' unit when he pleaded guilty to being in possession of stolen money.

Funeral Service For Ex-Merchant Set for Friday

Funeral services will be held at McCall's chapel Friday at 10.30 a.m. for John Russell Wescott, 87, retired merchant who died Wednesday in hospital here.

Born in Chatham, Ont., he came to Victoria 70 years ago, and for many years operated a drygoods business known as Wescott Bros.

Mr. Wescott was the oldest member of Emmanuel Baptist Church and former superintendent of the church Sunday school, and a member of Vancouver-Quadra Lodge No. 2, AF & AM. His home was at Ten Mile Point.

Surviving are two grandsons, Patrick and William, in Vancouver, and four great-granddaughters.

Junior Tourists Draw With Dutch

ROCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—The Canadian junior cricket touring team was held to a draw by the Dutch junior touring team here Tuesday in its last match in England.

The Canadians, winning the toss and batting on a firm pitch, declared at 153 for 9. The Dutch had replied with 79 for 7 by the close.

Accurate bowling and keen fielding by the Canadians prevented the Dutch from scoring quickly in the 2½ hours left them.

Jackson Skids To Fifth Spot; Miteff Climbs

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — The National Boxing Association dropped Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson to No. 5 in its ratings because in losing to champion Floyd Patterson "Jackson's ability was only to absorb punishment," Fred Saddy, NBA championship committee chairman said today.

Eddie Machen of California was moved up to the No. 1 contender's spot in the heavyweight division, followed by Zora Folley of Arizona and Roy Harris of Texas.

Argentine heavyweight Alex Mitiff, who vaulted from the non-rated ranks to No. 8 with a "workmanship" decision over Julios Mederos, was chosen the NBA boxer of the month for July, Saddy said.

The Argentine's lethal punching could bring new interest to the heavyweight division, Saddy said.

Five Clubs Ready In Ontario Loop

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP) — A five-team circuit shaped up Tuesday night at a meeting of the Ontario Senior "A" Hockey Association's eastern group.

Definite entries were filed by last year's clubs — Whitby, Cornwall, Belleville, Kingston and Pembroke.

Sam Pollack of Ottawa attended the meeting and expressed interest but did not commit his junior Canadiens, who played interlocking games last year in the OHA and the Quebec Pro League.

Anti-Bomb Tests Drive Urged by Church Body

NEW HAVEN (CP) — An international church agency today suggested that Christians urge their governments to halt nuclear bomb tests—for a trial period—without waiting for iron-clad treaties.

The step was endorsed by the commission of the churches on international affairs in a report to a policy-making meeting of the World Council of Churches.

Vigorous debate on the report was expected.

The commission, a sort of diplomatic arm both of the world council and of the International Missionary Council, said in its statement:

RISK FOR PEACE

"There is a risk for peace which Christians in countries projecting tests of nuclear weapons are justified in advocating, in the hope of breaking through the barriers of distrust.

"They can urge their governments to force tests for a trial period in the hope that others will do the same. A new confidence will be born, and foundations laid for lasting agreements."

Rev. Dr. O. Frederick Nolde of Philadelphia, director of the commission, presented the 900-word statement, along with a supplemental 3,000-word analysis of scientific findings on bomb testing.

The meeting of the world council's central committee, representing Protestant and Orthodox denominations to act on the statement, or draw up a different pronouncement on the subject.

Numerous member denominations have urged it to voice a general Christian stand concerning the current tension over bomb tests.

FIVE OBJECTIVES

The commission's statement set forth five objectives which it said should be persuaded to "overcome the menace of atomic war" and "safeguard as fully as possible the security of all nations."

1. "To stop, by international agreement, the testing of nuclear weapons."

2. "To bring to a halt the production of nuclear weapons, under such controls as will most fully ensure compliance."

3. "To develop measures which will reduce national armaments, nuclear and conventional, with provisions for necessary safeguards. . ."

4. "To accelerate international co-operation in the development of atomic power for peaceful purposes, under proper safeguards."

5. "To establish more effective mechanisms for peaceful settlement of international disputes."

LOSS OF PANTS SEAT OF TROUBLE

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A man who lost his pants at a resort area in Michigan's Upper Peninsula is advertising in the Houghton Daily Mining Gazette for their return.

"Ma'am, I've lost my pants," he said red-faced to the girl ad taker.

Not daring to look too far over the counter, the girl asked for a bit more information.

"At Bete Gris," he said, "and there was a wallet in the pocket."

He offered a reward.

Bete Gris is a resort area about 75 miles north of Houghton.

MAXWELL H. GLUCK
. . . he is "primed"

WHO IS PM?

Gluck's Luck Holds Good, Still Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Maxwell H. Gluck ever appears again before a U.S. congressional committee, you can bet he'll prime himself in advance with all necessary answers.

Gluck is a self-made millionaire businessman newly named U.S. ambassador to Ceylon.

He was shoved, suddenly and unwillingly, into the capital spotlight this week when it was disclosed that he couldn't name the prime minister (Solomon Bandaranaike) of the country in which he was to represent the United States.

Obviously upset, he sought to explain belatedly to reporters Wednesday that he actually knew the prime minister's name all along when he was asked before the Senate foreign relations committee July 2.

But, because he wasn't sure how to pronounce it, he told senators the name "is a bit unfamiliar" and that "I cannot call it off." He can pronounce it now, he added. The name of the Ceylon prime minister is pronounced Bahn-drah-nik'-ah.

A soft-spoken man, Gluck shook his head as he pondered the fireworks that have exploded since the Washington Post and Times Herald published some of the questions asked him and his answers.

Nothing like this unhappy affair ever happened to him in the business world, he said.

Wife Takes Blame For Mistress Murder

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chang Po-fang was freed from prison Wednesday after serving half of a 15-year term for murdering his mistress. His wife, waiting outside with the seven-year-old son Chang had never seen, said the blame for the crime was hers. "Had I been perfect," she said, "he would never have committed such a crime."

RUSSIAN HOCKEY ACES PLAN CANADIAN TOUR

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — The Kitchener-Waterloo Record says the Russian national hockey team which defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to win the world and Olympic hockey title in Cortina, Italy, in 1956, may tour Canada next winter.

Secretary-manager George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said today the Russians are interested in making the tour. He was unable to give details.

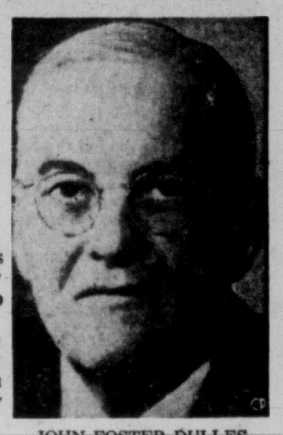
Canadian Envoy Joins Pineau, Dulles, Lloyd



JOHN FOSTER DULLES

CHRISTIAN PINEAU

SELWYN LLOYD

LONDON (UP)—The Big Three foreign ministers met today for the first time since the Suez war to try to break down remaining western differences on how to win a first-step disarmament agreement from Russia.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew here from Paris and joined Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in talks at the Foreign Office. Later they were joined by Canadian disarmament delegate David Johnson.

They had two big problems: (1) Details on a map showing "open skies" and ground inspection areas of Europe on both sides of the Iron Curtain, and (2) a joint paper recording all the Western proposals for a first-step disarmament agreement.

Pineau announced after the meeting that he will fly to Washington Sept. 7 for further talks with Dulles. The purpose was not explained immediately.

The French foreign minister said today's Western talks ranged over problems of nuclear test suspension and the zones of aerial and ground inspection—the latter "a matter of particular interest to the European nations."

On nuclear tests he said it still is the Western view that suspension should be linked to cessation of production of fissionable material for military use.

A two-hour man-to-man session between Pineau and Dulles was held at lunch. Official sources indicated Algeria and the Middle East came up, as well as disarmament.

Russ to Hear 'Open Skies' Plan

Informed sources said the four Western powers agreed to have U.S. disarmament delegate Harold E. Stassen begin presenting the joint "open skies" plan to the Soviets in the five-power UN disarmament subcommittee Friday or next week.

U.S. delegation sources said Stassen's presentation of the new Western plan and his step-by-step explanation of it to Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin would require two weeks more of meetings here.

Informed sources said this morning's meeting was concerned with smoothing out various differences among the Western powers on the presentation of the plan.

Friday's meeting, already twice postponed, is expected to approve a report to the parent disarmament committee and request permission for continued meetings of the subcommittee. It was believed Zorin had agreed to this Wednesday at lunch with Dulles and other Western delegation chiefs.

BENNETT CHARGES:

'High-Priced Dollar' Hurts

The most serious problem facing B.C. lumber operators in marketing their product is the high value of the Canadian dollar, Premier Bennett said today.

"I would suggest they should take the matter up with the federal government forthwith," the premier said.

A drop in the value of our dollar would be the "best help" to the lumber industry, he said.

The premier denied that excessive provincial taxation was responsible for some of the troubles now besetting lumbermen.

The 5½ per cent premium on the dollar which exporters face is more than all the provincial taxes put together, Mr. Bennett said.

Pressed as to what he would do to remedy the situation, the premier said:

"Another government has that responsibility."

"The high-priced dollar is Canada's number one problem today," the premier said.

At the same time, Mr. Bennett said he promised no concessions to lumber operators during negotiations last month which averted a strike of 32,000 coast woodworkers.

"The premier can make no commitments like that," he said.

A union leader charged in Vancouver that lumber operators had agreed to pay a 7½ per cent wage increase as an attempt to get tax concessions out of the government.

Mr. Bennett was personally responsible for bringing about the settlement at last-minute, all-night talks.

Lumbering Layoffs Now Number 1,500

VANCOUVER (CP) — With an industry-wide strike threat averted only a month ago, the British Columbia logging industry now is besieged by trouble of a different kind.

Three major logging companies announced Wednesday shutdowns and retrenchments which will mean layoffs for more than 1,500 loggers. One official said the situation is the worst it has been since the 1930's.

Company officials blame surplus of logs and poor markets for the shutdowns.

But a union spokesman accused companies of "a pressure move" to gain tax concessions from the B.C. government.

MacMillan & Bloedel announced it will lay off 500 men in temporary shutdowns during August. Alaska Pine has closed camps that normally employ 300 men.

Powell River Company has not reopened some of its operations since the strike threat in June. It plans to reopen in about a week but will be hiring only 350 men where 700 worked before.

MARKETS MUST IMPROVE

Harry McQuillan, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, describes the situation as "the worst since the 1930's." He said an improvement in world markets is needed, particularly in home building in Canada and the U.S.

A MacMillan & Bloedel official was less inclined to blame markets than a surplus of logs. He said this surplus was caused by a variety of factors, none of which was salient.

Both union and company officials agreed that work this summer has been steadier than usual partly because there have been fewer fire hazards.

Dio, Hoffa Under Fire At U.S. Probe

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today union leaders interested in the welfare of workers have "no excuse" for associating with Johnny Dio, the racketeering friend of vice-president James R. Hoffa of the teamsters union.

Kennedy said Dio's record is well known and he only entered the labor movement "to exploit it to his own use."

It was "most unfortunate," he added, that Dio "was permitted to play such a prominent part" in New York city labor affairs.

On Wednesday, Kennedy accused teamster union boss James R. Hoffa of an alliance with racketeers in a scheme to take over the U.S. eastern seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Teamsters, Dockers Linked In Reported U.S. Combine

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wall Street Journal says in a copyrighted story that Harry Bridges is seeking to ally his west coast waterfront union with the teamsters union and east coast longshoremen in a huge transport combine.

The story, written under a San Francisco dateline, says he "is very much inclined to join hands with a couple of other fellows who are equally powerful, equally unruly."

"If his ideas are realized, he says very candidly, it would be sensational news not only for the other unions but for America's businessmen and the U.S. government.

"For his friends are Jimmy Hoffa, who seems likely to grab control of the teamsters and get it booted out of the AFL-CIO, and Capt. Bill Bradley, whose east coast longshoremen's union suffered a similar fate four years ago."

In New York, Bradley is quoted as saying his union would negotiate with the teamsters to form an amalgamated transport union but that he would oppose including the west coast dock union as long as the leftwing Bridges heads it.

"There's one thing I know," the Journal quotes Bridges as saying. "If the teamsters and the two dock unions got together they'd represent more economic power than the combined AFL-CIO.

"If the AFL-CIO meets us head-on, we'd knock the stuffings out of them. We'd fight on their own ground and win."

The journal says "this is a prospect that AFL-CIO leaders have been worrying about plenty, in private."

Pearkes Explains Plan For 4 New Sub Killers

OTTAWA (CP)—Preliminary planning for four new destroyer escorts has been launched by the defence production department, but Defence Minister Pearkes said today the government is not committed to building any number.

Early work on these additions to the current 14-ship program was initiated before the Progressive Conservative government took office in June, it was learned today. Four vessels of the destroyer escort type would cost around $80,000,000.

The minister said in an interview he has not stopped the preliminary planning for the submarine-killers but added that "we are not committed to the building of any number.

"I would like to see plans for the replacement of naval vessels over a period of years," he added, "but plans have not been finalized."

The plans have not reached the stage where any vessels have been allocated to specific shipyards.

Of the 14 destroyer escorts in the original program, six have been commissioned. Construction of the other eight is expected to be completed next year or in early 1959.

Naval Ship Plan Urgent, Says Husband

A decision on the number of new ships to be built under Canada's naval program should be made "now," Harold Husband, president of the Canadian Ship Building and Ship Repairing Association, said today.

Mr. Husband, who is also president of Victoria Machinery Depot, was commenting on reports from Ottawa that four additional destroyer escorts might be ordered by the defence department.

"If a nucleus of trained staff is to be maintained in the shipbuilding industry," Mr. Husband said, "there must be a continuing naval building program; and it is essential that the decision on the number of new ships proposed be made now.

"This is because of the 'lead time' needed to procure component parts, such as turbines and gears.

"The original 14 destroyer escorts are scheduled to be commissioned by the end of next year."

Mr. Husband pointed out that shipbuilding is a "tremendous factor" in the economy of Victoria, and hoped that half of the new defence contracts would come to the west coast.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, we thank Thee for our friends and fellow workers. We rejoice in the love of our families. Forgive us for thoughtlessness or selfishness which has marred our relationships or hurt those who love us, or misinterpreted the Christian life. Today we would "look unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith," and follow Him in word and deed; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

CF-100 Jet Feared Lost Over Quebec

MONTREAL (CP)—A CF-100 jet fighter was believed to have crashed in the Sept-Iles, Que., area early today while flying from Montreal to Europe, RCAF Air Defence Command headquarters reported.

Missing are Flt. Lt. Kevin P. McNulty, 32, of Thorold, Ont., and FO G. W. Wilding, 20, of Kingston, Ont.

Crews of other planes saw the canopy of the fighter being released. Then the aircraft went into cloud and was not seen again. The RCAF said the release of the canopy indicated the possibility that the plane's two-man crew baled out.

73 Escape Injury

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—A Swiss airliner with 73 persons aboard ground its nose into the runway today on landing at Portela airport en route from New York to Zurich. No one was hurt.

Blind Pensioner Dies, Three Burned in Fire

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 60-year-old blind pensioner was killed and three other persons critically burned in a fire that raced through a downtown frame rooming house today.

Nine others, including six small children, fled the three-story home as flames swept out of control, leaped across a narrow sidewalk and took hold of a house next door.

Families on both sides of the burning building were evacuated and stood with hundreds of other residents who jammed the street as fire equipment from five city stations fought the blaze for more than two hours.

Dead is Reginald Williams.

In hospital and suffering third degree burns were:

Mrs. Christine Warden, 55, in serious condition; Evelyn Cook, 32, in critical condition, and Roderick Cook, 57, Miss Cook's father, in poor condition.

Also in hospital and suffering shock was Marr Sutton, 62, owner of the 40-year-old home.

The families of Sutton's two sons, who shared ground-floor quarters, escaped safely from the building.

Tourists who want to take pictures of Mounties in scarlet uniforms can have a field day next Saturday — but they'll have to go to Seattle.

100,000 See Duke Open Jamboree

SUTTON PARK, England (Reuters) — An estimated 100,000 visitors flocked here today to witness the opening of the 12-day Boy Scout world jubilee jamboree.

More than 25,000 Scouts from 85 nations have pitched thousands of tents in this 750-acre wooded park which was once a royal hunting area owned by King Henry VIII.

The Duke of Gloucester, president of the Boy Scouts' Association in Britain, was chosen to open the jamboree.

Six radio transmitters were set up to flash the message "jubilee jamboree has started" to all corners of the world.

Auto Chase Fatality Charges To Be Laid

(See Page 17)

A charge or charges will be laid in connection with the fatal plunge of a stolen car off Dallas Road on to Stony Beach last Friday, Chief John Blackstock said today.

He added any decision on who would be charged, what the charge or charges may be and whether the court would be juvenile or open police court depends upon advice of the city prosecutor.

Part of the decision rests on a transcript of evidence of Tuesday's inquest into the death of Gunnar Stebeck, 13, for which police are waiting.

Second CN Train Derailed; 2 Injured

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian National Railways officials said here the Toronto section of the west-bound Super Continental passenger train was derailed early today at Burwash, 20 miles south of Sudbury, injuring two passengers.

This was the second derailment for the CNR in five days. The eastbound Continental streamliner was derailed Sunday at Nourse, 36 miles east of Winnipeg, injuring 86.

Today six cars were derailed at Burwash. In Sudbury hospital with possible concussion is Holly Ristau, four months old, of Winnipeg. Also injured was Miss D. Nault of Fort Garry. She suffered bruises to the left shoulder.

Officials said they did not know the cause of the accident.

A CNR official at North Bay said the nine-car train was travelling at about 50 miles an hour when the last six cars left the track. None of the cars tipped over but the last car ended at a 45-degree angle.

The derailment ripped up the station platform at Burwash and about 900 feet of track.

The train was carrying about 120 passengers.

Dior New Look Will Get Lots of Looks

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Wolf-whistle bosoms and slack-waisted, hip-hugging sheaths set the pace in fashion czar Christian Dior's new "spindle-line" collection showed today.

Hemlines were almost forgotten as necklines fell. Actually the hemlines are a modest mid-calf, or perhaps 15 inches from the floor.

That's shorter for Dior, who liked them long last season. It ranges him with the conservatives this time, for half the houses have shown them just covering the knee.

A new half-shell bra, strapless, backless and without fastenings, permits the most eye-popping decolletage to be seen outside the Folies Bergere.

It appears only for cocktail and evening. Most daytime bosoms are far too flat to deserve the name. The great mystery is how Dior can create opposite effects with the same girls in the same show.

Suits and dresses look tacked to the tummy and loose in the back. But both short and long formal sheaths are innocent of any wastline at all—while they grip the hips and hug the legs.

Sarong dresses for cocktail time and evening wrap the figure and tie with a bow under one breast.

Straight out of the 1920s are beaded sheaths and even one bead-fringed sheath. One model twice had to get help to disentangle her heels from the hem fringe of a hobble-tight floor-length sheath of black velvet.

Only a little "V" slit, discreetly filled in, at the back of the knees keeps Dior's slim skirts from being real hobblers, while his big ones stand out like balloons, stiffened with crinoline petticoats.

That lowest-ever neckline is sometimes saved in the nick of time by a rose tucked in the middle, and sometimes bordered with an undulating fringe of feathers. One was mink topped.

JEALOUS OF NOVA SCOTIA

Bluenosers Have Red-Coated Mountie; Warren Red-Faced

Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren is jealous of Nova Scotia.

He is jealous because Nova Scotia has scarlet-uniformed Mounties on duty at leading tourist points while British Columbia has none.

He has therefore written to the Nova Scotia Industrial and Tourist Promotion division at Halifax asking them where they get the pull.

Mr. Warren has been battling for months for a scarlet-coated Mountie (or Mounties) to be stationed outside the Legislative Buildings during the tourist season.

He has been continually rebuffed, although U.S. tourists repeatedly write in asking: "Where can we see a Mountie on Vancouver Island?"

Now the Bellingham Herald of Washington has taken up this cry with a leading editorial entitled: "Where Are the Mounties?"

GEORGE I. WARREN
. . . efforts thwarted

"I understand Nova Scotia does not suffer from this problem," Mr. Warren said. "They tell me Mounties are on duty for tourists at the Wedgeport Tuna Derby and are stationed on the dockside at Yarmouth when U.S. boats arrive.

"I have written to Nova Scotia's tourist division to try and find out how they get this co-operation from the RCMP when we are unable to get any."

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island has written to the Canadian government in Ottawa asking why this attraction is denied to B.C. visitors.

RAF Jets Renew Attack on Rebels

SHARJAH, Arabian Trucial Oman (Reuters) — RAF jet fighter planes took off again today in their continuing battle to blast targets held by forces rebelling against the British-backed sultan of Muscat and Oman.

The targets were military ones, held by the Iman of Oman, the rebel leader, and 48 hours warning was given so that civilian inhabitants in the attacked areas could take cover.

At the same time, there was increased speculation here that the sultan's ground forces, possibly supported by Trucial Oman scouts—local levies led by British soldiers—would begin to close in on rebel strongholds within the next few days.

INSPECTS AREA

The speculation sprang up despite a news blackout imposed on correspondents here. But it coincided with the arrival from Cyprus of Lt.-Gen. Sir Geoffrey Bourne, commander-in-chief of Britain's Middle East land forces, in Bahrein on his way to Muscat.

A spokesman in Bahrein said Bourne had come "to have a look at the area of operations in Oman."

Meanwhile, there was no official reply to Cairo reports that the sultan's brother, Said Tarik bin Taimur, had been captured in a battle with the Iman's troops near the rebel stronghold of Ebri in central Oman.

U.S. MILITARY WILL DECIDE FOREIGN TRIALS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives armed services committee today voted 31 to 4 to give the United States military the power to decide for the United States whether a serviceman should be turned over for foreign trial for an on-duty offence.

Approval of the bill came in the face of strong administration protest that any law concerning the status-of-forces treaties would harm foreign relations and could lead to foreign insistence on many more trials of United States servicemen.

MUM'S THE WORD

No Comment By Hoxsey Investigator

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. James Mather, chairman of the University of British Columbia's cancer research team, had "absolutely no comment" when he returned Wednesday night from a two-week investigation of the Hoxsey clinic in Dallas, Tex.

He said the team's findings on Hoxsey's claim he is curing cancer will not be completed for at least a month, and he is "not going to release a thing" till then.

The report will be handed to John Ward Patterson, dean of medicine at UBC, who will forward it to provincial Health Minister Eric Martin. Mr. Martin ordered the investigation.

Narcotic King Disappears After Raid

MILAN, Italy (UP)—Police feared today that alleged international narcotics king Constantino Gamba whose operations extended into Canada may have flown the coop following a sudden raid Wednesday night on his drug laboratory here.

The raid was staged as a climax to a painstaking three-nation narcotics investigation by agencies of the United States, Italy and Switzerland.

It was understood that the Gamba laboratory in Milan shipped 154 pounds of heroin to the United States alone, some of it through Canada, last year. This quantity was described by Italian drug experts today as "incredible" and "a veritable artificial dream treasury."

Value was estimated as up to $50,000,000.

Police refused to comment officially today on the raid.

ENGLISH WOMEN MEASURE SAME AS 'VENUS'

LONDON (AP) —The vital statistics of the average British woman are almost the same as those of the Venus de Milo. After a six-year study the board of trade reported today the average British woman measures 37-28-39. The Venus de Milo statue in the Paris Louvre Museum: 37-26-39.

Britain's average woman is just under 5-3 tall. Venus de Milo is 5-4.

Britain's living Venus weighs 136. The armless Venus de Milo's poundage is not calculated.

Board of trade representatives measured more than 5,000 women to help manufacturers and retailers of women's clothes as well as the lady customers.

Auto Workers Face Trial Before Union

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—The United Auto Workers Union will hold a trial of members charged with fomenting a recent shutdown at the Chrysler of Canada plant here, it has been announced.

Thirty-one members of Local 444 are involved in what is believed to be the first trial of its kind conducted by a union in Canada.

The walkout occurred July 12 in alleged violation of the union-company collective agreement which provides machinery for settling disputes.

Union officers said they had no alternative but to take the case before the membership "if the policies of the international and local union mean anything."

The trial will be held at an undetermined date before the union membership with the trial committee drawn by lot. Those found guilty may be fined, suspended or even expelled from the union.

Decision on Milk Strike To Be Made With in a Week

Decision of Victoria milkmen as to whether or not they will strike should be made within a week, a union spokesman said today.

Driver-salesmen of Victoria's four main dairies voted Tuesday and Wednesday 124 to 40 in favor of a walkout.

This could reduce milk deliveries here to a trickle, as the dairies affected handle 90 per cent of the area milk business.

The quarrel is over rejection by the companies of a unanimous conciliation board recommendation of continuation of the present six days a week delivery. The union wants the six-day set-up.

Recommended also was a $30 monthly raise for milkmen, and a $32 boost for inside workers in plants.

About 165 milkmen of four companies are involved. Companies are Palm Dairies Ltd., Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association and Northwestern Creamery Ltd.

Emergency deliveries, such as to hospitals, would be worked out in the event of a strike, union business agent Ben McCrone said today.

He said it was hard for the union to understand why employers had rejected the conciliation board stand when the employer representative, Philip Fleming, had himself endorsed the six-day continuation.

Dairies say they can't afford this they claim.

If a strike comes off, farmers of the area would have to sell their milk elsewhere or make arrangements for distributing it themselves.

There are about 110 producers in the area and production value at the farmer's level is $135,000 a month.

Airliner Cleared For Bomb Search

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Fifty-six Seattle-bound passengers were evacuated from a United Airlines' DC-6 at Vancouver's international airport Wednesday night after the airline was told by an anonymous phone caller that a bomb had been placed aboard the plane.

All baggage was unloaded on the Tarmac, but an hour-long search of the four-engined aircraft revealed no bomb. It was the second time United Airlines have received "bomb" warnings here in the last three weeks.

FIRE RAZES BUILDING

VANCOUVER—Occupants of an adjacent rooming house were evacuated today at the height of a fire in the east end of the downtown area. Equipment from three halls fought the blaze in a building housing the Ace Container Company and the Vancouver Plumbing Company.

The building was destroyed. About 20 persons will be out of work because of the fire.

STRIKE VOTE ASKED

VANCOUVER — Application has been made for a government-supervised strike vote among non-medical staff at Vernon Hospital, business manager Bill Black of the Hospital Employees' Union Local 180, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Black said the 80 workers concerned would "strike if necessary" to get what was recommended by a conciliation board. The board's recommendation called for a 10-cent hourly general increase for men, retroactive to Jan. 1, and $7.50 a month on the basic rates. For women, five cents an hour was recommended.

Present Setup Spells UN Doom; Churchill

LONDON (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill warned the American Bar Association Wednesday night the operation of the United Nations must be improved or "the whole structure may be brought to nothing."

Proposing a toast to the legal profession at a dinner ending the American lawyers' stay here, Churchill said the UN General Assembly had been "vastly swollen" in size beyond the "intention of its architects."

"I do not throw in my lot with those who say Britain should leave the UN," the aging statesman said, "but it is certain that if the assembly continues to take its decisions on grounds of enmity, opportunism or merely jealousy and petulance, the whole system may be brought to nothing."

Churchill said the U.N. had failed in many cases — "Hungary does creep across my mind," — and warned that justice couldn't be a hit or miss system.

Nazi Plot to Put Duke Back on Throne Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grandiose Nazi plot in 1940 to put the Duke of Windsor back on the British throne — at a price — has been revealed in top secret documents captured by the Allies and just made public.

The papers are among 415 German messages and reports unveiled Wednesday night simultaneously by the U.S. state department and the British foreign office.

The British government labelled the documents as "necessarily a much tainted source." It said the Duke of Windsor "never wavered in his loyalty to the British cause." The duke called the part about him "complete fabrication and . . . gross distortions of truth."

The German documents cover the period June 23-Aug. 31, 1940. France had fallen in a six-week blitzkreig. Britain braced for invasion. The United States was divided—intervene or stay out? And a prime aim of Hitler's policy was to keep the United States neutral.

In the papers, published as part of an historical project to illumine Hitler's years, 1933-45, foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop emerges as the mastermind of the Duke of Windsor plot. Ribbentrop later was hanged as a war criminal.

The plot, as recited by Ribbentrop, went this way:

The duke and the duchess were to be made a proposition. It was this: Denounce the duke's brother, King George VI, and then Prime Minister Churchill. Appeal to the British people to surrender. In exchange, the duke and the duchess for whom he gave up throne in 1936 could become king and queen of a Britain defeated by Hitler. Or he could go anywhere and live "a life suitable for a king," with Hitler paying the bills.

The duke and duchess were en route to the Bahamas, where he was to be a British governor. They stopped off in Lisbon.

A go-between made the first major contact. He was Spain's interior minister, Ramon Serrano Suner, a close friend of the duke and brother-in-law of the Spanish dictator, Francisco Franco. The documents indicate Franco approved the whole idea.

The chief problem, as the Nazis saw it, was "the pronouncedly English mentality of the duke." So they set out to scare him with phony bombs and other "threats" to his and his wife's lives.

Eighteen Nazi spies were detailed to watch their movement. These agents saw to it that Portuguese police unmasked Scotland Yard and British intelligence operatives. "Traces of an infernal machine bomb" were discovered. The duchess got whispered warnings, an anonymous letter and flowers with a card pointing to peril.

In the midst of it all, Sir Walter Monckton arrived in Lisbon. He was the duke's legal adviser and then deputy foreign minister.

In the end, the duke and duchess caught their ship, the American line Excalibur. It sailed with them from Lisbon the evening of Aug. 1, 1940—exactly 17 years ago today.

Disgustedly, the Nazis reported: "The Spanish plan collapsed completely."

The duke, in a statement from London Wednesday said persons he found to be pro-Nazi sympathizers" tried to persuade him to go to Spain instead of the Bahamas. He added:

"At no time did I ever entertain any thought of complying with such suggestions, which I treated with the contempt they deserved . . ."

Trans Mountain Reports Boost In Net Profits

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co. has announced consolidated net profit of $5,629,000 for the first six months of the year, compared with $2,608,000 in the same period last year.

President D. M. Morrison said deliveries through the company's pipeline averaged 183,316 barrels a day for the first half of 1957 compared with 109,436 barrels daily in the first half of 1956. Gross revenue was $16,573,000 compared with $9,701,000.

He said the company will begin work shortly on construction of a deep sea tanker dock on Vancouver's Burrard Inlet capable of accommodating vessels up to 60,000 tons deadweight.

No Word After Bennett Meets Federal Minister

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and new federal Public Works Minister Howard Green met for 90 minutes in Vancouver Wednesday, but neither had much to say afterwards.

"It was not a meeting to come to any decisions or make definite proposals," the premier said today, "but was just a discussion of broad principles of the relationships of the two governments."

Main purpose of the meeting was to establish a "friendly basis" in federal-provincial relations, said Mr. Green.

Premier Bennett also said that he hopes that a federal-provincial conference will be held before the opening of parliament in October.

Fleming Named To Bank Post

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker has announced that Finance Minister Fleming has been appointed the Canadian governor of the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. These posts previously were held by former Finance Minister Harris in the Liberal government. Mr. Fleming will be attending the annual meetings of these two constitutions in Washington in September, the announcement said.

Abitibi Earnings For 6 Months Drop

TORONTO (CP) — Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd., had net earnings in the six months ended June 30 of $6,583,235 or $1.51 a share, compared with $7,990,684 or $1.85 a share in the corresponding period last year.

D. W. Ambridge, president, said in a message to shareholders that decline in net earnings was due to a great extent to the premium on the Canadian dollar in terms of the American, and to continuing increases in costs of production.

CPR Net Earnings Drop $325,296

MONTREAL (CP) — The CPR has reported net earnings of $15,145,080 for the first six months this year compared with $15,470,376 in the corresponding period last year.

In Colwood RCMP court Wednesday:

Daniel Walter Adamson, Westview, $10 and $5 costs for failing to stop when requested by police.

Donald Graham, 1293 Goldstream, $35 and $9.50 costs for careless driving.

Policemen After 'The Wild Ones'

THANKSGIVING SUNDAY FOR CENTENARY NAMED

The provincial cabinet today set aside Sunday, April 27, next year, as a special day of Thanksgiving for British Columbians to count their blessings.

It will be marked in connection with the province's centennial celebrations.

All religious denominations will be urged to recognize the Thanksgiving.

Special proclamations will be read in churches that day.

MONTE ROBERTS

A cryptic note has just arrived via the Canadian Press teletype.

And this cryptic note has plunged me into darkest gloom.

For the note says, in CP fashion:

"EDITORS ANY MEMBER UNPUBLISHING MONDAY AUG. 5 PLEASE ADVISE CP VCR 1-8-57 MB929A"

The reason this cryptic note plunged me into darkest gloom is, the Daily Times in NOT unpublishing on Monday, Aug. 5.

In this unenlightened part of the world, Monday, Aug. 5, is just anoher Monday, filled with cold tomato juice, remorse, aching backs, and snarling faces headed officewards.

In some parts of the world, Monday, Aug. 5, is a real dandy day.

It is a day on which to put up one's feet and to sit on the small of one's back, and to do nothing.

It is a day on which unpublishing, as the CP puts it, is the thing to do.

It is a day on which the general public is not afflicted by columnists writing things in newspapers, and a day on which columnists are not afflicted by writing the things which get into newspapers.

In brief, in some parts of the world Monday, Aug. 5, is a holiday.

As in so many instances, credit for Monday, Aug. 5, being a holiday goes to Over 'Ome.

Over 'Ome, the sensible folk decided they needed a holiday in August, so the sensible folk simply said the first Monday in August would be Bank Holiday.

The banks expressed no objection, and for the past seven or eight hundred years, the first Monday in August has been a holiday.

But what happens in Victoria, this alleged little bit of of Olde England?

Does Victoria follow the stellar example of Over 'Ome?

Victoria does not.

In Victoria, business is as usual, and the Victoria Daily Times will fail to unpublish.

I calls it a ruddy shime, that's what I calls it.

PREMIER LOOKS BACK

SC Anniversary Parties Friday Mark 5th Year

Five years of Social Credit government in British Columbia will be celebrated by Socreds throughout the province Friday.

Premier Bennett will attend a special party at the Georgia Hotel Friday night.

The premier pointed out to reporters today that 9 tonight is actually the official anniversary.

It was at that time on Aug. 1, 1952, that the first Social Credit cabinet was sworn into office.

BIRTHDAY PICNIC

Greater Victoria Social Crediters will celebrate the birthday at a picnic at Beaver Lake Aug. 10 and the premier said he hopes to be able to attend.

At his press conference today, the premier took the occasion to reminisce on his term of office.

"We've done our very best," the premier said, "and as we start the next five years I pledge that our sole concern will be the betterment of the people of B.C.

The province will see even greater developments in the next five years than those of the last five, he said.

What would they be?

'IN DUE COURSE'

"Announcements will be made in due course," said Mr. Bennett.

In the past five years the government has endeavored "as no other government in Canada has endeavored" to keep out patronage.

The direct debt of the province has been steadily reduced, the premier said, until today it stands at only $62,598,103.

Within two years it will be totally wiped out and "greater benefits" will accrue to the people of the province.

Whether these take the form of increased services or tax cuts will be decided by the legislature, said the premier.

PROUD OF 'LIABILITIES'

As for the province's "contingent liabilities," which now total more than $250,000,000, the premier said:

"We're not ashamed of them. We're very proud of them."

These contingent liabilities constitute the borrowings of government agencies such as the PGE and Power Commission which are guaranteed by the government.

Defending his program of reducing the direct debt, the premier said:

"If I didn't use the money for debt reduction, I could really have made a showing. If I had been out to spend, spend, spend."

But now the government has a "much more solid financial base" than in 1952.

Young Drivers Get 'Book', Says Chief on Crackdown

Police Chief Blackstock said today his department wants to net a big catch of "the wild ones"—the irresponsible young drivers who are piling up a bad driving record in the Victoria.

"Then they'll be given the book," he added. "We intend to put the fear of God into them."

The chief was endorsing Victoria Police Commission's stand that young lawbreaking drivers must be eliminated.

He said the crackdown will be extended to all drivers with special attention to drivers in their early twenties, "another group which constitutes a traffic hazard."

Chief Blackstock would not reveal his detailed plans to combat the lawlessness, but said the pattern will be evident when the campaign starts.

The commission stand has focused attention on the need for driver training of teenagers.

George I. Warren, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Automobile Club advocated a safe driving program instituted in the schools.

"Young people should be taught not only how to handle a car, but as much as possible about its potential dangers."

JAIL REPEATERS

A Victoria insurance man said repeaters in traffic violations when their licences were under suspension should be sentenced to jail "where they can't get their hands on a car."

The police commission is giving consideration to a plan used widely in the United States. There, points where crashes have occurred and persons have died are marked for other drivers.

There is the thought that marking of such points here might upset relatives and sensitive persons, but the value in life-saving of the deterrent markings is believed to outweigh this consideration.

WRECKED CARS AS EXHIBITS AT SCHOOLS?

Cars wrecked in serious accidents should be exhibited in Victoria high schools as an object lesson to students who are either driving or expecting to become drivers.

The suggestion comes from Arnold Webb, secretary of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who says this method of combatting dangerous driving has been used in some cities of the United States.

"It might be tried here in view of the crackdown on traffic violations," he said.

Bottle Threat Charge Up To Police—Golby

Chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board said today the board will take "no action" on a letter from Esquimalt police commission asking whether teacher Pat Thomas intends to lay charges against a youth who allegedly threatened his life at Esquimalt High School May 31.

"The charge should be laid by the police, not by Mr. Thomas," chairman W. H. Golby said.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, chairman of the police commission, said earlier the commission "will take no further action at the moment."

"We're awaiting an answer from the school board," he said.

Through his lawyer, J. Alan Baker, Mr. Thomas has written the police commission asking for a definite stand from the police.

"Unless they indicate whether or not they intend to press charges, Mr. Thomas cannot decide to lay a personal charge," Mr. Baker said.

Mayor's Delay on Circle Rankles Two Aldermen

Two aldermen today strongly objected to Mayor Percy Scurrah's action in further delaying revamping of the Fountain Circle and establishment of the Faustman one-way traffic plan on a trial basis.

The mayor Wednesday held up ordering the materials for the work because, he said, council had not considered it would mean lights and other equipment would have to be installed on a permanent basis.

He wants the whole question reviewed because the cost would be much higher than council expected.

Alderman M. H. Mooney and Hugh Ramsay said the mayor's action will only lead to further delays.

"The mayor acted wrongly," said Ald. Mooney. "The lights must be installed and the circle torn up if the plan is to be given a fair trial."

Ald. Mooney said he was not altogether surprised at the mayor's action.

"I felt business pressure group would try to delay the plan," he said. "I don't see why the mayor took such action as the majority of businesses in the Hillside and Douglas area are in favor of the scheme."

Ald. Hugh Ramsay said the mayor's action will only lead to a further hassle.

"I have never been in favor of the traffic plan," he said, "but as we hired and paid an expert to solve the problem we should give it a trial."

He said the only way the plan can be given a fair trial is to install the lights and tear up the circle. If not satisfactory, he said, the city could use the lights elsewhere.

"I feel that the public is getting tired of this roundabout problem," he said. "We should have the courage to try out the plan as elected representatives of the people."

COMPANIES' REGISTRAR MOVES INTO FORMER LCB WAREHOUSE

The old Temple Building at Fort and Langley, formerly occupied by the Liquor Control Board, has been taken over by the government.

After renovations are completed, the files and offices of the provincial registrar of companies will be moved out of the main Parliament Building into the new premises.

The Liquor Board moved into the old B.C. Electric Building adjoining the Temple Building last year.

A cabinet order-in-council today approved the transfer of the property and building from the LCB to the department of public works for $40,000.

Gulf Islands Ferry Given More Subsidy

Special subsidy given to Coast Ferries Ltd. for operation of the Lady Rose between Ganges and Vancouver was increased today.

Last Feb. 6 the government agreed to a $500 monthly subsidy to the company for the next six months.

Since that time ferry crew members were granted wage increases and the company said it could not continue operations without more government aid.

Today the government scrapped the first agreement as of June 20 and agreed to pay a total of $7,000 between that date and Oct. 31 of this year. This amounts to approximately $1,600 a month.

The wage increases were granted after the crewmen struck to back up their demands.

The ferry makes stops at Galiano, Mayne, North Pender and Saturna Islands as well as Steveston on the Lower Mainland.

City Militiamen In Port Renfrew Battle Practice

Victoria militia troops will conduct a battle-reconnaissance scheme in the rugged Port Renfrew area Friday to Sunday night.

Members of Support, Headquarters and "E" Companies of Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will camp Friday night at Burnt Bridge, near Shawnigan Lake, arriving about noon Saturday at Port Renfrew.

They will march to the beach from Fairy Lake. From there, with an attached section of 13 Field Ambulance, troops will conduct patrols of reconnaissance, aggressive and fighter nature.

Arrival back in Victoria is set for about 6 p.m. via trucks used for initial movement.

In command of the exercise will be Capt. L. Beddington, assisted by Capt. H. A. Davie.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Following a month's reconstruction program, the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday reopened its enlarged second floor nurses' chartroom and 19-bed ward.

An unusual hybrid Auratum lily has been grown in the garden of W. E. Lake, R.R. 1, Saanichton. The plant is more than 36 inches tall and carries six blooms, each eight to 10 inches in diameter, Mr. Lake said today.

NOT SO BAD

For July, Weather Half Decent

July wasn't such a bad month after all, according to statistics prepared today by Bob Verge, substitute weatherman at Gonzales Observatory.

There were 287.6 hours of bright sunshine, or 47.6 less than normal, and eight days with rain instead of the usual four.

And what was the total rainfall for a month that seemed to be a succession of storms and rainshowers?

"One miserable inch," said the weatherman. Normal for the month is 0.48 inch.

Other weather facts were: mean temperature 58.4 degrees, or 1.7 degrees below normal; maximum temperature, 71.6 degrees July 18; minimum, 47.4 degrees July 7; total precipitation since Jan. 1, 13.30 inches, normal; total sunshine since Jan. 1, 1,376.5 hours, or 28.5 hours below normal.

Little change is predicted in the forecast for tonight and Friday, which calls for sunny skies with a few cloudy periods, and temperatures ranging between 52 and 70 degrees.

A total of 24 organizations requested financial assistance.

The committee took into consideration the financial needs of the various organizations before approving the grants.

The grants are as follows:

The YMCA, $3,500 and YWCA, $2,500, given mainly to defray the cost of their taxes.

Victoria Girls' Drill Corps, $200 to defray costs of a special trip to California where they participated in a Lions International parade.

SWIMMERS GET BRIEFING TONIGHT

Eighteen entrants in the Juan de Fuca mass swim attempt will meet in the Junior Chamber of Commerce board room at 8 tonight for a final briefing.

They'll hear the rules and regulations, ranging from restrictions against touching the guide boat to the fact they must return immediately from Port Angeles—if they reach Port Angeles.

Start is scheduled from Horseshoe Bay, Beacon Hill Park, at noon Sunday, with Mayor Percy Scurrah firing the take-off gun.

If the swim from Victoria to Port Angeles is completed, the first person to touch the U.S. shore will win $5,000; second, $2,500; third, $1,500; fourth, $1,000.

If no contestant makes the crossing, smaller awards will be made on the basis of direct mileage (based on air-line calculations) from Horseshoe Bay to Ediz Hook.

To win, a contestant must have been in the water six hours. If after that period the swim is called off by Jaycee officials, the swimmer who is closest to Ediz Hook will win $2,500. Second prize will be $1,250; third $750; fourth $500.

'Shattered Shakespeare' Quoted on Serviettes

By PENNY SAVER

Maybe my sense of humor is a bit off-beat, but I found myself giggling happily as I thumbed through a packet of paper cocktail serviettes printed with "shattered Shakespeare." The quotes from Shakespeare's plays are straightforward—it was the cartoons illustrating them that amused me.

One shows a young couple on a sofa, the boy dropping a quarter into the girl's little brother's hand. The quote is "Never make known what you have seen tonight" from Hamlet. "If you have tears, prepare to shed them now" from Julius Caesar is illustrated by a cartoon of a wife confronting her husband while a car with a badly crumpled fender is visible through the window.

A packet of 24 serviettes, each different, will cost you $1.

Milk-white Swedish glass is used to fashion gracefully shaped table accessories. My favorite piece was a low bowl on a tall pedestal, which could be filled with colorful fruit for a buffet or mantle. It's $3.50.

A pedestal cake plate, which also could be used for an arrangement of fruit, is $6, and a cream and sugar set is $4.25. Heavy ashtrays are $2.75.

Also from Sweden are tiny coffee spoons, suitable for demi-tasse service, of shiny electro-plated nickel service. They come in an assortment of designs, both traditionally ornate and modernly simple. They're $1 each.

Amusing little fruit knives have ceramic handles representing gaily-colored vegetables. I picked out peas, corn, carrots, radishes and eggplant, but the rest weren't recognizable, by me anyway. These are also $1.

I found two very attractive sets of china today—one splashed with colorful flowers, the other austerely plain.

The flowered one is English semi-porcelain, and would be lovely for breakfast or lunch. It's called "Belle Fiore" and looks very much Italian inspired. A 66-piece set is $37.50, and it is also available in open stock.

The other is pure white bone china with narrow gold edging and a tiny cluster of green and gold flowers in the centre of each piece. Dinner plates are $5.50, cups and saucers $2.75.

I'll be pleased to tell you where I shopped today if you give me a call at 2-3131.

"This couldn't possibly have any connection with the August fur sales, could it?"

On Etiquette

Should Fifth Wheel Beg Off?

My husband travels a great deal on business, leaving me in a peculiar position when friends invite us to a dinner party. If I say that my husband will be out of town that evening, the hostess feels obligated to tell me to come anyway, which means that she will have to scurry around and find an extra man to balance her table plan. Would it be better to tell a little white lie and say that we are otherwise engaged that night? I do hate being a fifth wheel.

Louise Davis Answers: I hesitate to recommend the little white lie, for it might catch up with you. I wouldn't worry about being a fifth wheel. But if you really would prefer not going, and if you feel that your hostess must hunt up an extra man, you can always beg out by asking for a rain-check before your hostess gets the chance to say "We'd love to have you come anyway." If you are faced with such dinner invitations in the future under the same circumstances, you can plan some special projects for the times that your husband is away, and, in that case, you will have a definite commitment which would prevent you from fibbing. But if your hostess convinces you that she wants you to come to her party anyway, and if you wish to go (providing your husband wouldn't mind), why worry about being a fifth wheel? Go ahead and have fun. There are lots of fifth wheels around who are charming and interesting and who add zest to any social group. An extra woman isn't going to spoil a party and hostesses don't always have to go on a search for a male partner for the evening.

There will be stalls of home cooking, superfluities, aprons, men's wear, fancy work, baby wear, books, antiques, flowers, vegetables and games and ice cream. Bride Wears Lace Sheath

An heirloom wedding gown of floor-length white French lace was chosen by Miss Helen Betty-Ann Pickering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berne Pickering of Oliver, B.C., for her recent marriage to Sub-Lt. James Fraser Cowie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cowie of Regina. The bride's sheath gown featured tapering sleeves and a scooped neckline. Her veil of fingertip illusion net was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses.

The Chapel of St. Andrew in HMCS Naden, arranged with white gladioli, formed the setting for the wedding, at which officiated Chaplain T. L. Jackson. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor, Miss Betty Fowler, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Donald Mooney, wore identical gold sheath dresses with small matching headpieces, and carried bouquets of golden gladioli.

Miss Joanne Williamson, flower girl, wore a dress of turquoise taffeta with flare skirt, and held a basket of white mums. McRae Pickering, brother of the bride, was ring bearer, while Sub.-Lt. Brian Berryman acted as best man. Dudley Coltart and John C. Edwards, fraternity brothers of the groom, ushered.

Mrs. Pickering, mother of the bride, wore a pink lace sheath with flared back, pink accessories and a pastel rose corsage, and Mrs. Cowie, groom's mother, had on a beige lace sheath with pink rose corsage.

A reception after the ceremony was held in HMCS Naden wardroom, where white gladioli decorated the bride's table. The couple cut a three-tiered wedding cake with a sword, and Cmdr. K. C. Cooper proposed a toast to the bride's happiness.

For her honeymoon at Christina Lake, B.C., the new Mrs. Cowie selected a tailored navy worsted suit with pink accessories. She wore a mauve and white orchid corsage. Upon their return, the couple will live on 527 Trutch Street, Victoria.

IN HONOR OF THE BRIDE

Miss Maria Maggiora, August bride-elect, was honored at a recent shower given by the members of the B.C. Studio Artists' Group at the home of Mrs. E. C. Lewis on Despard Avenue. Gifts were placed in a brightly painted, flower-bedecked garden cart, and summer flowers decorated the home.

Miss Shirley Anne Turner, popular August bride-elect, was entertained recently at a shower given by Mrs. C. Godber and Mrs. C. J. Rhode at the home of the former on Agnes Street. Gifts were arranged in a decorated miniature chest. Corsages of pink roses and carnations were presented to the bride-to-be, her mother, Mrs. H. Turner, and to the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. S. Heal. Those present were Mrs. F. Rhode, Sr., Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, Mrs. J. Rainey, Mrs. M. Phillips, Mrs. G. Seaton, Mrs. D. Hoey, Mrs. F. T. Rhode, and Misses Elsie Amyes, Barbara Rainey, Cheryl Rhode and Kerry Godber.

A number of friends recently surprised Mrs. Lillian Foote at her home on Vista Heights, preceding her wedding in early August to Mr. J. Furness, formerly of Hobart, Tasmania. The occasion was also a miscellaneous shower. Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Jackman, Mrs. J. C. Hilton and Mrs. A. Clyde. The guests included Mrs. Alex Coles, Mrs. Ron Coles, Mrs. Walter Holm, Mrs. D. Pearmain, Mrs. R. Kroeger, Mrs. D. McKinnon, Mrs. D. Pearse, Mrs. C. Lee, Mrs. C. Callbeck, Mrs. J. C. Hilton, Mrs. A. Jackman, Mrs. A. Clyde and Miss Isobel Atchison.

Miss Iona Thormoe, August bride-elect, was honored recently at a shower held by Miss Vivian Thomas at her home on John Street. Corsages of pink gladioli were presented to the bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. F. Thormoe. Gifts were placed in an umbrella decorated in pastel shades, and streamers brightened the room. Guests included Mrs. Zora Poulton, Mrs. J. Thomas, and Misses Sherry Wallis, Dina Mackenzie, Marlene Smith, Roselyn Matthews, Carol Cranton, Arlene Cannon, Arlene Williams, Connie Van Wart, Pat Winterburn, Marilyn Barton, Pat Simpson, Fran Randall, Margaret Smith, Joy Saunders, Sylvia Thompson and Truelane Thormoe.

CREAMY SWEET-SOUR CUCUMBERS

Two tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup heavy cream, 1½ teaspoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1½ tablespoons instant minced onion or 1 small raw onion finely chopped (about ¼ cup), 2 medium-size cucumbers.

Blend vinegar slowly into cream; add sugar, salt, paprika and onion. Set aside several hours in refrigerator to chill. Peel and thinly slice cucumbers; chill. Too Soon

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau recently had a call at City Hall from six-year-old Jacques Pageau, who came to present the city with a turtle for a proposed children's zoo. The mayor joined the boy in watching the turtle crawl about the office for a while, then asked him to "board" it until the zoo is opened.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Follow the Rules And Enjoy Health

I do not mean to take the joy out of life for you but rather to add to it and therefore I wonder if you have any idea how many serious physical troubles can be traced to poor health habits over the years?

Also many of the dragging, irritating, small but unpleasant disabilities can be placed at the door of unhygienic living, indulged in over a long period of time.

There is almost as great a difference between truly good health and fair health as there is between fair health and illness. The rules and habits which might lift you from the fatigue of fair health to the heady pep of good health seem so simple that they are usually disregarded.

Here are a few of them:

1. Worry less.
2. Laugh more.
3. Keep your interest in outdoor sports but scale them to your age and capability.
4. Take short rest periods daily, whenever possible.
5. Eat in a relaxed mood without hurry.
6. Eat a well-balanced diet.
7. Get enough sleep.
8. Improve your posture.
9. Increase your interests.
10. Exercise daily.
11. Have yearly or semi-yearly physical checkups, depending on your age and condition.
12. Forget destructive age consciousness and live vibrantly in the present.

Even the addition of a few of these suggestions applied to your daily lives will make a great difference. If you stick to a routine of this sort for a few weeks I think you will be happily rewarded.

They are within the reach of everyone. Stunning results in figure and complexion and energy and happiness will result.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Some women rub and scrub at their dishes. Cooking utensils are easy to wash if rinsed and put to soak immediately after use. Cold-water soaking is recommended for those that held milk, egg, cheese mixtures or dough. For greasy or sticky ones that had sweet mixtures, use hot water.

For smart gracious entertaining serve Sherry or champagne with appetizers. Sherry may be served at room temperature or chilled; champagne is always well chilled, as are all sparkling wines.

A CAC Fact

Did you know that there are probably over 3,000 different types of toys on the Canadian market at any one time? Can you tell which ones children really like, which kinds are really worthwhile buying? The Canadian Association of Consumers has a great interest in toys and its very active Toy-Testing Committee is the only one of its kind in Canada. The manufacturers of Canadian toys welcome the help of this committee which is helping them to improve their product. Reports on the toys tested are available to members of the Canadian Association of Consumers. When you join the CAC, you forward the best interests of your children's development.

RUSSIAN HOCKEY ACES PLAN CANADIAN TOUR

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — The Kitchener-Waterloo Record says the Russian national hockey team which defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to win the world and Olympic hockey title in Cortina, Italy, in 1956, may tour Canada next winter.

Secretary-manager George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said today the Russians are interested in making the tour. He was unable to give details.

Big 3 Ministers Wrestle on Deal For Arms Curbs

LONDON (UP)—The Big Three foreign ministers met today for the first time since the Suez war to try to break down remaining western differences on how to win a first-step disarmament agreement from Russia.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew here from Paris and joined Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in talks at the Foreign Office. Later they were joined by Canadian disarmament delegate David Johnson.

They had two big problems: (1) Details on a map showing "open skies" and ground inspection areas of Europe on both sides of the Iron Curtain, and (2) a joint paper recording all the Western proposals for a first-step disarmament agreement.

Pineau announced after the meeting that he will fly to Washington Sept. 7 for further talks with Dulles. The purpose was not explained immediately.

The French foreign minister said today's Western talks ranged over problems of nuclear test suspension and the zones of aerial and ground inspection—the latter "a matter of particular interest to the European nations."

On nuclear tests he said it still is the Western view that suspension should be linked to cessation of production of fissionable material for military use.

A two-hour man-to-man session between Pineau and Dulles was held at lunch. Official sources indicated Algeria and the Middle East came up, as well as disarmament.

Russ to Hear 'Open Skies' Plan

Informed sources said the four Western powers agreed to have U.S. disarmament delegate Harold E. Stassen begin presenting the joint "open skies" plan to the Soviets in the five-power UN disarmament subcommittee Friday or next week.

U.S. delegation sources said Stassen's presentation of the new Western plan and his step-by-step explanation of it to Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin would require two weeks more of meetings here.

Informed sources said this morning's meeting was concerned with smoothing out various differences among the Western powers on the presentation of the plan.

Friday's meeting, already twice postponed, is expected to approve a report to the parent disarmament committee and request permission for continued meetings of the subcommittee. It was believed Zorin had agreed to this Wednesday at lunch with Dulles and other Western delegation chiefs.

'Teen' Gang Held For Murder Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Nine teenage boys were held without bail today for a hearing Aug. 20 on charges of homicide growing out of the fatal stabbing of a polio-handicapped boy and the critical knifing of his companion Tuesday night.

The youthful prisoners showed no remorse and offered police very little co-operation in their investigation of the battle, police told Magistrate Francis X. O'Brien.

In addition to the nine, eight others, all under 16 years of age, were sent to children's court charged with juvenile delinquency.

Teamsters, Dockers Linked In Reported U.S. Combine

NEW YORK (AP)—The Wall Street Journal says in a copyrighted story that Harry Bridges is seeking to ally his west coast waterfront union with the teamsters union and east coast longshoremen in a huge transport combine.

The story, written under a San Francisco dateline, says he "is very much inclined to join hands with a couple of other fellows who are equally powerful, equally unruly."

"If his ideas are realized, he says very candidly, it would be sensational news not only for the other unions but for America's businessmen and the U.S. government.

"For his friends are Jimmy Hoffa, who seems likely to grab control of the teamsters and get it booted out of the AFL-CIO, and Capt. Bill Bradley, whose east coast longshoremen's union suffered a similar fate four years ago."

In New York, Bradley is quoted as saying his union would negotiate with the teamsters to form an amalgamated transport union but that he would oppose including the west coast dock union as long as the leftwing Bridges heads it.

"There's one thing I know," the Journal quotes Bridges as saying. "If the teamsters and the two dock unions got together they'd represent more economic power than the combined AFL-CIO.

"If the AFL-CIO meets us head-on, we'd knock the stuffings out of them. We'd fight on their own ground and win."

The journal says "this is a prospect that AFL-CIO leaders have been worrying about plenty, in private."

Pearkes Explains Plan For 4 New Sub Killers

OTTAWA (CP)—Preliminary planning for four new destroyer escorts has been launched by the defence production department, but Defence Minister Pearkes said today the government is not committed to building any number.

★ ★ ★

Early work on these additions to the current 14-ship program was initiated before the Progressive Conservative government took office in June, it was learned today. Four vessels of the destroyer escort type would cost around $80,000,000.

The minister said in an interview he has not stopped the preliminary planning for the submarine-killers but added that "we are not committed to the building of any number.

"I would like to see plans for the replacement of naval vessels over a period of years," he added, "but plans have not been finalized."

The plans have not reached the stage where any vessels have been allocated to specific shipyards.

Of the 14 destroyer escorts in the original program, six have been commissioned. Construction of the other eight is expected to be completed next year or in early 1959.

Naval Ship Plan Urgent, Says Husband

A decision on the number of new ships to be built under Canada's naval program should be made "now," Harold Husband, president of the Canadian Ship Building and Ship Repairing Association, said today.

Mr. Husband, who is also president of Victoria Machinery Depot, was commenting on reports from Ottawa that four additional destroyer escorts might be ordered by the defence department.

"If a nucleus of trained staff is to be maintained in the shipbuilding industry," Mr. Husband said, "there must be a continuing naval building program; and it is essential that the decision on the number of new ships proposed be made now.

"This is because of the 'lead time' needed to procure component parts, such as turbines and gears.

"The original 14 destroyer escorts are scheduled to be commissioned by the end of next year."

Mr. Husband pointed out that shipbuilding is a "tremendous factor" in the economy of Victoria, and hoped that half of the new defence contracts would come to the west coast.

Second CN Train Derailed; 2 Injured

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian National Railways officials said here the Toronto section of the west-bound Super Continental passenger train was derailed early today at Burwash, 20 miles south of Sudbury, injuring two passengers.

This was the second derailment for the CNR in five days. The eastbound Continental streamliner was derailed Sunday at Nourse, 36 miles east of Winnipeg, injuring 86.

Today six cars were derailed at Burwash. In Sudbury hospital with possible concussion is Holly Ristau, four months old, of Winnipeg. Also injured was Miss D. Nault of Fort Garry. She suffered bruises to the left shoulder.

Officials said they did not know the cause of the accident.

A CNR official at North Bay said the nine-car train was travelling at about 50 miles an hour when the last six cars left the track. None of the cars tipped over but the last car ended at a 45-degree angle.

The derailment ripped up the station platform at Burwash and about 900 feet of track.

The train was carrying about 120 passengers.

Far as I can figure out Mr. Bennett's theory, everything costs too much money these days—including money.

Denies B.C. Taxes Causing Layoffs

The most serious problem facing B.C. lumber operators in marketing their product is the high value of the Canadian dollar, Premier Bennett said today.

"I would suggest they should take the matter up with the federal government forthwith," the premier said.

A drop in the value of our dollar would be the "best help" to the lumber industry, he said.

The premier denied that excessive provincial taxation was responsible for some of the troubles now besetting lumbermen.

The 5½ per cent premium on the dollar which exporters face is more than all the provincial taxes put together, Mr. Bennett said.

Pressed as to what he would do to remedy the situation, the premier said:

"Another government has that responsibility."

"The high-priced dollar is Canada's number one problem today," the premier said.

At the same time, Mr. Bennett said he promised no concessions to lumber operators during negotiations last month which averted a strike of 32,000 coast woodworkers.

"The premier can make no commitments like that," he said.

A union leader charged in Vancouver that lumber operators had agreed to pay a 7½ per cent wage increase as an attempt to get tax concessions out of the government.

Mr. Bennett was personally responsible for bringing about the settlement at last-minute, all-night talks.

Lumbering Layoffs Now Number 1,500

VANCOUVER (CP) — With an industry-wide strike threat averted only a month ago, the British Columbia logging industry now is besieged by trouble of a different kind.

Three major logging companies announced Wednesday shutdowns and retrenchments which will mean layoffs for more than 1,500 loggers. One official said the situation is the worst it has been since the 1930's.

Company officials blame surplus of logs and poor markets for the shutdowns.

But a union spokesman accused companies of "a pressure move" to gain tax concessions from the B.C. government.

MacMillan & Bloedel announced it will lay off 500 men in temporary shutdowns during August. Alaska Pine has closed camps that normally employ 300 men.

Powell River Company has not reopened some of its operations since the strike threat in June. It plans to reopen in about a week but will be hiring only 350 men where 700 worked before.

MARKETS MUST IMPROVE

Harry McQuillan, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, describes the situation as "the worst since the 1930's." He said an improvement in world markets is needed, particularly in home building in Canada and the U.S.

A MacMillan & Bloedel official was less inclined to blame markets than a surplus of logs. He said this surplus was caused by a variety of factors, none of which was salient.

Both union and company officials agreed that work this summer has been steadier than usual partly because there have been fewer fire hazards.

Auto Chase Fatality Charges To Be Laid

(See Page 17)

A charge or charges will be laid in connection with the fatal plunge of a stolen car off Dallas Road on to Stony Beach last Friday, Chief John Blackstock said today.

He added any decision on who would be charged, what the charge or charges may be and whether the court would be juvenile or open police court depends upon advice of the city prosecutor.

Part of the decision rests on a transcript of evidence of Tuesday's inquest into the death of Gunnar Stebeck, 13, for which police are waiting.

JEALOUS OF NOVA SCOTIA

Bluenosers Have Red-Coated Mountie; Warren Red-Faced

Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren is jealous of Nova Scotia.

He is jealous because Nova Scotia has scarlet-uniformed Mounties on duty at leading tourist points while British Columbia has none.

He has therefore written to the Nova Scotia Industrial and Tourist Promotion division at Halifax asking them where they get the pull.

Mr. Warren has been battling for months for a scarlet-coated Mountie (or Mounties) to be stationed outside the Legislative Buildings during the tourist season.

He has been continually rebuffed, although U.S. tourists repeatedly write in asking: "Where can we see a Mountie on Vancouver Island?"

Now the Bellingham Herald of Washington has taken up this cry with a leading editorial entitled: "Where Are the Mounties?"

GEORGE I. WARREN
. . . efforts thwarted

"I understand Nova Scotia does not suffer from this problem," Mr. Warren said. "They tell me Mounties are on duty for tourists at the Wedgeport Tuna Derby and are stationed on the dockside at Yarmouth when U.S. boats arrive.

"I have written to Nova Scotia's tourist division to try and find out how they get this co-operation from the RCMP when we are unable to get any."

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island has written to the Canadian government in Ottawa asking why this attraction is denied to B.C. visitors.

RAF Jets Renew Attack on Rebels

SHARJAH, Arabian Trucial Oman (Reuters) — RAF jet fighter planes took off again today in their continuing battle to blast targets held by forces rebelling against the British-backed sultan of Muscat and Oman.

The targets were military ones, held by the Iman of Oman, the rebel leader, and 48 hours warning was given so that civilian inhabitants in the attacked areas could take cover.

At the same time, there was increased speculation here that the sultan's ground forces, possibly supported by Trucial Oman scouts—local levies led by British soldiers—would begin to close in on rebel strongholds within the next few days.

INSPECTS AREA

The speculation sprang up despite a news blackout imposed on correspondents here. But it coincided with the arrival from Cyprus of Lt.-Gen. Sir Geoffrey Bourne, commander-in-chief of Britain's Middle East land forces, in Bahrein on his way to Muscat.

A spokesman in Bahrein said Bourne had come "to have a look at the area of operations in Oman."

Meanwhile, there was no official reply to Cairo reports that the sultan's brother, Said Tarik bin Taimur, had been captured in a battle with the Iman's troops near the rebel stronghold of Ebri in central Oman.

U.S. MILITARY WILL DECIDE FOREIGN TRIALS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives armed services committee today voted 31 to 4 to give the United States military the power to decide for the United States whether a serviceman should be turned over for foreign trial for an on-duty offence.

Approval of the bill came in the face of strong administration protest that any law concerning the status-of-forces treaties would harm foreign relations and could lead to foreign insistence on many more trials of United States servicemen.

MUM'S THE WORD

No Comment By Hoxsey Investigator

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. James Mather, chairman of the University of British Columbia's cancer research team, had "absolutely no comment" when he returned Wednesday night from a two-week investigation of the Hoxsey clinic in Dallas, Tex.

He said the team's findings on Hoxsey's claim he is curing cancer will not be completed for at least a month, and he is "not going to release a thing" till then.

The report will be handed to John Ward Patterson, dean of medicine at UBC, who will forward it to provincial Health Minister Eric Martin. Mr. Martin ordered the investigation.

Narcotic King Disappears After Raid

MILAN, Italy (UP)—Police feared today that alleged international narcotics king Constantino Gamba whose operations extended into Canada may have flown the coop following a sudden raid Wednesday night on his drug laboratory here.

The raid was staged as a climax to a painstaking three-nation narcotics investigation by agencies of the United States, Italy and Switzerland.

It was understood that the Gamba laboratory in Milan shipped 154 pounds of heroin to the United States alone, some of it through Canada, last year. This quantity was described by Italian drug experts today as "incredible" and "a veritable artificial dream treasury."

Value was estimated as up to $50,000,000.

Police refused to comment officially today on the raid.

ENGLISH WOMEN MEASURE SAME AS 'VENUS'

LONDON (AP) — The vital statistics of the average British woman are almost the same as those of the Venus de Milo. After a six-year study the board of trade reported today the average British woman measures 37-28-39. The Venus de Milo statue in the Paris Louvre Museum: 37-26-39.

Britain's average woman is just under 5-3 tall. Venus de Milo is 5-4.

Britain's living Venus weighs 136. The armless Venus de Milo's poundage is not calculated.

Board of trade representatives measured more than 5,000 women to help manufacturers and retailers of women's clothes as well as the lady customers.

Auto Workers Face Trial Before Union

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—The United Auto Workers Union will hold a trial of members charged with fomenting a recent shutdown at the Chrysler of Canada, plant here, it has been announced.

Thirty-one members of Local 444 are involved in what is believed to be the first trial of its kind conducted by a union in Canada.

The walkout occurred July 12 in alleged violation of the union-company collective agreement which provides machinery for settling disputes.

Union officers said they had no alternative but to take the case before the membership "if the policies of the international and local union mean anything."

The trial will be held at an undetermined date before the union membership with the trial committee drawn by lot. Those found guilty may be fined, suspended or even expelled from the union.

Decision on Milk Strike To Be Made With in a Week

Decision of Victoria milkmen as to whether or not they will strike should be made within a week, a union spokesman said today.

Driver-salesmen of Victoria's four main dairies voted Tuesday and Wednesday 124 to 40 in favor of a walkout.

This could reduce milk deliveries here to a trickle, as the dairies affected handle 90 per cent of the area milk business.

The quarrel is over rejection by the companies of a unanimous conciliation board recommendation of continuation of the present six days a week delivery. The union wants the six-day set-up.

Recommended also was a $30 monthly raise for milkmen, and a $32 boost for inside workers in plants.

About 165 milkmen of four companies are involved. Companies are Palm Dairies Ltd., Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association and Northwestern Creamery Ltd.

Emergency deliveries, such as to hospitals, would be worked out in the event of a strike, union business agent Ben McCrone said today.

He said it was hard for the union to understand why employers had rejected the conciliation board stand when the employer representative, Philip Fleming, had himself endorsed the six-day continuation.

Dairies say they can't afford this they claim.

If a strike comes off, farmers of the area would have to sell their milk elsewhere or make arrangements for distributing it themselves.

There are about 110 producers in the area and production value at the farmer's level is $135,000 a month.

Planned Army Attack Manoeuvre of Past

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) — The meticulously planned, set-piece attack may be a thing of the past on atomic battlefields, staff officers say.

This, they add, is probably one of the major lessons to come out of the 10th Canadian Infantry Division's Exercise Eastern Star, scheduled to end today.

In drizzle and total blackout, the division, supported by nine simulated nuclear strikes, put in a cross-river assault Wednesday night and early today.

But it soon got bogged down in the hit-and-run defensive tactics of the enemy force and the situation quickly became confused.

Officers said hard lessons learned in the latter stages of the Second World War about how to conduct a night attack have been largely forgotten by the peace-time Canadian army. That was the main reason for the final night exercises.

Staff officers said it would be almost impossible to conduct a set-piece attack across a river, by day or by night. All the enemy would have to do would be to station a few men along the bank with wireless sets and they could call nuclear strikes on the bridgeheads.

A simulated strike Wednesday on the divisional headquarters atom area—the storage place for nuclear weapons—caused more than 900 theoretical casualties, most of them through heat, blast and radioactivity.

Officers also said the set-piece attack appears doomed because roads choked with convoys would only "suck an atomic blow." This is why the army is anxious to obtain as soon as possible a new armored carrier which doesn't have to stick to roads at all, and a troop cargo plane.

Army Studies Lessons Learned

CAMP WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—The army today began to evaluate the results of a three-day atomic warfare exercise which ended its summer training of nearly 5,000 regular troops at this camp 120 miles southeast of Edmonton.

One of the chief aims of the operation which ended Wednesday was to exercise the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in the movement and development for attack and defence under nuclear warfare conditions. Under such conditions the army must be capable of dispersing swiftly.

ADVANTAGE PROVED

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding Western Army Command, described the operation — Exercise Hot Foot — as "very successful" and said the exercise has proved the advantage of mobile infantry and new army tactics of dispersion.

Gen. Vokes, who directed the exercise, added however that complete evaluation cannot be made until the results are studied thoroughly by army headquarters.

Simulated atomic artillery blasts were set off and three-quarter-ton army trucks were used to represent armored personnel carriers which Gen. Vokes said he hopes will be supplied to the army one day. Canada has no such carriers.

The vehicles, which can seat 10 soldiers and are equipped with mounted guns, now are part of the British and United States armies.

Both sides were equipped with theoretical nuclear weapons and both sides achieved their objectives before the battle was called off during stiff fighting.

MUST MOVE QUICKLY

Under nuclear warfare conditions, Gen. Vokes said, the army must be prepared to strike quickly and move before the enemy can direct atomic weapons on the concentrated attacking force. Armored personnel carriers enable the movement of infantry at a quick pace.

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — A Japanese commercial plane being used to publicize the movie The Spirit of St. Louis to crowds of swimmers crashed into the sea off Osaka today, killing three Japanese aboard.

Blind Pensioner Dies, Three Burned in Fire

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 60-year-old blind pensioner was killed and three other persons critically burned in a fire that raced through a downtown frame rooming house today.

Nine others, including six small children, fled the three-story home as flames swept out of control, leaped across a narrow sidewalk and took hold of a house next door.

Families on both sides of the burning building were evacuated and stood with hundreds of other residents who jammed the street as fire equipment from five city stations fought the blaze for more than two hours.

Dead is Reginald Williams.

In hospital and suffering third degree burns were:

Mrs. Christine Warden, 55, in serious condition; Evelyn Cook, 32, in critical condition, and Roderick Cook, 57, Miss Cook's father, in poor condition.

Also in hospital and suffering shock was Marr Sutton, 62, owner of the 40-year-old home.

The families of Sutton's two sons, who shared ground floor quarters, escaped safely from the building.

Assize Trial For 3rd Man In Robbery

Donald Quaite, 130 Linden, was committed for Assize Court trial on a charge of robbery with violence today in city police court.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said he had considered evidence of a preliminary hearing July 24 and found it warrants the committal and possibly the laying of another charge by the city prosecutor.

Quaite was charged following the complaint of Donald William Carson, 618 Grenville, who said he was beaten and robbed of $110 the night of July 8.

Trial by judge and jury was elected by Quaite.

A naval seaman, Paul G. Cook, has been sentenced to a year definite and a year less one day indefinite at Oakalla prison young offender's unit on pleading guilty to the same charge.

Douglas Cameron, 805 Intervale, third man involved in the incident, was sentenced to six months definite and six months indefinite at the young offenders' unit when he pleaded guilty to being in possession of stolen money.

Funeral Service For Ex-Merchant Set for Friday

Funeral services will be held at McCall's chapel Friday at 10.30 a.m. for John Russell Wescott, 87, retired merchant who died Wednesday in hospital here.

Born in Chatham, Ont., he came to Victoria 70 years ago, and for many years operated a drygoods business known as Wescott Bros.

Mr. Wescott was the oldest member of Emmanuel Baptist Church and former superintendent of the church Sunday school, and a member of Vancouver-Quadra Lodge No. 2, AF & AM. His home was at Ten Mile Point.

Surviving are two grandsons, Patrick and William, in Vancouver, and four great-granddaughters.

Dio, Hoffa Under Fire At U.S. Probe

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today union leaders interested in the welfare of workers have "no excuse" for associating with Johnny Dio, the racketeering friend of vice-president James R. Hoffa of the teamsters union.

Kennedy said Dio's record is well known and he only entered the labor movement "to exploit it to his own use."

It was "most unfortunate," he added, that Dio "was permitted to play such a prominent part" in New York city labor affairs.

On Wednesday, Kennedy accused teamster union boss James R. Hoffa of an alliance with racketeers in a scheme to take over the U.S. eastern seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

CF-100 Jet Feared Lost

MONTREAL (CP)—A CF-100 jet fighter was believed to have crashed in the Sept-Iles, Que., area early today while flying from Montreal to Europe, RCAF Air Defence Command headquarters reported.

Missing are Flt. Lt. Kevin P. McNulty, 32, of Thorold, Ont., and FO G. W. Wilding, 20, of Kingston, Ont.

Crews of other planes saw the canopy of the fighter being released. Then the aircraft went into cloud and was not seen again. The RCAF said the release of the canopy indicated the possibility that the plane's two-man crew baled out.

Necklines Dropped In New Dior Look

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Wolf-whistle bosoms and slack-waisted, hip-hugging sheaths set the pace in fashion czar Christian Dior's new "spindle-line" collection showed today.

Hemlines were almost forgotten as necklines fell. Actually the hemlines are a modest mid-calf, or perhaps 15 inches from the floor.

That's shorter for Dior, who liked them long last season. It ranges him with the conservatives this time, for half the houses have shown them just covering the knee.

A new half-shell bra, strapless, backless and without fastenings, permits the most eye-popping decolletage to be seen outside the Folies Bergere.

It appears only for cocktail and evening. Most daytime bosoms are far too flat to deserve the name. The great mystery is how Dior can create opposite effects with the same girls in the same show.

Suits and dresses look tacked to the tummy and loose in the back. But both short and long formal sheaths are innocent of any wastline at all—while they grip the hips and hug the legs.

Sarong dresses for cocktail time and evening wrap the figure and tie with a bow under one breast.

Straight out of the 1920s are beaded sheaths and even one bead-fringed sheath. One model twice had to get help to disentangle her heels from the hem fringe of a hobble-tight floor-length sheath of black velvet.

Only a little "V" slit, discreetly filled in, at the back of the knees keeps Dior's slim skirts from being real hobblers, while his big ones stand out like balloons, stiffened with crinoline petticoats.

That lowest-ever neckline is sometimes saved in the nick of time by a rose tucked in the middle, and sometimes bordered with an undulating fringe of feathers. One was mink topped.

Anti-Bomb Tests Drive Urged by Church Body

NEW HAVEN (CP) — An international church agency today suggested that Christians urge their governments to halt nuclear bomb tests—for a trial period—without waiting for iron-clad treaties.

The step was endorsed by the commission of the churches on international affairs in a report to a policy-making meeting of the World Council of Churches.

Vigorous debate on the report was expected.

The commission, a sort of diplomatic arm both of the world council and of the International Missionary Council, said in its statement:

RISK FOR PEACE

"There is a risk for peace which Christians in countries projecting tests of nuclear weapons are justified in advocating, in the hope of breaking through the barriers of distrust.

"They can urge their governments to force tests for a trial period in the hope that others will do the same. A new confidence will be born, and foundations laid for lasting agreements."

Rev. Dr. O. Frederick Nolde of Philadelphia, director of the commission, presented the 900-word statement, along with a supplemental 3,000-word analysis of scientific findings on bomb testing.

The meeting of the world council's central committee, representing Protestant and Orthodox denominations to act on the statement, or draw up a different pronouncement on the subject.

Numerous member denominations have urged it to voice a general Christian stand concerning the current tension over bomb tests.

FIVE OBJECTIVES

The commission's statement set forth five objectives which it said should be persuaded to "overcome the menace of atomic war" and "safeguard as fully as possible the security of all nations."

1. "To stop, by international agreement, the testing of nuclear weapons."
2. "To bring to a halt the production of nuclear weapons, under such controls as will most fully ensure compliance."
3. "To develop measures which will reduce national armaments, nuclear and conventional, with provisions for necessary safeguards. . ."
4. "To accelerate international co-operation in the development of atomic power for peaceful purposes, under proper safeguards."
5. "To establish more effective mechanisms for peaceful settlement of international disputes."

LOSS OF PANTS SEAT OF TROUBLE

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A man who lost his pants at a resort area in Michigan's Upper Peninsula is advertising in the Houghton Daily Mining Gazette for their return.

"Ma'am, I've lost my pants," he said red-faced to the girl ad taker.

Not daring to look too far over the counter, the girl asked for a bit more information.

"At Bete Gris," he said, "and there was a wallet in the pocket."

He offered a reward.

Bete Gris is a resort area about 75 miles north of Houghton.

MAXWELL H. GLUCK
. . . he is "primed"

WHO IS PM?

Gluck's Luck Holds Good, Still Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Maxwell H. Gluck ever appears again before a U.S. congressional committee, you can bet he'll prime himself in advance with all necessary answers.

Gluck is a self-made millionaire businessman newly named U.S. ambassador to Ceylon.

He was shoved, suddenly and unwillingly, into the capital spotlight this week when it was disclosed that he couldn't name the prime minister (Solomon Bandaranaike) of the country in which he was to represent the United States.

Obviously upset, he sought to explain belatedly to reporters Wednesday that he actually knew the prime minister's name all along when he was asked before the Senate foreign relations committee July 2.

But, because he wasn't sure how to pronounce it, he told senators the name "is a bit unfamiliar" and that "I cannot call it off." He can pronounce it now, he added. The name of the Ceylon prime minister is pronounced Bahn-drah-nik'-ah.

A soft-spoken man, Gluck shook his head as he pondered the fireworks that have exploded since the Washington Post and Times Herald published some of the questions asked him and his answers.

Nothing like this unhappy affair ever happened to him in the business world, he said.

Wife Takes Blame For Mistress Murder.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chang Po-fang was freed from prison Wednesday after serving half of a 15-year term for murdering his mistress. His wife, waiting outside with the seven-year-old son Chang had never seen, said the blame for the crime was hers. "Had I been perfect," she said, "he would never have committed such a crime."
